Students Occupy University of London Senate House

December 4, 2013 By James McAsh Leave a Comment

An independent network of over 100 students is occupying the headquarters of the University of London at Senate House. We can be contacted at londonoccupation@gmail.com and 07754768945

We have taken over the main management corridor and the Vice Chancellor's office in opposition to the way our university is being run and the way the higher education sector as a whole is controlled. This action is restorative; displacing the undemocratic and unaccountable management with a democratic space for the free pursuit of knowledge, critical enquiry and dissent. University of London management is behaving in a disgraceful and unaccountable manner, and we have no choice but to take direct action.

We are inspired by the actions of our striking staff – both in the fair pay strike and in the 3 Cosas campaign – and by the wave of student occupations across the country.

We will not leave under our demands are met:

1. That all outsourced workers at the university are awarded a pension, and have improved sick pay and holiday pay so that it is in line with that of in house staff. The University of London should recognise the IWGB as the representative union of their outsourced workers.
2. That the University of London Union (ULU) remains in student hands – democratically run by students – and has its block grant returned.
3. That the Garden Halls – Hughes Parry hall, Commonwealth hall, and Canterbury hall are not outsourced, and that there are no job losses there. UoL halls should have their prices reduced to less than the annual undergraduate maintenance loan (currently £4988/annum).
4. That the University of London, makes a public statement opposing the privatisation of student loans, and Adrian Smith – the Vice-Chancellor of the university of London – should sign up to the Council in Defence of British Universities and the Campaign for the Public University.
5. That the University of London write to the Universities and Colleges Employers Association (UCEA) to ask that they concede to the demands of striking HE workers in Unite, Unison and UCU for fair pay.
6. That the pay ratio between the lowest paid and the highest paid staff in the university should be reduced to a maximum of 10:1.
7. That financial statements of the University's academic departments and non-academic services should be published so that they can be scrutinised so that the University's decisions can be properly held to account by the community. In addition, that the university produces a publicly available Ethical Investment and Procurement Policy which is reported on annually with plenty of opportunity of engagement with staff, students and the wider community.
8. That students and staff are allowed free access in and out the occupation and senate house – with the exception of senior management.
9. That the university refuses to admit the Police into Senate House and refuses to collaborate with any requests by the police for information regarding this action.
- 10: That there are no disciplinary actions undertaken by the university against any student or staff member participating in this action.

CODE OF STUDENT DISCIPLINE

DEFINITIONS

In this Code:

'day' means a working day and excludes weekend days, public holidays and other days during which the offices of the University are not open for business.

'suspension of registration' means the total prohibition on attendance at or access to the University or its facilities (including electronic facilities) and on any participation in an activity of the University; but it may be subject to qualification, such as permission to attend for the purposes of an examination and/or take an assessment.

'termination of registration' means expulsion from the University.

'University premises' means the Senate House and Stewart House (including the surrounding land owned by the University), and the premises occupied by the Central Academic Bodies and Central Activities¹, including the sporting activities of the University of London Union, and any educational institution or facility at which the Student is properly present in connection with a course of study or by virtue of status at the University. 'University premises' do not include premises occupied by Colleges or third party teaching institutions which offer independent tuition. If any doubt arises about the meaning of 'University premises' as those to which this Code applies, the Vice-Chancellor shall resolve the matter and the Vice-Chancellor's decision shall be final.

'staff of the University' for the purposes of this code includes any personnel involved in the delivery of an activity of the University of London, including examination invigilators.

PERSONS TO WHOM THE CODE APPLIES

1. This Code is applicable to every Student registered as a student with the University itself and any Student registered with a College who is using a Central Activity.

PURPOSE

2. This Code of Student Discipline (referred to as the Code) is made by the Board of Trustees and its purpose is to provide for the determination of an allegation of an offence of misconduct against a Student.

'Central Activities' means those activities, operations and services which the University carries out and provides centrally for the benefit of the Colleges and of Students registered with the University itself, including assessments conducted at examination centres on behalf of the University of London International Programmes.

