

Case Study 01.04: Liam

Liam is looking for office-based work. He came to his first Commitment meeting last week and has agreed to do 35 hours a week work search including visiting employers, joining employment agencies and going on a course to improve his CV.

He is due to attend his next meeting tomorrow but contacted the Service Centre this morning to say he has just got back from the hospital – he's had a fall and severely damaged the ligaments in his ankle. He is not in plaster but will need to rest his leg completely for at least a week and keep movement to a minimum for a week or two after that, depending on how well it heals. He is in a lot of pain.

Before the accident he had been quite active looking for work. He had also attended the course, updated and improved his CV and posted it on-line.
