COMMEMORATION DAY

MONDAY 19 OCTOBER 2015
ROYAL ALBERT HALL • LONDON

16,000 STUDENTS
8,000 STAFF
180,000 ALUMNI
14 NOBEL LAUREATES
2 FIELDS MEDALLISTS
A WORLD TOP 10 UNIVERSITY
NUMBER 1 FOR GRADUATE EMPLOYABILITY
OVER 100 YEARS OF INNOVATION

Graduating students,

Commemoration Day is a special day for all of us at Imperial. Your accomplishments inspire the whole university community and your excitement energises us. I hope you enjoy this day and remember it forever.

You have much to celebrate. In your studies you have tackled some of the most significant and demanding topics in your disciplines. You have taken intellectual risks. Outside of the classroom you have demonstrated your leadership in clubs, societies, sport and projects in the UK and abroad.

Our College Strategy is built upon our strong foundations: our great people, our partners and the enablers that provide support for our efforts. Your future will also be built upon strong foundations.

You can be proud of your contribution to Imperial's community of staff, students and alumni. Together with those receiving awards and honorary degrees, who we also celebrate today, you exemplify the talented people who drive Imperial's success. You have made lifelong friends at Imperial and they will enrich your life.

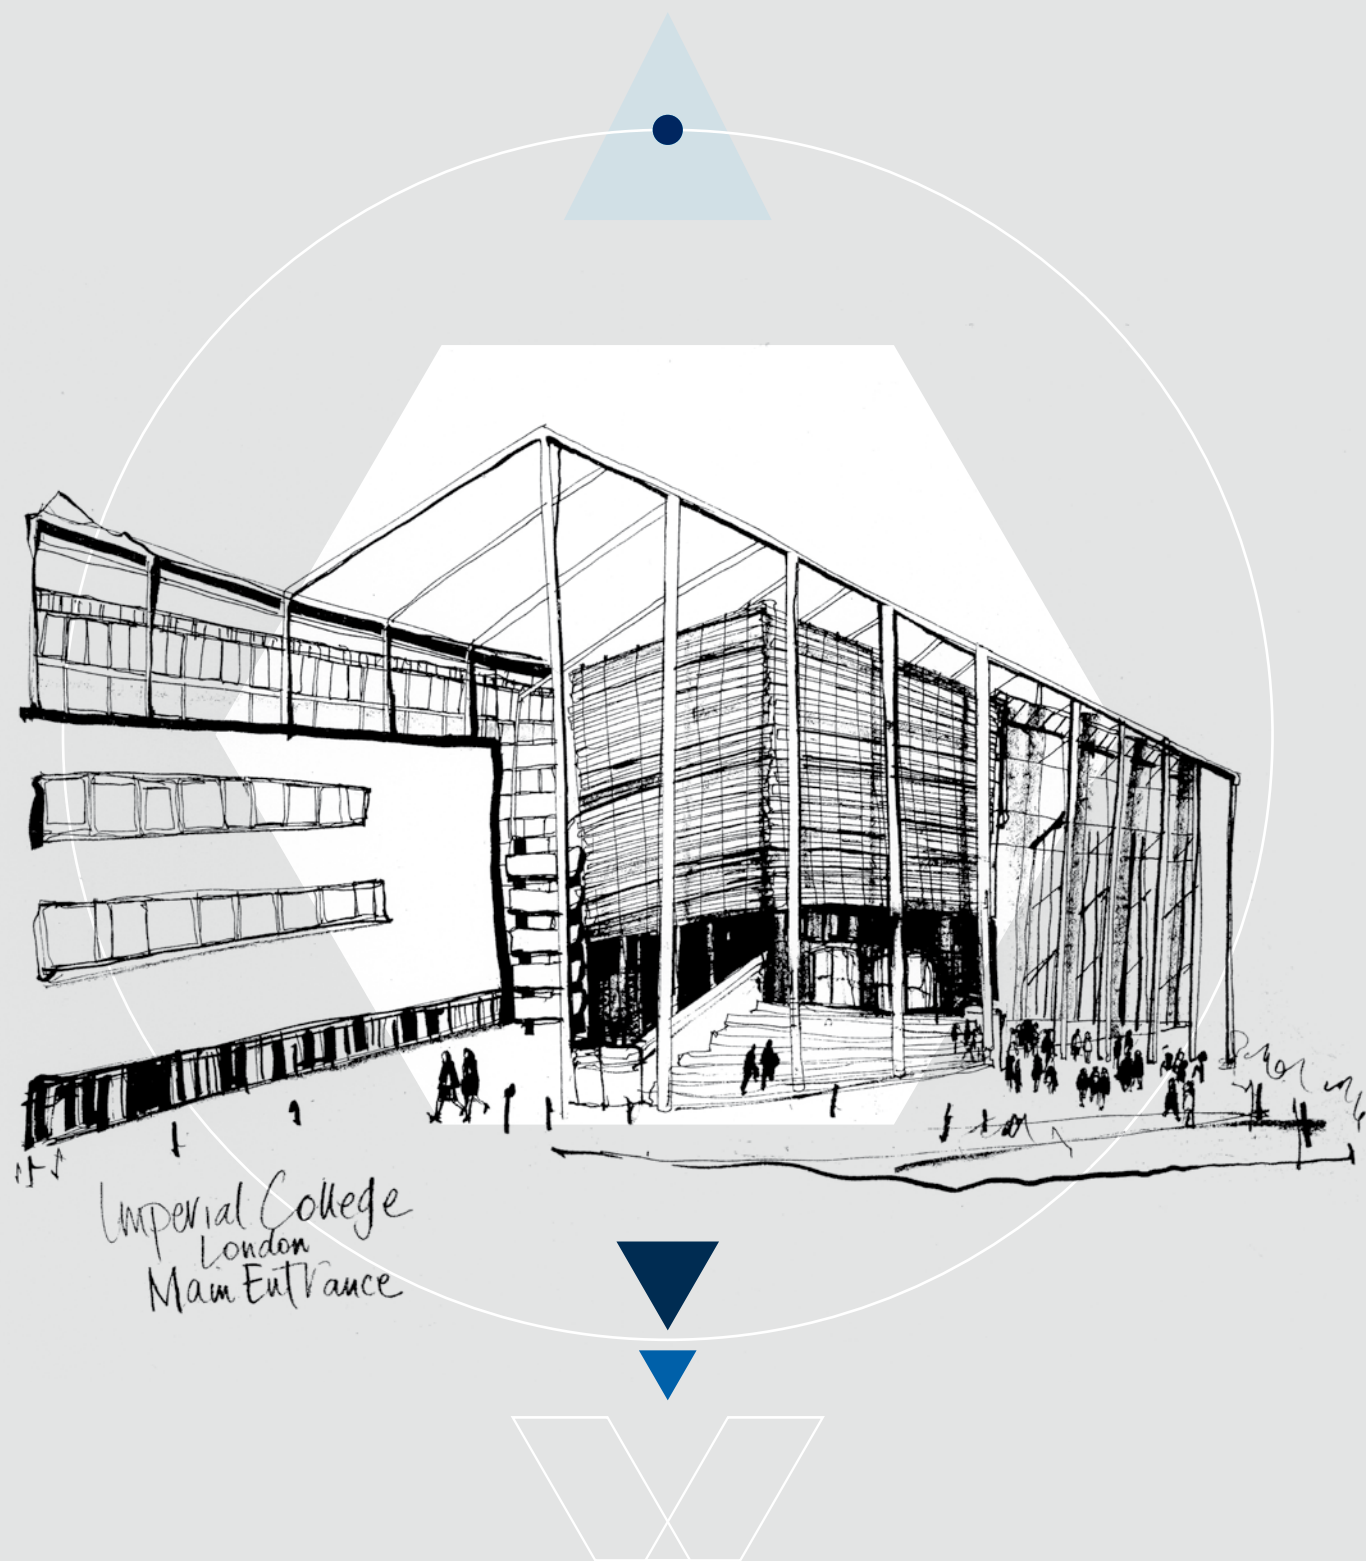

The benefit of Imperial's work to society is extended by our global network of partners. I hope you take from this place a spirit of collaboration and the ability to build and contribute to teams.

I hope you also take a moment today to recognise the enabling support of my colleagues and your family and friends. Your success is principally because of your dedication and hard work, but others have helped you in myriad ways. You will find that the support of others is essential to your future happiness and success.

I wish you all the very best for the future. Whatever path you choose, I hope you maintain your curiosity, continue to seek out new challenges and apply your talents for the benefit of society.

“The secret of science is to ask the right question, and it is the choice of problem more than anything else that marks the man of genius in the scientific world.”