ORDINANCE 17

MISCONDUCT WHICH MAY BE SUBJECT TO PROCEEDINGS UNDER THIS CODE

3. Misconduct which may be subject to proceedings and penalties under this Code is improper interference in its broadest sense with the proper functioning or work of the University, or activity which otherwise damages or is likely to damage the University.
4. The following paragraphs elaborate this general principle but not so as to derogate from its generality.
5. For the conduct in question to be characterised as misconduct, it must be shown to fall within the general definition in paragraph 3. It is open to a Student facing an allegation of misconduct to argue that the conduct in question, whether or not falling within one or more of the following paragraphs, should not be treated as misconduct because it does not interfere or damage in the manner contemplated by paragraph 3.
6. The following shall (subject to paragraphs 3 to 5 above) constitute misconduct:
 - 6.1 disruption of, or improper interference with, the academic, administrative, social or other activities of the University, whether on University premises or elsewhere, including electronic domains such as, but not limited to, Virtual Learning Environments and the University's social media channels;
 - 6.2 obstruction of, or improper interference with, the functions, duties or activities of any Student, member of staff of the University or any visitor to the University;
 - 6.3 violent, indecent, disorderly, threatening or offensive behaviour or language (whether expressed orally or in any writing, sign or other visible representation including electronically) whilst on University premises, engaged in any University activity, or in an online environment of the University;
 - 6.4 cyber crime including any criminal or illegal act dealing with computers and networks, such as hacking, phishing and any similar or new forms of misuse of the internet, and any traditional crimes or illegal acts conducted through the internet, such as hate crimes, telemarketing and internet fraud, identity theft, and credit card account thefts.
 - 6.5 distributing or publishing a poster, notice, sign or any publication, in any format, including written or electronic which is threatening, abusive, insulting, deliberately inaccurate or constitutes harassment, makes others fear violence or is otherwise illegal and falls under the jurisdiction of UK law;
 - 6.6 fraud, deceit, deception or dishonesty in relation to the University or its staff or Students, or in connection with holding any office in the University, or in relation to being a Student of the University;
 - 6.7 action likely to cause injury or impair safety on University premises, or whilst engaged in an activity of the University;
 - 6.8 harassment of any Student or employee of the University on any grounds, and discrimination on any of the grounds set out in Statute 21;
 - 6.9 assessment offences as defined under the regulations of the relevant Central Academic Body;

ORDINANCE 17

- 6.10 breach of any rule or code or regulation which provides for breaches to constitute misconduct under this Code;
- 6.11 damage to, or defacement of, University premises, or the property of members of the University - including members of Colleges - caused intentionally or recklessly, and/or misappropriation of such property;
- 6.12 misuse or unauthorised use of University premises or items of property, including computer misuse;
- 6.13 conduct which constitutes a criminal offence (whether or not it leads to a conviction) where that conduct or offence:
 - 6.13.1 took place on University premises, or
 - 6.13.2 in an online environment of the University, or
 - 6.13.3 affected or concerned other members of the University community, or
 - 6.13.4 damages the good name of the University, or
 - 6.13.5 itself constitutes misconduct within the terms of this Code, or
 - 6.13.6 is an offence of dishonesty, where the Student holds an office of responsibility in the University; or
 - 6.13.7 is such as might render the Student unfit to practise any particular profession or calling to which that student's course leads directly;
- 6.14 behaviour which brings or is likely to bring the University into disrepute;
- 6.15 failure to disclose name and other relevant personal details to staff of the University, or personnel conducting an activity of the University, in circumstances when it is reasonable to require that such information be given;
- 6.16 notwithstanding paragraph 3, where a Student is enrolled on a course leading directly to a professional qualification or to the right to practise a particular profession or calling, any conduct which might render that person not fit to be admitted to and practise that profession or calling²;
- 6.17 failure to comply with a previously imposed penalty under this Code.
- 7. Misconduct need not take place on University premises to be considered under this Code.
- 8. The Board of Trustees, in making this Code:
 - 8.1 authorises the Vice-Chancellor to delegate his or her powers and duties under this Code to the Deputy Vice-Chancellor either generally or in respect of a particular case; and

ORDINANCE 17

- 8.2 authorises the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary to delegate his or her powers and duties under this Code (a) in the case of allegations against Students of Central Academic Bodies to the Dean, or an appropriate senior officer, of the appropriate Central Academic Body (or Director in the case of the University Marine Biological Station, Millport³) either generally or in respect of a particular case; and (b) in the case of other Students of the University, to an appropriate senior officer of the University.

