Warning - Submission of Information Requests with potentially Defamatory Content

It is our assessment that the content of a number of the statements within your request are in whole or part potentially defamatory in nature, that these identify or refer to individuals and are being published by yourself through the use of a public website forum to third parties.

We would further advise you that the defamatory statements made by yourself either directly or through recognised aliases and contained within the information requests referenced above fall within the meaning of Article 14(1)(a) of the E-Commerce Directive (2000/31/EC). Under the law of England and Wales, a defamatory statement is one which tends to lower the claimant in the estimation of right thinking members of society generally (Sim v Stretch [1936] 2 All ER 1237).

We would further advise that a defamatory statement is published at the place where it is read, heard or seen, and is not where the material was first placed on the internet. In internet cases, therefore, provided a small number of people have access to the material on the internet in England, the English courts will have jurisdiction to hear the claim against a foreign defendant (Spiliada Maritime Corp v Cansulex Ltd [1987] A.C. 460).
