

Disclaimer.

As part of the obligations agreed between Start Smiling Again and the Department of Work and Pensions (DWP), this Disclaimer has been created to inform clients what happens to the data/personal information gathered by Start Smiling Again or affiliated staff.

Certain personal information has been given to Start Smiling Again prior to the client attending a course run by Start Smiling Again, and this information is stored on a private computer and will not be distributed without the client's prior consent.

All personal information will be treated in the strictest of confidence and will not be shared with any third party unless such information should conflict with the policies given by the DWP and could affect the client's claim with the DWP, or otherwise obligated to do so by law.

By signing this Disclaimer, you are agreeing for Start Smiling Again or its associates to pass on any information to a DWP advisor should that information be relevant to the client's claim with the DWP.