ALLEGATIONS OF MISCONDUCT

9. Allegations of an offence of misconduct by a Student may be made in writing to the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary. The Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary or such other person he or she may designate shall make any enquiries that are appropriate.
10. If the allegation of misconduct made against the Student is, has been or could be subject to proceedings under a code of discipline made by another authority (e.g. a College) in respect of the same alleged offence, the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary shall decide whether or not separate proceedings under this Code should be pursued, and, if proceedings should be pursued, when they should commence. The Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary should consult the other authority before reaching a decision.
11. If the allegation of misconduct is solely concerned with alleged examination or assessment offences the matter shall normally be dealt with under the applicable regulations.
12. The Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary may call for further information and unless the matter is dismissed at that point will arrange for the Student to receive a copy of this Code and either hold a preliminary interview, or enter into correspondence with the Student. The Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary may:
- 12.1 dismiss the allegation, in which case the matter shall be terminated;
 - 12.2 rule that no further action be taken, but such a ruling shall not preclude informal action such as issuing a caution or warning;
 - 12.3 refer the matter back for local determination;
 - 12.4 conduct a hearing of the allegation as provided below; or
 - 12.5 refer the allegation for hearing by a Disciplinary Committee.
13. The Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary shall notify his/her decision to the Student and to the person who made the allegation, either orally (in which case it shall be confirmed in writing), or in writing within three days. The written communication shall set out: the alleged offence, the decision, the reasons for the decision if the allegation is dismissed or if no further action is to be taken, and any action to be taken as a result of the decision.

HEARING BY THE CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER AND UNIVERSITY SECRETARY

³ It is expected that with effect from 1 January 2014, the University Marine Biological Station, Millport will cease to be a Central Academic Body of the University.

ORDINANCE 17

14. The Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary shall, by consideration of the circumstances of each case, determine whether the hearing should be conducted in person, by telephone, by other reasonable electronic means, or by correspondence. A hearing by the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary, where the student is present, either physically or by electronic means, shall normally be conducted in private.

The Student shall be given written notice in advance of the hearing, together with a copy of this Code and any evidence produced. The Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary and the Student shall inform each other of the names of any parties either proposes to seek submissions from.

15. The following applies to hearings conducted in person, or in real time by electronic means. A hearing conducted by correspondence will instead require the named parties to make equivalent submissions in writing, if appropriate:

15.2 the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary shall give the Student any further evidence produced since notice of the allegation was given, and provide an opportunity for the Student to answer the allegation, and to question any witnesses who appear in person;

15.3 the Student may request that witnesses be called, in which case the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary may question them; and

15.4 at any time, the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary may terminate the proceedings and refer the allegation for hearing by a Disciplinary Committee, in which case the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary may suspend the Student from attendance at the University, or impose any restrictions as specified in paragraph 16 pending the hearing of the allegation by the Disciplinary Committee.

16. Following a hearing, the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary may:

16.1 dismiss the allegation, in which case the matter shall be terminated; or

17. In fixing any financial penalties, the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary shall have regard to the means of the Student and may allow time to discharge the penalty or order the sum to be paid in prescribed instalments.
18. The Student shall also have the right to make representations in explanation or mitigation of the penalty.
19. The Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary shall give a decision to the Student either orally (in which case it shall be confirmed in writing), or in writing within three days. The written communication to the Student shall set out: the offence, the decision, the reasons for the decision and any penalty.

21. No person who has close personal or professional connections with the Student due to appear before the Disciplinary Committee, or with the alleged offence or the complainant, shall be eligible for appointment to the Disciplinary Committee.
22. The absence of one of the staff members of the Disciplinary Committee or the student member shall not invalidate the hearing. If, between the time of the appointments to the Disciplinary Committee and the date of the hearing, the Chair learns that one or more of the other members will not be able to attend or is not eligible to be a member, the Vice-Chancellor shall be empowered to appoint other members in the same way in their place.

HEARING BY THE DISCIPLINARY COMMITTEE

24. The following applies to hearings conducted with the student present, either in person or in real time by electronic means. A hearing where the student is not present will instead require equivalent submissions to be made in writing, in line with the timeframes described in paragraph 25.

ORDINANCE 17

25. The Disciplinary Committee shall meet as soon as is reasonably practicable to consider an allegation referred to it. At least 10 days before the date for the hearing, the Secretary shall send the Student a copy of this Code, together with copies of all relevant documents to be presented at the hearing. 31. In imposing a penalty on a student pursuing a course leading to professional practice, the Disciplinary Committee shall, if appropriate, have regard to the relevance of the misconduct in relation to the Student's fitness to be professionally registered and may in this connection seek appropriate advice.

