Dear Lorrain Grant,

Freedom of Information Request - RFI20220202

Thank you for your request to the BBC of 26 January 2022 seeking the following information under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 ('the Act'):

“In either 1997 or 1998 I was a featured guest on an episode of Kilroy which was about Disastrous Wedding Days. My husband and I were interviewed as many of our guests came down with food poisoning at the Wedding Reception. I did video tape the episode at the time but we seem to have lost the video tape at some point over the years in our various house moves. I would like to track down a copy of the episode please. I think it was aired in either June/July of 1997 or June/July of 1998. I know it was in the summer months and my daughter was very young but I can't remember if it was 1997 or 1998. It was definitely one of those years. If you could assist me in finding the episode I would be most grateful”

We are withholding this information under section 40(1) (personal information) of the FOI Act. Information is exempt by virtue of section 40 if it constitutes personal data of which the requestor is the data subject and disclosure would contravene any of the principles in the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). Any disclosure made by virtue of the Freedom of Information Act is regarded as a public disclosure and not a disclosure to an individual. Disclosure of this information would breach the principle to only process personal data lawfully, fairly and in a transparent manner.

You can, however, request a copy of a programme you have featured in by completing a Contributor Access Request form. This can be found by accessing the following link:-
