Dear Jake

Thank you for your 4 emails dated 19 July in which you ask under the Freedom of Information Act ('Fol'):

'what lawful consideration do you claim the BoE (Bank "of" England) gives up when it creates money ?'

'How does the bank claim there is a debt to the bank ?'

*'What is the claim to interest, when the bank can do no more than absorb the costs of merely publishing evidence of our promissory obligations to each other ?'*

'How is it possible even to maintain a vital circulation without accumulating inevitably terminal sums of debt?'

Your questions are the same as those received from another applicant via the website whatdotheyknow.com. May I point you to our response dated 25 July which is available to view at: <http://www.whatdotheyknow.com/request/69376/response/196861/attach/3/GILES.PDF.pdf>

Yours sincerely

Ben Norman

Your right to complain under the Fol Act

If you are unhappy with the Bank's response you may ask for that decision to be reviewed internally. In order to do so, please set out the grounds for your appeal and send it to Wendy Galvin, PIEG (HO-M), Public Communications & Information Division, Bank of England, Threadneedle Street, London, EC2R 8AH or by email to enquiries@bankofengland.co.uk for the attention of Wendy Galvin.

If you are not content with the outcome of the internal review, you have the right to apply directly to the Information Commissioner for a decision. The Information Commissioner can be contacted at The Information Commissioner's Office, Wycliffe House, Water Lane, Wilmslow, Cheshire, SK9 5AF.