ORDINANCE 17

32. A Student who has had their registration terminated shall be required to vacate any University-owned or administered residential accommodation.

APPEALS

33. A Student against whom an allegation of misconduct has been upheld may appeal in writing, addressed to the Vice-Chancellor, within seven days of the date of the written notification of the decision, on one or more of the following grounds which shall be specified in the letter of appeal:
- 33.1 that the penalty imposed was not available under the provisions of this Code;
 - 33.2 if, after a hearing by the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary, a penalty has been imposed which is listed in sub-paragraphs 16.3.2 – 16.3.7, or after a hearing by the Disciplinary Committee a penalty has been imposed which is listed in sub-paragraphs 27.2 – 27.9, that the penalty was excessive and/or inappropriate⁵;
 - 33.3 if the Disciplinary Committee has imposed a penalty listed in sub-paragraphs 27.4 – 27.9:
 - 33.3.1 that there was a procedural irregularity or a failure to observe the provisions of this Code in the hearing before the Disciplinary Committee⁶; or
 - 33.3.2 that the conclusions of the Disciplinary Committee cannot, having regard to the evidence adduced, be reasonably sustained⁷.
34. The Appeal Hearing shall be held as soon as is reasonably practicable and normally not more than four weeks from the receipt of the notice by the Vice-Chancellor of the Student's intention to appeal.

APPEAL HEARING BY VICE CHANCELLOR

35. The following applies to hearings conducted in person, or in real time by electronic means. A hearing conducted by correspondence will instead require equivalent submissions to be made in writing;
36. The hearing shall be held in private. It shall be limited to the grounds stated in the Student's letter of appeal, and shall not take the form of a re-hearing of the original allegation. During the hearing:
- 36.1 the Student may be assisted or represented by any member of the University;
 - 36.2 the Vice-Chancellor shall have before him/her, copies of all papers which were before the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary or the Disciplinary Committee; including the written statement sent to the Student of the offence, the decision, the reasons for the decision and the penalty;

⁵ This ground of appeal is not available in the case of financial penalties of £50 or less.

ORDINANCE 17

- 36.3 neither party shall be entitled to submit fresh evidence except to establish matters of fact. Where such new evidence has become available since the hearing before the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary or the Disciplinary Committee, the Vice-Chancellor may receive such evidence if he/she is satisfied that there is reasonable explanation for the failure to advance such evidence before the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary or the Disciplinary Committee. If such new evidence is admitted, it shall be treated in the same procedural manner as evidence presented to the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary or the Disciplinary Committee and the Vice-Chancellor may call witnesses in relation to that new evidence. The Vice-Chancellor may also call the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary or the Chair of the Disciplinary Committee as a witness. The University representative and the Student's representative presenting the case to the Vice-Chancellor shall be notified in advance of the hearing of any new evidence and witnesses to be called;
- 36.4 where additional evidence is allowed, and there are circumstances in which a witness is likely to be in distress, the Vice-Chancellor may permit the witness to be accompanied by any person, who shall not participate in the proceedings in any way;
- 36.5 the Student or the Student's representative may address the Vice-Chancellor;
- 36.6 the Secretary to the hearing shall record the decision of the Vice-Chancellor; and
- 36.7 any matter with regard to the hearing of these proceedings not covered by this Code shall be decided by the Vice-Chancellor, whose decision shall be final. The Vice-Chancellor may request the attendance of a person with legal or judicial experience to advise on procedure.
37. The Vice-Chancellor may dismiss or allow the appeal in whole or in part, or substitute such other finding of misconduct as he/she sees fit, or may vary the penalty, but may not impose a penalty of greater severity (in the opinion of the Vice-Chancellor) than that originally imposed.
38. At the end of the hearing, the Vice-Chancellor shall within five days communicate his/her decision to the Student and to the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary either orally (in which case it shall be confirmed in writing) or in writing. The communication shall state the offence, the decision and penalty appealed from, the decision of the Vice-Chancellor, the reasons for the decision and any penalty.
39. The decision of the Vice-Chancellor is final.

RE-ADMISSION AFTER TERMINATION OF REGISTRATION

40. No Student who has had their registration terminated following proceedings under this Code shall be re-admitted at any time, save with the express permission of the Board of Trustees.