SIR HENRY TIZARD, RECTOR, 1929–42

Imperial past and present

Imperial College London was founded in 1907 with the merger of three great Victorian institutions: the Royal College of Science, the City and Guilds College and the Royal School of Mines.

By the end of the century, St Mary’s Hospital Medical School, the National Heart and Lung Institute, the Charing Cross and Westminster Medical School, the Royal Postgraduate Medical School and Wye College had all merged with Imperial, confirming the College’s status as an education and research powerhouse. Today, the College operates across nine campuses, including White City Campus: a new 25-acre research and translation centre in White City, west London. At White City Campus, world class researchers, businesses and higher education partners are co-locating to create value from ideas on a global scale.

More than a century after its founding, Imperial’s academic distinction is at an all-time high. A world top ten university, 73 current Fellows of the Royal Society, 86 Fellows of the Royal Academy of Engineering and 85 Fellows of the Academy of Medical Sciences are members of the College, while 14 Nobel laureates and two Fields Medallists worked here. From Fleming’s work on Penicillin and Gabor’s discovery of holography, to Kibble’s contribution to the Higgs boson and Pendry’s work on metamaterials, Imperial has remained at the cutting-edge of science and innovation throughout its history.

THE COLLEGE COAT OF ARMS

The College coat of arms, which incorporates the royal coat of arms, was granted a royal warrant in June 1908. The motto — Scientia imperii decus et tutamen — roughly translates as ‘Scientific knowledge for the crowning glory and protection of the realm’.

THE IMPERIAL MACE

The Imperial Mace was presented to the College by the Goldsmiths’ Company in 2009 in recognition of its status as a university in its own right and of the livery company’s longstanding relationship with Imperial and its predecessor institutions. The Mace’s intricate design incorporates the Imperial coat of arms and motto, and was designed to be a focal point of the College’s Royal Albert Hall graduation ceremonies.

ACADEMIC DRESS

The unifying theme of Imperial academic dress is the colour purple, inspired by WH Perkin’s invention of the first synthetic purple dye, mauveine, in 1856. Perkin, a Royal College of Chemistry graduate, died in 1907, the year of Imperial’s foundation.

Order of procession

The company rises when the Procession enters the hall and remains standing until the Chair of the Council and of the Court is seated.

DISCOVERER OF PENICILLIN AT ST MARY’S HOSPITAL, NOW PART OF IMPERIAL

“May every young scientist remember... and not fail to keep his eyes open for the possibility that an irritating failure of his apparatus to give consistent results may once or twice in a lifetime conceal an important discovery.”

AND HEAD OF THE DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICS AT IMPERIAL, 1953–63

Awards and honours

Honorary degrees

Imperial College London honorary degrees are conferred on persons of conspicuous merit who are outstanding in their fields.

Sir John Armit

Sir John Armit is Chairman of the National Express Group and City & Guilds Group and Deputy Chairman of the Berkeley Group.

Sir John received a degree in Civil Engineering from Portsmouth College of Technology (now the University of Portsmouth), and a Master's from London Business School. After graduating, he joined John Laing Construction, rising through the ranks to become Chairman of the International and Civil Engineering Divisions.

After leaving John Laing in 1993, Sir John became Chief Executive of Union Rail. From 1997 to 2001, he led the construction company Costain, before becoming Chief Executive of Railtrack and its successor, Network Rail. In 2007, Sir John became Chairman of the Olympic Delivery Authority. He was also Chairman of the Engineering and Physical Sciences Research Council from 2007 to 2012.

Sir John is a Fellow of the Royal Academy of Engineering, and the City & Guilds of London Institute. He is a Fellow and Senior Vice President of the Institution of Civil Engineers, and is its incoming President for 2015–16. Sir John was awarded the CBE in 1996 for his contributions to the rail industry and was knighted in 2012 for services to engineering and construction in preparation for the London 2012 Olympics.

Sir Michael Dixon

Sir Michael Dixon is the Director of the Natural History Museum, a position he has held since 2004.

Sir Michael graduated from Imperial College London with a degree in Zoology. He completed a DPhil at the University of York, with a focus on host location mechanisms in larval trematode parasites, and then worked for 20 years in scientific, technical and medical publishing. In 2000, he was appointed Director-General of the Zoological Society of London, with responsibility for London Zoo and Whipsnade Wild Animal Park, the Institute of Zoology and the organisation's conservation activities around the world.

