Dear Claire Eades,

Thank you for your email dated 23 February.

The Department of Energy and Climate Change (DECC), does hold details at address level of energy efficiency measures installed under CERT. These are used for statistics and research purposes to aid policy design, monitoring and evaluation. DECC receives this information as an extract from the Household Energy Efficiency Database, which is compiled by the Energy Savings Trust.

I hope that this is helpful.

Yours sincerely,
DECC Correspondence Unit
