Dear Mr Gurney,

We write regarding your email to the BBC of 14 September 2017 which states:

I have got the code running on the Apache web server and am able to use it fine. However, you said and I quote, that you provided files necessary "to understand and implement the Barley source code." The "doc" directory appears to be missing as per readme.txt.

We believe that in our internal review response of 11 September 2017, we provided you with sufficient information to fulfil your request for information. The BBC Legal team has been in contact with the relevant division of the BBC and can confirm that we hold no more information to fulfil your original request for information.

As explained in internal review response to you, if you are not satisfied with the outcome of your internal review, you can appeal to the Information Commissioner. The contact details are: Information Commissioner's Office, Wycliffe House, Water Lane, Wilmslow, Cheshire SK9 5AF; Telephone 01625 545 700 or www.ico.gov.uk

Sincerely,

BBC Information Rights