Sir Michael has chaired the Imperial College Research Ethics Committee since 2009 and is a Member of the Court of the University of Reading. During 2006–07, he was acting Chief Scientific Adviser to the government's Department for Culture, Media & Sport, and has also chaired the Department's Science and Research Advisory Committee. Sir Michael is a member of the boards of trustees of the Royal Albert Hall and WWF UK and a former governor of the Powell Cotton Museum. He was knighted in 2014 for services to museums.

Professor Dame Julia Higgins

Professor Dame Julia Higgins is Emeritus Professor and Senior Research Investigator in the Department of Chemical Engineering at Imperial College London.

Dame Julia received a degree in Physics and a doctorate in Physical Chemistry from Somerville College, Oxford. Upon earning her DPhil, she joined the University of Manchester as a Research Fellow. In 1972, she moved to the Institut Charles Sadron in Strasbourg, and the following year she joined the Institut Laue-Langevin in Grenoble. She joined Imperial as a Lecturer in Chemical Engineering in 1976, and became Professor of Polymer Science in 1989. During her time at Imperial, Dame Julia has served as Dean of City and Guilds College, Director of the Graduate School in Engineering and Physical Sciences, and Principal of the Faculty of Engineering.

Dame Julia has served as President of the Institution of Chemical Engineers and the British Association for the Advancement of Science, and is President-elect of the Institute of Physics from later this year. She was the founding Chair of the Steering Committee of the Athena project, and has chaired the Advisory Committee on Mathematics Education, the Engineering and Physical Sciences Research Council and the board of trustees of Imperial College Union. She is a foreign member of the US National Academy of Engineering and a Chevalier of the Legion d'Honneur. Dame Julia was awarded a CBE in 1996 and received her Damehood in 2001.

Imperial College Medals

The Imperial College Medal is awarded for meritorious or praiseworthy service to the College or for having otherwise enhanced its reputation, mission and objectives.

Mrs Julia Anderson

Mrs Julia Anderson is the Departmental Manager for Surgery and Cancer at Imperial's Faculty of Medicine.

Mrs Anderson has worked for Imperial College London for more than 25 years, originally working for Charing Cross and Westminster Medical School before it merged with other institutions to form the College's School of Medicine. In her current role, she provides support to the Head of the Department of Surgery and Cancer, Professor Jeremy Nicholson, and leads the Department's management team. She has provided many years of dedicated service to the College, and is integral to the success of the Department of Surgery and Cancer.

In 2006, Mrs Anderson was awarded the Rector's Award for Excellence in Leadership and Management in recognition of her “transformational” impact on the Department.

Professor Mino Green

Professor Mino Green is Emeritus Professor of the Science of Electrical Devices in the Department of Electrical Engineering at Imperial College London and the founder of Nexeon, a battery materials and licensing company.

Professor Green’s research spans everything from semiconductors, electrochromics and thermoelectric systems to nanotechnology. After completing his PhD, he worked at Massachusetts Institute of Technology’s Lincoln Laboratory, where he focused on the chemistry of germanium. He went on to lead semiconductor research at Zenith Radio Corporation in Chicago and then took on the role of Associate Head of the Electrochemistry Laboratory of the Department of Chemistry at the University of Pennsylvania. After establishing the Zenith Radio Research Corporation in the UK, Professor Green joined Imperial in 1972, and was the founding Head of the College’s Optical and Semiconductor Devices Group. After his retirement, he founded Nexeon, which is one of the flagship companies of Imperial Innovations; its work is directly based on Professor Green’s research.

Professor Lionel Lee

Professor Lionel Lee is a Professor and Executive Vice-Dean, Administration, at Lee Kong Chian School of Medicine in Singapore, a partnership between Nanyang Technological University and Imperial College London.

Professor Lee joined the Singapore Armed Forces in 1976. He retired from the Armed Forces in 2001 with the rank of Brigadier General and Chief of the Medical Corps. From 1997 to 2011, he was Director of the Defence Medical and Environmental Research Institute of DSO National Laboratories. Professor Lee was instrumental to the successful establishment of the Lee Kong Chian School of Medicine, and served as Chief Operating Officer from 2011 until assuming his current role, in which he is central to the development of strategic partnerships with medical schools and organisations worldwide.

Professor Lee has received various professional, national and military awards and medals for his service. He became a Fellow of the Academy of Medicine, Singapore, in 1997.

Ms Mandy Thorpe

Ms Mandy Thorpe is the Director of Imperial College London’s Central Biomedical Services (CBS), which supports research in Medicine and Life Sciences.

