Thanks very much [REDACTED] – agree that is the best way forward. I'll feed that back to the Councillor.

Hi [REDACTED]

The planning application is not being opened up again for public comment. The consultation on the additional information has been targeted to the specific consultees who had raised issues that the additional information seeks to address. So, for example, Aberdeenshire Council had raised objections relating to planning policy/site selection etc., transportation and impact on the city centre. Hence the reason for consulting you again on the additional information. The SDPA raised issues regarding planning policy/site selection etc. and thus have been consulted on that additional information. Likewise, the City Council's Economic Development Service and the Roads Team are being consulted again on the new information regarding the economic impact of the development and the updated transportation documentation.

A management decision was taken that, whilst this targeted consultation would occur, there is no need to re-open the application for the public to submit further written representations.

Regards

Hi [REDACTED] – thanks for that – it was just to respond to one of our Councillors who was asking on behalf of one of the objectors. Would there be scope for any further representation from the public ?

Kind Regards

Hi [REDACTED]

Before making the information available on the Council's website, I first want to review its content. With other demands on my time, it is likely to be the end of this week before I can do that. That being the case, I would expect the documents to be uploaded by early next week.
