Comments On The Proposal...

The road linking the new build area is insufficient to handle the extra road traffic that will be place on it should traffic route via the current proposed plan. Also the route would traverses across pedestrianised walkways which itself is shielded by adjacent properties garden shrubs. The road leading to the new properties has "no" footpaths on either sides causing a possible bottleneck between pedestrians and on-going vehicles. This problem is alleviated at the moment since there is no thru-way, but will become hazardous to walkers should traffic be allowed to pass. And finally the actual width of the road itself with cars parked on either side will convert this route into an obstacle for all concerned: local residence, walkers and divers.