Ms Thorpe was educated at Southfields Secondary School and Westminster College. She has worked for Imperial since 1972, and in 2012 was recognised for her long service. She has held several prominent positions at the College. From 2000 to 2005, she was the Deputy Manager of the Royal Postgraduate Medical School. Subsequently she became Site Manager, a position she held until her appointment as Director of CBS. Under Ms Thorpe’s direction, CBS has provided high-quality service and support for numerous research groups for many years, thanks largely to her commitment and dedication.

President’s Medals

The President’s Medals are awarded to recognise staff members who have made outstanding contributions in teaching, pastoral care and supporting the student experience.

OUTSTANDING CONTRIBUTION TO TEACHING EXCELLENCE

Ms Giskin Day

Ms Giskin Day is Course Director for Medical Humanities, a Lecturer in Science Communication, and Senior Teaching Fellow at the Centre for Languages, Culture and Communication (previously the Centre for Co-Curricular Studies), and runs courses for the School of Medicine.

In her teaching, Ms Day has a strong focus on practical skills in communication, including apps, podcasts and even graphic novels. She was central to the reorganisation of the Humanities Department to become the Centre for Co-Curricular Studies, and developed a new suite of courses to meet the revised goals of the programme.

The Medical Humanities course that Ms Day teaches in the Faculty of Medicine as part of the BSc year was described by an external examiner as “the gold standard of its kind, nationally and internationally”.

Professor Jonathan Mestel

Professor Jonathan Mestel is Director of Undergraduate Studies in the Department of Mathematics.

As Director of Undergraduate Studies, Professor Mestel has implemented substantial improvements to the undergraduate programme and taken steps to ensure that student feedback is analysed and acted on. He teaches courses at all levels, and is particularly interested in bridging the gaps between school and university, and between undergraduate and postgraduate studies and research.

Professor Mestel is part of the group that reviews the Mathematics Admissions Test. He has worked closely with Canterbury Christ Church University to oversee the introduction of two new degrees in Mathematics and Education, which allow Imperial students to graduate with Qualified Teacher Status.

Dr Jane Saffell

Dr Jane Saffell is a Senior Lecturer in the Division of Brain Sciences in the Department of Medicine. She chairs the Department’s Academic Opportunities Committee and is Faculty Academic Lead for Master’s courses.

As well as her research into neurobiology, Dr Saffell conducts educational research and development to build strong, unified academic communities. Her innovative approach to education, strong managerial skills and understanding of the importance of interdisciplinary and cross-departmental working have helped to transform the Department of Medicine.

Dr Saffell has been nominated for several national teaching awards and was a national finalist for the 2013 University Bioscience Teacher of the Year Award. She is also a member of a Society of Biology committee advising on and developing biology curricula for schools.

Dr Amir Sam

Dr Amir Sam is a Senior Lecturer in the Division of Diabetes, Endocrinology and Metabolism, Head of Examinations in Years 3 and 6, and Head of Curriculum and Assessment Development for the School of Medicine. He is also a Consultant Endocrinologist at Hammersmith and Charing Cross hospitals. He sits on the Department of Medicine’s Education Strategy Committee and Medical Education Ethics Committee.

Alongside his research in endocrinology, Dr Sam has made a huge contribution to undergraduate education within the School of Medicine. He has introduced new teaching methods across the entire medical programme, produces vast amounts of teaching material and has been instrumental in the development of the Curriculum Map. He also won the Outstanding Teacher of the Year Award from Health Education North West London.

Dr Sam represents Imperial’s Faculty of Medicine at the Medical Schools Council Assessment Alliance, for which he has led several national projects.

EXCELLENCE IN PASTORAL CARE

Dr Laura Barter

Dr Laura Barter is a Royal Society University Research Fellow in the Department of Chemistry. She is the Department’s Director of MRes Studies and the Co-Deputy Director of the Institute of Chemical Biology Centre for Doctoral Training.

Dr Barter chairs or sits on several committees and management teams that monitor and manage student welfare and performance. She has implemented initiatives to improve communication with students, including student involvement in course design and delivery and in the management of the department.

The pastoral care provided by Dr Barter has been recognised by the Engineering and Physical Sciences Research Council, and she delivers lectures nationally on the topic. Changes she has introduced have been adopted more widely both at Imperial and throughout the UK.

Dr Sharon Taylor

Dr Sharon Taylor is a Teaching Fellow and Personal Tutor in the Section of Mental Health, Division of Brain Sciences in the Department of Medicine, and a Consultant Child and Adolescent Psychiatrist.

