Subject RE: Vote Leave and Labour Leave

Some context:

We sent written advice to John Mills earlier this week advising there was no problem with him being on both boards but to be aware of the working together rules.

With regard to the registration, The original application we received was form an individual John Sweeney and the campaign name was to be labour leave and it was intended that there would be changes to PEFO to ensure that this name would also appear on the database. This hasn't occurred due to [redacted]'s illness. Nonetheless John Sweeney has been registered since 13 April. Labour Leave are now registered as at yesterday in their own right see here <http://search.electoralcommission.org.uk/English/Registrations/PerPar4144>

I don't think we need to cover this with them other than to say that Labour Leave are now registered and we note that they are no longer connected and can we discuss working together with them.

Hi

Do we have any comments on the attached or shall I simply thank them for letting us know? I can't see anything obvious (we already knew that they provided backroom support for Labour Leave and have advised that they need to ensure its properly accounted for). Do we recognise the comment about the Labour Leave application?

Thanks

Louise
