Hi Ian,

There are a couple of definitive footpaths that cross this site. Please could you ask for additional details showing the precise alignment and widths etc. that are planned if the development goes ahead?

From the plans currently available, there appears to be a slight diversion to the alignment of the footpath which could cause us problems going forward unless the correct legal diversion process is followed. It does look however that a very slight realignment of the proposed road layout may make this diversion process unnecessary.

Thanks,