Dr Taylor is passionate about pastoral care and professional development, provides holistic support to all her tutees, and uses coaching skills to improve the results of students who have had recurrent failures. She is particularly active in identification and support of students with physical and mental health problems.

Dr Taylor also led a project investigating the needs of pregnant students and student parents in the School of Medicine, and on the basis of the results developed a support group for medical student parents and a document addressing foundation year training.

SUPPORTING THE STUDENT EXPERIENCE

Ms Laura Bulmer

Ms Laura Bulmer is an Administrator in the International Relations Office. In this role, she coordinates the International Summer Research Placements Programme and supports other undergraduate mobility programmes at the College.

Ms Bulmer has extensive experience in international student support and study abroad programmes. Since joining Imperial, she has developed a range of undergraduate summer research exchanges, giving students the opportunity to complete fully funded placements at partner institutions in five countries.

Ms Bulmer oversees the pastoral care of all outgoing students and those completing placements at Imperial. She has negotiated bursary terms to ensure that placements are available to all students, and, by working with the Alumni Team, has gained formal alumni status for all incoming placement students.

Ms Laura McConnell

Ms Laura McConnell is the Manager of the Graduate School. Previously, she was the Assistant Registrar for Quality Assurance at the Imperial Registry.

As Manager, Ms McConnell is responsible for ensuring that postgraduates receive innovative and effective professional skills training. She successfully oversaw the Doctoral Proposition project, and was crucial in the establishment of the African Global Health Fellows Programme. Ms McConnell initiated and organised the College’s inaugural 3 Minute Thesis competition. She also manages the operational processes for the Imperial Crick PhD programme.

Ms McConnell established and supported the Graduate School’s first External Advisory Board, and ensures that students are actively represented on all committees. She is leading the Graduate School’s review of its operational excellence and, in 2014, was accepted onto the Meridian Leaders Programme.

Outstanding Achievement Awards

Outstanding Achievement Awards are awarded to those students who have achieved excellence in extramural activities that bring credit to the College.

Mr Henrik Hagemann

Mr Henrik Hagemann graduates with a MEng with first class honours in Biomedical Engineering today. In the second year of his undergraduate degree, also completed at Imperial, Mr Hagemann took part in a project to design a custom-made bicycle for a Paralympian cyclist, which received national TV and press coverage. He was the first student to receive more than one academic achievement grant from the Institution of Engineering Technology. He is co-founder of the bioengineering start-up company Customem, the President of the Wushu Society, a co-founder of SynBIC and the Burma Refugee Assistance programme, and has won a City & Guilds student award for activity in the community.

Imperial's alumni family

Many congratulations on your graduation today and a warm welcome to Imperial's alumni family. As you cross the stage of the Royal Albert Hall, you are joining a lifelong community of over 180,000 alumni across the globe in 192 countries.

Our top five suggestions now that you are an alumnus:

1. Register for an online account to access exclusive alumni benefits

Registration is free and enables you to activate your free @alumni.imperial.ac.uk email address. You'll also receive our award-winning Imperial magazine and have access to the Central Library and Careers Service.

2. Update your contact details

Have your address, phone number or professional details changed recently? We are always pleased to hear from our alumni and would like to keep in touch with you so please make sure you regularly update your personal and professional details online, by email or over the phone with the Alumni Office to ensure you hear about the latest alumni events and networking opportunities in your area. Visit the Alumni Office table at gowning to collect your Graduation 2015 pin when you complete an address card.

3. Relax in the Alumni Visitor Centre

Visit the dedicated alumni lounge and meeting space at the main entrance of the South Kensington Campus. Facilities include free wi-fi, complimentary refreshments, a meeting room, newspapers and magazines, and a daytime left luggage area.

4. Join an alumni group or association

Imperial's global network of more than 50 alumni groups and associations will be delighted to welcome you. Meet alumni who live in your area, make professional connections and attend a range of events.

5. Connect with us on social media

Join our Imperial College London alumni group on LinkedIn to network with more than 12,000 alumni online and keep up to date with the latest alumni news and events by following the alumni page on Facebook. Connect with fellow alumni today by posting your favourite graduation photos on Twitter (@ImperialCollege) or Instagram (imperialcollege) using #impgrad, and keep an eye on the Imperial College London alumni page on Facebook throughout the day for more updates and photos.