REPORTS TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

41. Decisions of the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary, the Disciplinary Committee and the Vice-Chancellor under this Code, shall be reported to the Board of Trustees as Reserved areas of business.

ORDINANCE 17

INTERPRETATION

42. Unless the contrary appears from the context, reference to a specific office holder where such office holder is unable to act, or is prevented from acting by the terms of the Code, shall include reference to a nominee, a deputy, or to the person acting in the office.

THE OFFICE OF THE INDEPENDENT ADJUDICATOR FOR HIGHER EDUCATION

43. The Procedure detailed above completes the University's consideration of the matter. Attention is, however, drawn to the Office of the Independent Adjudicator for Higher Education (OIAHE). The OIAHE provides an independent scheme for the review of student complaints about a final decision of a University's disciplinary or appeal body. Full details of the OIAHE and how to make a complaint are available on the website of the OIAHE <http://oiahe.org.uk>. The postal address is: Office of the Independent Adjudicator for Higher Education, Fifth Floor, Thames Tower, Station Road, Reading RG1 1LX. Telephone: 01189599813.

ORDINANCE 17 ANNEX 1

POLICY IN RESPECT OF OFFENCES THAT ARE ALSO CRIMINAL OFFENCES

REPORTING CRIMINAL OFFENCES TO THE POLICE

1. In taking a decision about whether or not an alleged offence by a Student should also be reported to the police, staff shall be guided by this section and any further guidance which the Vice-Chancellor may issue from time to time.
2. In the case of an alleged offence which would constitute a serious offence under the criminal law the alleged offence should normally be reported to the police. Such offences include those that would, in accordance with the decisions of the Sentencing Guidelines Council, attract a custodial sentence or a community penalty on conviction, and those (in England and Wales) that are triable only on indictment in the Crown Court.
3. Less serious offences may be reported to the police at the University's discretion.
4. Where there is a victim of an offence, the victim must be encouraged to report the matter to the police. Any person may report the offence on their behalf with their consent, but if the victim declines to report it, or will not permit it to be reported, a member of staff of the University shall only in exceptional circumstances make a report against that person's wishes. Exceptional circumstances include the possibility of the alleged victim or others being exposed to risk if the matter is not reported or if there have been similar allegations in the past or if an assault was so serious that the victim is unable to make a decision.
5. Referrals to the police by officers of the University must be reported immediately to the Vice-Chancellor.

DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS

6. In the case of serious offences under the criminal law, no action (other than suspension of registration as defined in this Ordinance) may be taken unless the matter has been reported to the police and either prosecuted or a decision not to prosecute has been taken, at which time a decision will be taken on whether disciplinary action should continue or be taken.
7. Where the offence under the criminal law is judged to be not serious, disciplinary action may continue, but may be deferred pending police investigation or prosecution.
8. The following procedures apply where the alleged offence (whether or not it constitutes misconduct) would also constitute an offence under the criminal law if proved in a court of law:
 - 8.1 the University may impose a penalty upon a Student in respect of an offence (whether or not it constitutes misconduct) even if that offence has already been the subject of criminal prosecution and penalty; where the offence is found to have been committed, and the Student has also been sentenced by a criminal court in respect of the same facts, the court's penalty shall be taken into consideration in determining any penalty the University may impose; and
 - 8.2 when action is taken following a conviction that amounts to misconduct, the conviction shall be taken as evidence of the misconduct and shall be open to challenge only to the extent that the Student disputes that he or she was the person convicted.

ORDINANCE 17 ANNEX 1

9. A Student acquitted in a criminal court may not be the subject of an allegation of misconduct which is in substance the same as the alleged offence of which he or she has been acquitted. A claim that the alleged offence took place at the same time as, or was otherwise connected with, the alleged criminal offence shall not preclude disciplinary proceedings.

1 August 2008

ORDINANCE 17 ANNEX 2

ACTION BY THE UNIVERSITY PENDING A HEARING

1. A Student who is the subject of an allegation of misconduct or against whom a criminal charge is pending or who is the subject of police investigation may be suspended or excluded by the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary pending disciplinary action or the verdict of a court, or the Student's examination or assessment results may be withheld (subject to the provisions of the Data Protection Act and to the extent permitted by law). Suspension shall be used only where exclusion would be inadequate. Where the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary has delegated the power under this section, a full report shall be made as soon as possible to the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary of any suspension or exclusion under this section.
2. 'Suspension and exclusion' under this Code mean suspension and exclusion from the University with the effect that participation in academic activities connected with the Student's course is prevented or curtailed as follows:
 - 2.1 Suspension involves the total prohibition on attendance at or access to the University and on any participation in activity of the University; but it may be subject to qualification, such as permission to attend for the purposes of an examination or assessment.
 - 2.2 Exclusion involves selective restriction on attendance at or access to the University or prohibition on exercising the functions or duties of any office or committee membership in the University, the exact details to be specified in writing.
3. An order of suspension or exclusion may include a requirement that the Student should have no contact of any kind with a named person or persons.
4. Suspension or exclusion pending a hearing shall not be used as a penalty. The power to suspend or exclude under this provision is to protect the members of the University community in general or a particular member or members and the power shall be used only where the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary is of the opinion that it is urgent and necessary to take such action. Written reasons for the decision shall be recorded and made available to the Student.
5. No Student shall be suspended or excluded unless the Student has been given an opportunity to make representations in person to the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary. Where for any reason it appears to the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary that it is not possible for the Student to attend in person, the student shall be entitled to make written representations.
6. In cases of great urgency, the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary is empowered to suspend a student with immediate effect, provided that the opportunities mentioned in the preceding paragraph are given and the matter reviewed within five days.
7. A decision to suspend, or exclude from academic activities associated with the Student's programme of study shall be subject to review at the request of the student, where it has continued for four weeks. Such a review will not involve a hearing or submissions made in person, but the Student shall be entitled to submit written representations. The review will be conducted by the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary where the decision to suspend or exclude was made by someone else, and by the Vice-Chancellor where the decision was made by the Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary.

ORDINANCE 17 ANNEX 2

8. The Chief Operating Officer and University Secretary or other person who took the original decision shall review the suspension or exclusion every four weeks in the light of any developments and of any representations made by the Student or anyone else on their behalf.

ORDINANCE 17 ANNEX 3

RULES GOVERNING POSTERS, NOTICES, TEMPORARY SIGNS, THE DISTRIBUTION OF LITERATURE AND COMMUNICATIONS

1. Any person wishing to display a poster, notice or temporary sign within the grounds of the University must use the notice boards which are provided. If a person, office or organisation is designated as responsible for the notice board, permission must first be obtained from them before using that notice board. Except for official University and departmental notices for which no permission is needed, permission to display will normally be granted only to Students representing recognised University groups, societies or other organisations.
2. Display on doors, walls and other surfaces will normally be restricted to safety or emergency notices. If the display of other material is permitted or tolerated it must not detract from or obscure those notices, or obscure windows, or transparent panels in doors.
3. Permission must be obtained before displaying loose material, such as booklets and pamphlets; permission may not be granted if there is no suitable place for display.
4. Display material should normally be presented in the English language and must be easily removable without cost or damage.
5. All material on display, whether single-sheets, pamphlets or booklets, must contain the name of the individual or group responsible for its promulgation and in the case of a group, the name and address of a member or officer who takes personal responsibility for the display.
6. Except when agreed in advance, material displayed in, on, or fixed to, University premises becomes the property of the University, and the University reserves the right for its officers to remove and dispose of it without warning. In addition to the remedies set out in Paragraph 7 of this Annex, material displayed in contravention of these rules may be removed, and those responsible for the display may be required to pay for the cost of removal and any repairs to surfaces, or (at the discretion of the University) for storage until disposal or collection.
7. The following may result in disciplinary action, and may be treated as misconduct: breaches of these rules; concealment or unauthorised removal of, or tampering with, official or authorised notices; circulation of, or sending, a poster, notice, sign or any other publication or communication⁸ which is offensive, intimidating, threatening, indecent, or illegal or is circulated or sent with the intention of making others fearful, anxious or apprehensive, or which has that effect.

November 16, 2013 by nocopsoncampus

This is a call out for an urgent mobilisation at the University of London Union (ULU) in opposition to the continued practices of police intimidation, surveillance and assault on students, workers and higher education activists.

On the 14th November Michael Chessum, the current President of the University of London Union, was arrested for organising a political demonstration on campus. He has been elected to public office to fulfill a specific mandate which the Metropolitan police, by force, will not allow him to fulfill. Furthermore, in his bail conditions he is specifically prohibited from defending the University of London Union from its imminent abolition. The whims of a chief inspector trump the democratic mandate of an elected officeholder. On the same day it is discovered that police officers in Cambridge attempted to hire informants within student activist circles. It must be made clear however that this was not a oneoff, a 'rogue cop', this is common practice, on every campus, and on this occasion this particular officer was caught. In a similar vein Cambridge student activists are not uniquely targeted and likewise Mr Chessum's arrest, while unfortunate, is newsworthy but not especially interesting. Police intimidation, violence and surveillance are most commonly experienced by the working class and minorities outside of university campuses. But this is where we are and by taking this action we hope to extend solidarity to those communities.

In the months leading up to Michael's arrest yesterday we have seen: the violent arrest of student activists supporting living wage campaigns; increased police surveillance of both students and trade unionists on university campuses; the arrest of the vicepresident of the University of London Union for intervening in the racial profiling of students as they were stop and searched by police officers. Surveillance, intimidation, arrest, assault, malicious prosecution, untrue testimony the hallmarks of a police force whose legitimacy is rapidly diminishing. These trends are palpable throughout the whole of society and extend far beyond the limited parameters of the student body – the violence of the Police is known across the country.

Free assembly is the means to social change, social change that can not be afforded within the current economic context. Otherwise separated individuals unifying around a common grievance or cause present a threat to established institutions of power and it is for this reason and no other that free assembly is increasingly prohibited. The police state is a necessity for enforcing austerity. This situation is not tenable and while the present climate means that those who choose to protest place themselves at risk of this same violence, data collection and intimidation, it is clear that events are now deteriorating so rapidly, almost by the week, that we are left with little choice but to take purposeful collective action.

We urge everyone, students and non-students, alike to come to this protest and publicise amongst your organisations, networks and friends

We will no longer be intimidated.

Reblogged this on Revolting Pleb and commented:

There have been some disturbing developments over the last few years when it comes to being able to protest out on the streets, outside a workplace or on a university campus... Basically, it's getting a lot harder to attend a protest without being harassed, facing violence from the police or in the case of universities, their security guards as well and getting arrested and subjected to draconian bail conditions. I found out to my cost in Tower Hamlets on September 7th when I joined an anti-EDL action how the strategy of total policing is making itself felt! The latest wave of student protests is being subjected to some heavy duty policing and harassment from university authorities. It seems that universities don't want students to raise difficult questions or express anything remotely resembling a radical opinion – they just want them to behave like good consumers of the 'product' they have to offer in the form of a degree. Well, it seems a growing number of students are not going to accept this, hence the 'Cops Off Campus' demonstration at the University of London Union in Mallet Street at 2pm on Thursday December 5th. The way I see it, this demonstration is about more than what's been happening on university campuses recently, it's about standing up to the authorities and exercising our right to protest. Which is why I intend to be joining the students to offer my solidarity...

SENATE HOUSE HAS BEEN OCCUPIED.

An independent network of over 100 students is occupying the headquarters of the University of London at Senate House. We can be contacted at londonoccupation@gmail.com and 07754768945

We have taken over the main management corridor and the Vice Chancellor's office in opposition to the way our university is being run and the way the higher education sector as a whole is controlled. This action is restorative; displacing the undemocratic and unaccountable management with a democratic space for the free pursuit of knowledge, critical enquiry and dissent. University of London management is behaving in a disgraceful and unaccountable manner, and we have no choice but to take direct action.

We are inspired by the actions of our striking staff - both in the fair pay strike and in the 3 Cosas campaign - and by the wave of student occupations across the country.

CONGREGATE AT THE ENTRANCE TO SENATE HOUSE - MALET STREET
Senate House management building is occupied in solidarity with the 3Cosas, HE strikes and Save ULU campaigns - but we need urgent support!
The press are falsely claiming that staff are being held inside - all staff have been given letters explaining they are always free to leave.
Because the press are creating this false impression we need to make sure we have equal pressure being put on outside.
Please join the emergency solidarity demonstration in support of the Senate house occupation.

Clear 7°C

CONGREGATE AT THE ENTRANCE TO SENATE HOUSE - MALET STREET
 Senate House management building is occupied in solidarity with the 3Cosas, HE strikes and Save ULU campaigns - but we need urgent support!
 The press are falsely claiming that staff are being held inside - all staff have been given letters explaining they are always free to leave.
 Because the press are creating this false impression we need to make sure we have equal pressure being put on outside.
 Please join the emergency solidarity demonstration in support of the Senate house occupation.
