Subject: For comment by Friday 19 August - FOIA - records misplaced whilst on requisition

Dear [Redacted]

We have received an Freedom of Information request which asks for the following information:

This is a Freedom of Information request regarding public records that have been lost. Please can you give me the numbers of public records lost while out on loan or requisitioned by public bodies over the last 5 years? Please supply this in the form of a table showing the name of the public body and the number of records lost.

Please also provide the number of public records lost at or by The National Archives over the last 5 years. I do not need to know the titles or references of records lost, just the numbers.

In terms of that part of the question that relates to the number of records which have been lost whilst on requisition then TNA has the following record listed as misplaced whilst on requisition to your department during the last five years:

DN 1/33

The response will therefore show that Public Health England (Health Protection Agency) has misplaced 1 record whilst on requisition during the past five years (the attached provides some background to discussions about this record). TNA is contacting all departments that will be included in this response. Please also note that TNA has received several recent FOI requests on misplaced records (although this is the first to ask about records misplaced whilst on requisition) and this theme has been covered in the media: <http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/uk-politics-36953199>

I would be grateful if you could please let me know whether you have any comments in relation to the above approach before close on Friday 19 August.

Many thanks.

Kind regards,

Dear [REDACTED]

Thank you for taking some time to check on this record. I think this confirms the position that [REDACTED] found in 2014.

I have a better idea of where this record might now reside (it may be in an old corporate affairs repository area at our Colindale site) after I visited there on Monday. However I don't have the time at present to search through the archive there, nor review some duplicate material that might qualify as a new original.

Can I therefore please suggest that we mark the record as mislaid for the moment (as originally agreed if we hit the end of Feb)? And I will endeavour to track it down or provide a new original past April this year.

Sorry to have taken up even more of your time re this. Kind regards [REDACTED]

Morning [REDACTED]

Just to keep you updated with what we have been doing this end to trace this file.

I have, this morning, completed a thorough interrogation of our database and, although there is reference to this file, I cannot find any indication as to who ordered the file in January 2010.

There is an email trail between 2 TNA staff members, one of whom is [REDACTED] now retired, who was the IMC for HPA? An email from [REDACTED] in October 2009 says that the HPA contact is [REDACTED] so he might be a good starting point for you?

Hi again [REDACTED]

With further apologies – my earlier interpretation was wrong, please ignore my earlier request below to search at TNA.

It appears that this record was indeed sent back by TNA to what was the Health Protection Agency, in January 2010 (please see attached), for re-review by us. There should be a record at your end of the transfer. My fault, as I've not looked at these e-mails for some time.

[REDACTED] was unable to find any evidence in 2014 as to who/where exactly the record was sent to at HPA, which is where the trail goes cold at my end.

I can only please ask again at this point, if there might be any further info at TNA re a HPA recipient in Jan 2010, that might have been missed? I think you've got all the info that [REDACTED] was able to pass to me previously.

I will be searching at Colindale again on Monday and will update. Kind regards, [REDACTED]

Subject: Tracking issue: DN1/33

Dear [REDACTED]

Thank you for the quick chat earlier. As discussed, this may be grasping at straws, but the last reference to a location for DN1/33 that I can find anywhere, is in the e-mail trail below that [REDACTED] kindly dug out. I've highlighted some key lines below.

In terms of tracking/tracing, a summary of the below email trail appears to indicate:

- DN1/33 was uplifted from Health Protection Agency to TNA c.2008/9 (incorrectly as an open record)
- TNA [REDACTED] identified it as sensitive/closed in 2009 (?)
- DN1/33 then possibly sent to MoJ Clearing House [REDACTED] for an opinion on sensitivity
- DN1/33 back at TNA with [REDACTED] team. Location in closed document room, October 2009

It's unclear if DN1/33 was then returned to HPA for sensitivity re-review, the contact being [REDACTED] (our current DRO in what's now PHE). As he can recall no file, and we have no trace of it here, I'm wondering if it might still be at TNA after all?

Next steps:

1. If you consider the trail below to justify my request, could I please ask if you could check if the record might still be at Kew, given last known location? I'm aware this was over six years ago, but would be grateful for your help.
2. I shall visit our Colindale site next week and search again either for the original or, failing that, a duplicate we can submit as a new original if it comes to this.
3. I'll endeavour to update you next week with the outcome of my further search.

4. If we cannot trace this at all we will have it marked as misplaced, unless a duplicate can be provided.
5. I agree we will need to do a root cause analysis and lessons learned review, given that this is a closed sensitive record.

Hi [REDACTED]

Finally got to the bottom of this one – I'm told that we do send departments a list of records that will come open in January, but that this only applies to extended closures. This means that as DN 1/33 is a normal 30 year closure, they would not have received this warning.

TNA does not send out this warning for normal 30 year closures due to the volume of warnings this would produce. Also if the file contains personal information the department should not have transferred it as a normal closure.

Hope this helps.

Dear [REDACTED]

With apologies for the delay, I have now discussed this with [REDACTED] and as no formal FOI request has been made, this does not fall within our remit as the Department need to request the file back and have their sensitivity reviewers consider it.

We have shown it to [REDACTED] from Clearing House who has raised some concerns over potential sensitivities in the file and therefore recommends it be reviewed by the Department.

If they wish to make an application for the file to be temporarily retained on the catalogue, they will need to liaise with yourself and [REDACTED] in order to do this.

If you have any queries, [REDACTED] is happy to discuss it with you.

[REDACTED] has now had a look at the file and has identified [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] It appears it is more complicated than previously thought.

I have his notes for you if you would like to see them, but in general he has recommended the file remain closed, thus a department re-review is likely to be necessary.

Let me know how you would like to proceed. I currently have the file in the closed document room.

We spoke. Piece DN1/33 is dated 1979 and is due to come open next Jan.

It is the only volume that was kept closed when the series was re-reviewed in 2004: I know that it contains a sensitive item, which is why it was not opened.

[REDACTED]
I spoke to [REDACTED] about this item and he suggested that you might be able to let [REDACTED] have a look at it on his next visit.

If needs be, we will get the dept to re-review and if necessary, redact the item.

Thanks for your email. Can I first apologise to [REDACTED] for not being in touch previously, this has been down to workload, tracing of this file has not been a priority.

Can I please suggest that you automatically mark the file as misplaced at the end of this month (February) if I cannot track it down before then?

I suspect it may be at our Colindale site and I will need to visit there shortly to review other PHLS records for uplift to TNA. I'm sorry for the delay here but I could find no tracing records at our end (!) when I did investigate previously.

It also may be that we have a duplicate that can be submitted as a new original – I will advise.

Dear [REDACTED]

I have recently taken on the role of Government and Remote Services (GRS) Manager at TNA and one of my first tasks in post is to send through to you the latest six monthly outstanding records list which I have attached to this email.

I would be grateful if you could please provide comments on this list in the form of an update on the status of each record and return the annotated list to me by close on Friday 7 November.

For each record on the list please:

14

- arrange for its return to TNA where the business need for its departmental recall has concluded;
- provide a reason for continued use of a recalled record;
- confirm that any continuing long term use of a record is a business necessity - in these instances please contact me about making copies for future use;
- a priority for TNA is the return of those records that have been with departments for over five years (before Oct 2009) - as above if a record is still required please contact me about making copies;
- confirm that you (or a team member) have had sight of each record (and can currently locate it within your department);
- report any records that cannot be located. (We should then discuss action taken/next steps in terms of locating a record and, in terms of transparency, reporting its current status on the TNA catalogue).

The statistics for outstanding records (those currently out with departments) are distributed within TNA and are regularly discussed at our Operational Governance Board. As such your assistance in ensuring that the total outstanding records are kept to a minimum is greatly appreciated.

Thank you for your time and assistance with the above return. I look forward to working with you.

Thanks for this further info, it's very helpful.

In brief it sounds like this [REDACTED] may have requested the missing record direct from TNA to MOJ? If so, we wouldn't have records on the loan, unless there is some other trace of it having gone via HPA (PHE) first. I'm not aware of any log here indicating such a movement.

If it didn't first come to us, I'm not sure what we can do, other than suggest that MOJ would need to take this up.

Could I please ask if you could forward on to me the e-mail trails you have, and were referring from?

I ask as your reply read slightly ambiguously, in that I'm not sure if he was a TNA person discussing the file request, or the HPA person requesting it.

Hi [REDACTED]

Apologies for the delay in response. I haven't been able to locate the original order form for this request. What I have found though are emails between TNA discussing that this file was to be looked at by [REDACTED] and that it needed to be sent back to yourselves for an application of extended closure to be made. This record contained personal data about living individuals, that was in November of 2009, the record was then sent out in January of 2010.

I hope this helps somewhat.

Dear [REDACTED]

I'm sorry to chase, but could I please ask if TNA colleagues might have found any more details on the below outstanding record?

I ask as I'm visiting our Colindale site tomorrow afternoon to consult with who I think is the record series owner; further details on the record probably aren't essential to have, but if they are available, they might be useful for when to I speak to PHE colleagues.

I'd be very grateful for a brief update if possible. Hopefully I can shed further light for you re this record after tomorrow.

Kind regards, [REDACTED]

Dear [REDACTED]

By way of introduction I joined PHE in February as Records Manager (and deputy DRO) for the agency.

[REDACTED] has passed on your note (below) to me re an outstanding record. Based on the date it looks to be an old Health Protection Agency record.

Might you have any further info on it, like title or series, owner (other than the DRO), or where it was issued to etc.?

I ask as it may be quite difficult to trace this without some wider knowledge of the record, so I'd be very grateful for any background you might be able to provide.

Kind regards, [REDACTED]

Dear [REDACTED]

Please find attached the outstanding list for PHE. Just the one file is on the list, but as it has been with you since 2010, can this now be returned?

If you still require use of it, once it is returned to us, we can make a copy of it for your continued use.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely

Following on from my email below, to which you have yet to reply, I need to point out that the 1979 volume I referred to (DN1/33) is still considered to contain sensitive information and should not be allowed to come open in the New Year.

[REDACTED]
In general he has recommended the file remain closed, thus a department re-review is necessary. Could you please arrange for this volume to be ordered back to HPA for your consideration? If the volume is in your possession on the 1 Jan it will ensure that there is no possibility of it being produced to a member of the public.
Best wishes

Many thanks for this.
What was the outcome of your meeting with the manager who has custody of these volumes? My assumption is that it will have mainly concerned the question of assessing any continuing sensitivity. If there is a period, say 15 or 20 years, after which the risk of the information still being sensitive is minimal, we would be quite happy for you to transfer only those volumes: the remainder could remain in your custody for later consideration, provided of course, that this was sooner than 30 years after the last date of the volume.

It is probably worth pointing out that, as was the norm, the earlier volumes (1961-1983) were subject to the 30 year access period when they were transferred here in 1985 (into the series DN1). Then, in 2004, prior to the FOI Act coming into force, [REDACTED] conducted a review of the volumes that were still closed at that time (1974-1983). [REDACTED] the rest of the volumes were opened.

I hope that this is of some help and that we can push on with the transfer of this material, or at least, most of it.

Best wishes

I wonder if I might remind you of the questions in my email below concerning the record set of the PHLS minutes and papers, etc?
I was reminded by finding a copy of an old PHLS Annual Report found during a clear-out of one of our strong rooms.
I hope that you have not been adversely affected by the recent outbreak of swine 'flu'(!)

Thank for the comments on the birth of the HPA. I wondered what was the source of references made to our exemption. I'll look at those references at a quieter time. And I will get back to you in answer to your questions.

Thanks for your email the other week: unfortunately, I am not able to attend the IG4U event on 19 March.

Thanks also for your comments on the status of HPA records: I was under the impression that the Act that set up the agency specifically contradicts the view that they can be considered public records by declaring that its assets do not belong to the Crown. Maybe we need a legal opinion?

Anyway, we are on safer ground (I think) with the HPA's predecessor, the PHLS. The Board was formally abolished by section 190 of the Health and Social Care (Community Health and Standards) Act 2003 on 1st April 2005 but TNA only have their records up to 1983; see attached:

<http://www.nationalarchives.gov.uk/catalogue/DisplayCatalogueDetails.asp?CATID=85&CATLN=1&FullDetails=True>

Firstly, do you think that there is any prospect in the near future of obtaining the record set of the PHLS Board minutes and papers after 1983?

Also, do you have any description of the winding up of the PHLS functions, which could be usefully added to the administrative history section on our Catalogue? According to the HPA web site, it was set up in 2003 as a Special Health Authority and then in 2005 became a non departmental public body, when it took over the functions of the NRPB but it doesn't mention the demise of the PHLS, so I would be grateful if you could help clarify.

Best wishes

Thanks for letting me know.
The piece reference is probably DN 1/33.

Don't worry about redaction at this stage: if the piece cannot be opened, the whole piece will remain closed until 2010 or until we get an FOI request for access, whichever is the sooner. We will then have to decide about [REDACTED] in the light of our experience of FOI and advice from the Information Commissioner's Office.

Look forward to your reply

Subject: PHLS Board papers held by the National Archive

Dear [REDACTED] - after a lot of "tooting and frooing" I have now got the go ahead to release the PHLS Board papers (1974 - 1983) held by TNA, [REDACTED]

The reference I have in my notes is DNI/33 1979.

Can you advise how I do this. Do I need to arrange to visit TNA and make the redaction myself ?

Also - what is the position on keeping this information out of the public domain permanently

Grateful for your advice
