RFI20130769 It would like to know how much the BBC has paid in flights and accommodation for its radio DJ's to travel to Ibiza in the last three years? Can you please tell me for what reasons and by whom decided that the protests against Monsanto that occurred world wide yesterday were not deemed news worthy to even get a mention on the BBC news website? This clearly matters to a lot of people and considering the recent European ban on pesticides produced by Monsanto I would feel would make it news worthy. Can you also tell me if any political figures/departments influenced the decision not to cover this important story? Can you provide me with details of any correspondence between Monsanto and/or any of its subsidiaries and the BBC? I would like to make an FOI request for any documents that pertain to editoral guidance by the BBC Springwatch team about what presenters can and can not say about the government's plans to cull badgers in the mainland UK. 1. How many times was Daft Punk's single "get lucky" (featuring Pharrell Williams) played across the entire BBC radio network over the course of one week beginning Monday, 20th May 2013. 2. How is the frequency at which singles are played decided? Specifically, I would like to know what happened to the North Korean tour guides filmed for this programme. Please could you tell me the annual percentage airtime devoted to news items by the BBC Arts Editor during BBC1's 6pm and 10pm news programmes compared to the percentage airtime devoted to news items by the BBC Science Editor. I recently made a complaint about the 10pm news' screening of a film of one of the alleged terrorist murderers of a soldier in Woolwich covered in his victim's blood, which I found offensive. Part of my complaint which was not addressed in the bland unsatisfactory editorial response; was about possible payment had been made by the BBC to the Tabloid 'The Sun' that was credited with the film? RFI20131011	A few weeks ago I was at a "Brian's Big Debate" in which I said that the BBC provide far less airtime to UKIP spokespeople than our standing in the polls warrants and that the BBC was thereby failing to live up to its legal Charter duty of "balance". He forcefully replied that the BBC select for coverage on the basis of elected Parliamentary representation. I would like to ask, under the Freedom of Information Act, what that mathematical formula is and when it came into effect? Most interviews with UKIP seem to ignore policies in favour of some variety of "some people say you are racists, how do you answer them". If unbiased you must usually open interviews with Tory/Labour/LibDems with a variant of "Some people say yours are a party of war criminals and produce unrefuted evidence for it" or greet Green representatives with "Some people say that the green movement has killed more people than Hitler and Stalin combined and can prove it". Again, under the Freedom of Information Act I would like to request examples of when this has been done. Annual salary and expenses paid to Nick Robinson, Political Editor - In light of Mr. A.J. 	RE: RFI20131160 Your response states information is not recorded but admissibility decisions have never been made by voting. The approach of the Chairman of the Committee is that decisions not to accept an appeal should be unanimously agreed. In practice this means that if any single Trustee believes that an appeal rejected by the Trust Unit should be taken then the Trust Unit's decision is overturned.
	Is it therefore a reasonable inference from this that, although no voting of any sort would be held on Trust Unit admissibility decisions, any single Trustee effectively has the 'right of veto' which, if exercised, would mean that the Trust Unit's decision would be overturned? For the avoidance of any misunderstanding, are

	Staffordshire Moorlands District Council is in the process of prosecuting Mr Robin MacDonald, owner of Caverswall Castle, for breaches of an Enforcement Notice served under the Town and Country Planning Act 1990.
	The District Council is aware that the castle was used as a film location for a Mid Staffs hospital drank from vases', as you claim in the above webpage. Documents I would like to see include but are not limited to: 1. The names of the patients who drank from vases and the dates of the notidents. 2. Confirmation from the hospital that vases were present on the wards at this ime. (Hint: they were not.) 3. Any corroboration of any kind of Ms Bailey's claim about vases. Other witnesses, perhaps staff or visitors? 4. Any other documents or sources used by the BBC to validate the claim. 1. note the words 'The care at Stafford Hospital left some patients drinking water from vases, it is claimed, and receptionists assessing emergency cases.' in the above webpage 1. The claim about receptionists does not appear to be covered by the 'it is claimed' disclaimer. 1. would therefore like to see all documentary evidence relating to the claim that receptionists assessed emergency cases at Mid Staffs at this time. 1. Information about contacts in Afghanistan and Guyana 1. The nature of your relationship with Dr Foster Intelligence. BBC News, particularly blick Triggle's reports have a heavy reliance on Dr Foster's material, a commercial company with no regulatory role, which gives concern to NHS information brofessionals such as myself. Please explain any consulting agreements you have with Dr Foster, any fees/contractual arrangements and how you intend to be ensure your editorial independence when funded by licence fees. It is in the public's interest to know if their major news provider's coverage is biased by commercial arrangement. 1. Information and files held by the BBC and its World Service for plans to establish a BBC Korean Service and its cost, location and function etc. I don't know if any to exist but would be pleased to hear from you if they do. This is in relation to my change.org petition: https://www.change.org/en-GB/petitions/bbc-world-service-batablish-a-bbc-korean-service 1.
