Fair Processing Statement

The Metropolitan Police Service (MPS) collects personal data for the purposes of policing, administration and ancillary support for policing, and staff administration. The policing purpose includes, but is not limited to, the prevention and detection of crime, the preservation of life, the prosecution of offenders, and the maintenance of law and order. Administration and ancillary support for policing includes, but is not limited to, communications, finance, income generation, and marketing.

Personal data held by the MPS may be shared for a lawful purpose with a variety of other agencies for the purposes of policing or administration and ancillary support for policing. This includes, but is not limited to, other UK police forces, UK and international law enforcement agencies, government departments, transport bodies, local authorities, health authorities, academic and research bodies, courts and public inquiries, regulatory bodies, the prison and probation service, insurance companies, registered charities, voluntary bodies, and solicitors.

If you would like any further information, or have any concerns about the collection or use of your personal data, please contact:
