Yes to the first part - but Shiraz has still kept as a requirement in the legal guidance in the report. This does not reflect our recent discussion around moving this along - my understanding is that Andy has been aware of this for at least 2 weeks already.

Am I right in thinking that we are waiting for the external auditors view on this - could it be that that would determine how this is funded.

I want to make sure that we do not go into CB next week and have the rug pulled out from under neath us by saying this is all very good but how are you going to pay for it.

Shiraz was discussing it with him. I know he has read the paper but he has provided no direct feedback.

OK I will need to pick this up with Andy tomorrow - can you confirm where we are with his engagement in developing this paper.

Hi - no that has not been picked up. Although the source was discussed I did not think we had confirmation. It would be helpful if finance would agree something.

Tandra

I have not read this through again but think that we have not addressed the key issue of where the funding would come from should we find ourselves in the position of having to enact this.

The proposals were, I thought, either the risk fund (my preference) or charged to the project on the basis there will be capital funding arising from the Waring capital receipt.

Have you had any feedback on this if not think we will need to address this with Andy before Corporate Board next week - let me know.
