Dear Mr Robinson

Outcome of Internal review in accordance with Freedom of Information Act 2000

Thank you for your email of 24th December 2008 requesting an internal review relating to your original request for information dated 15th November 2008

Is an undefined line on an OS map between two buildings regarded as a firm feature that attaches those two buildings together.

Having considered the grounds for the review I regret to inform you that Ordnance Survey is unable to provide any further information.

As stated in our previous correspondence to you; we are unable to comment on specific features shown historically on our maps as we do not maintain survey notes and the specification at the time of survey may have been different from our current specification. The only records we have are the maps themselves.

Information relating to the survey specification was contained in our response to you of 24th November 2008. We also provided a copy of the pre 1985 survey instructions on 9th December 2008. This provides the description for the requested map detail as used for the period 1963 to 1991 after which digital mapping became the norm.

Ordnance Survey has provided you with all the information it hold holds on this issue I therefore consider this request closed.

Please note that your appeal has been processed to Freedom of Information guidelines. If you are unhappy with our response, you may raise an appeal to our Information Commissioner's Office at:
