

Request from Mark Walker – Solidarity Trade Union

Reference is made in questions for opinions and judgements which fall outside of this process. Further information may be held by schools. Where relevant information is known to be held and accessible this is identified below:-

- Q1 Schools are subject to periodic inspection by Ofsted, the National Inspection body for schools. Part of the Ofsted remit is to assess the way in which schools address community cohesion. Ofsted's views are reported publicly in the reports published on their website at

Primary school

School inspection reports are monitored by School Improvement Partners and there have been no reported concerns about the way in which community cohesion or racism policies have been applied.

- Q2 Many examples of good practice in schools are published through national websites including the DCSF and its partners/agents. Havering Council has not published any such examples. If individual schools in Havering have such examples that have not been published an information request would need to be made to them direct. Ofsted inspection reports may help to identify externally judged good practice.

Havering schools are required to record and report upon racial incidents.

- Q3 There is no information held by Havering to support Q1 and 2
- Q4 This question falls outside the remit of a FOI request insofar as releasing information is concerned.
