1. Purpose

- 1.1. This Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) supports the Police Service of Scotland referred to hereafter as Police Scotland:
 - Custody Policy
 - Equality, Diversity and Dignity Policy
- 1.2 This SOP also supports a large number of Police Scotland SOP's which are detailed in full in Appendix B.
- 1.3 This SOP provides instruction and guidance to all Police Officers/Members of Police Staff responsible for the care and welfare of persons in police custody. This applies to staff working in all divisions/departments who are involved with custodies.
- 1.4 Instruction and guidance to all Police officers/Members of Police Staff concerning custody procedures relative to the Criminal Justice (Scotland) Act 2016 can be found within the Criminal Justice Act Arrest Process SOP.
- 1.5 Police Officers/Police Staff should utilise the National Decision Making Model to make informed decisions. All key decisions and rationale made in respect of prisoner care should be recorded on the National Custody System or paper log.

Note: The care and welfare of individuals in police custody is paramount. All Police Officers/Police Staff should be aware that failure to adhere to procedures may compromise custody care and potentially may render them liable to disciplinary, misconduct, civil or criminal proceedings

- 1.6 Whilst the vast majority of custody centres have access to the National Custody System, it is noted that certain areas continue to utilise paper records. For these centres and any other centre that is temporarily unable to utilise their computer records, any reference to the National Custody System also refers to paper records.
- 1.7 Any reference herein to a Health Care Professional (HCP) includes Doctors, Nurses and Paramedics.

2. Equality and Human Rights Considerations

- 2.1 It is essential that the care, welfare and security of persons held in police custody be maintained to consistently high standards. Whilst security is of paramount importance, all custodies are to be treated with care and respect, ensuring that their fundamental human rights are maintained at all times. No custody should receive less favourable treatment on the grounds of age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage or civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex and sexual orientation.

- 2.2 Each person in custody must be considered as an individual with specific needs relevant to his or her particular circumstances, health and condition. Reasonable requests, which do not interfere with operational requirements or security, should only be refused when there are justifiable reasons. Any such reasons for refusing a request should be documented on the National Custody System.

3. Definition of Custody

- 3.1 For the purposes of the care and welfare of custodies;
'A person is considered to be in custody the moment they are arrested'.

4. Definition of Custody Centre

- 4.1 Police Scotland utilises three types of Custody Centres:
- Primary Custody Centre – is a centre which is open to receive custodies on a full time basis.
 - Weekend Opening Facility – is a centre which is routinely used at peak weekend times.
 - Ancillary Custody Centre – is a centre which may be opened due to demand or location.
- 4.2 A list of all Primary, Weekend Opening and Ancillary Custody Centres is contained in Appendix 'E'.

5. Staffing of Custody Centre

5.1 Key Roles and Responsibilities

5.1.1 Force Custody Inspector

- The Force Custody Inspector (FCI) is on duty 24/7 and provides advice, guidance and support to custody supervisors nationally.
- It is the FCI's responsibility to have operational GRIP of ongoing issues and to liaise with cluster Inspectors and others to ensure ongoing operational viability. The FCI will escalate as appropriate to the Area Commander or on call Chief Inspector.
- The FCI rota is displayed on the Custody Division mini-site on the Police Scotland intranet.

5.1.2 Custody Cluster Inspector

- A custody cluster Inspector is responsible for the day to day running of a number of custody centres known as a cluster.
- They will provide the information and guidance to their staff during normal working hours.
- They are to ensure safety and welfare of staff.
- They ensure Custody Supervisors within the custody cluster are suitably and sufficiently trained to undertake their roles and responsibilities

5.1.3 Custody Supervisor

- A Custody Supervisor, irrespective of rank, is responsible for the custody and care of those persons in custody at any particular time.
- They are to ensure the safety and welfare of staff.
- The Custody Supervisor will be responsible for ensuring that the National Custody System is properly maintained and accurately reflects the status of any custodies at that centre. In this regard, it should be borne in mind that the system must be updated with the results of any requests made by a custody and any relevant checks carried out. It is essential that all entries on a custody's record are made timeously in a clear and accurate manner. In addition, only officers who have undertaken the appropriate training can use the system.
- It is the responsibility of the Custody Supervisor to ensure that all staff are fully briefed, appropriately trained and conversant with the individual needs and requirements of those in custody.
- The Custody Supervisor has overarching accountability for the conduct of all custody staff within custody facilities under their control.
- The Custody Supervisor must ensure that the custody area is appropriately staffed at all times.
- It is the supervisor's responsibility to liaise with the FCI to advise of any staffing issues which may lead to a compromise of prisoner care and take the appropriate mitigating action.
- The Custody Supervisor must also make sure that First Aid equipment is available and in date within the custody area and that custody staff are aware of its location. This is particularly important when relief custody staff are on duty. Staff should also be made aware of procedures to be adopted in the event of a fire evacuation and the fire evacuation plan relevant to their particular holding station.
- Custody Supervisors must also ensure that all custody staff, including backfill staff, are aware of the location of relevant officer safety equipment, e.g. Ample Probe, anti-ligature shears, etc.

5.1.4 Police Custody and Security Officers

- Police Custody and Security Officers (PCSO) provide a key role in managing and maintaining the safe custody, care and welfare of prisoners including the operation of the National Custody System and other computerised police information systems as required.
- Those officers, on taking up post, will have completed the Custody Officers course. On completion of training they will be issued with a certificate appointing them to carry out their duties as defined by Section 29 Police and Fire Reform (Scotland) Act 2012.
- Must inform the Custody Supervisor immediately of any information that may have bearing on the care and welfare of a person during their time in custody.

5.1.5 Custody Officers

- Those police officers who have completed the Custody Officers course. Ideally these officers would also be trained to the same level as PCSO to enable them to provide cover for absence, sickness, etc.
- Must inform the custody supervisor immediately of any information that may have bearing on the care and welfare of a person during their time in custody.

5.2 Training

5.2.1 All staff working primarily in key roles must be suitably trained to fulfil their role.

5.2.2 All staff deployed in key roles within a custody centre who are responsible for the care and welfare of prisoners must have completed the National Custody Officers training course (two days). Staff who attended training courses in legacy force areas are not required to re-attend a further custody officer course.

5.2.3 All staff must have completed, as a minimum standard, Scottish Police Emergency Life Support (SPELS) training within the previous 12 months. Officers who have, for whatever reason, failed to re-qualify are not deemed qualified to work in the custody centre.

Note: There must be at least one member of staff qualified in First Aid at Work on duty within a primary custody centre. In circumstances where this cannot be met the custody supervisor should consult with the FCI.

5.2.4 The custody supervisor and any other member of staff who are responsible for prisoner visits, processing or releasing prisoners must have completed appropriate Information Communications Technology training for the system in operation at that site.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- 5.2.5 Where prisoner's meals are prepared and served within the custody area at least one member of the custody team on duty must be trained in food hygiene.
- 5.2.6 Untrained members of staff may only be deployed under the direct supervision of a trained member of staff and where authorised in advance by the Area Commander or FCI.
- 5.2.7 All police officers working in key roles within a custody centre who are responsible for processing prisoners and liaising with arresting/enquiry officers must have completed Criminal Justice (Scotland) Act 2016 training.
- 5.2.8 It is the responsibility of the custody supervisor prior to the start of the tour of duty to ensure that all staff being deployed have the appropriate skills and competence to undertake the role of custody officer. Any real time queries or concerns should be directed to the FCI.

5.3 Handover Procedures and Briefing of Staff

- 5.3.1 Effective briefing and debriefing of custody supervisors and custody staff is essential when handing over responsibility for custodies. This ensures that all relevant information in relation to the care and welfare of custodies is passed on to and understood by the staff assuming responsibility. Custody staff should refer to The Custody Officer's Guide as a guide to briefing the incoming staff.
- 5.3.2 Custody supervisors are to ensure that full use is made of the hand-over period between shifts, which should incorporate a full and comprehensive briefing, including a physical check of all custodies by the incoming custody supervisor, prior to the outgoing custody supervisor finishing duty. When this is completed, an entry must be made in the custody record for each custody. When a Risk Management Plan is agreed during a hand-over, the custody supervisors are to ensure all relevant details are recorded on the National Custody System.
- 5.3.3 The oncoming custody supervisor is to ensure that all staff are fully briefed and conversant with the individual needs and requirements of those in custody. Where there are multiple members of custody staff on duty, it is essential that each is aware of their individual and collective responsibilities.

5.4 Remote/Island Station Procedures

- 5.4.1 On all occasions when a person is brought to a police station at a remote or island location, the custody supervisor at the appropriate primary centre must be advised immediately, or as soon as practicable. This is to allow for an accurate care plan and risk assessment to be agreed.
- 5.4.2 Where the custody supervisor determines that a prisoner may be suitable for one officer to monitor, a robust record of the decision making process must be recorded in consultation with the FCI.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

5.4.3 The following criteria must be met;

- Officer to be custody trained and be in possession of radio at all times
- Officer must be conversant in the current guidance contained within the Care and Welfare of Persons in Police Custody SOP and Criminal Justice Act Arrest Process SOP
- Custody observations must be maintained as per the care plan
- No cell entry unaccompanied unless in an emergency and notice must be given to colleagues by radio prior to cell entry
- Officer must be able to hear cell call system at all times
- Officer must make hourly contact with colleagues after care plan check of custody
- Officer must contact custody supervisor every two hours and record discussion on care plan
- If there is a change in the custody's status, health or behaviour contact must be made with the custody supervisor immediately to review the custody care plan and suitability for single officer monitoring.

Note: Persons arrested or attending at a police station on a voluntary basis should be taken to a primary custody centre, unless due to geographical location it is necessary to attend at an ancillary custody centre. In these circumstances the custody supervisor at the nearest primary centre must be contacted and authorisation sought to open the ancillary custody centre. The custody supervisor must as soon as practicable inform the FCI of the use of the ancillary office and the circumstances of the custody.

6. Initial Apprehension of Custody

- 6.1 When a person is arrested, the person should be removed to a custody centre at the earliest opportunity. Consideration must always be given to any immediate medical needs or mental health assessments required.
- 6.2 If, whilst at locus, arresting officers differ from conveying officers, a comprehensive handover briefing should be conducted, regarding the circumstances of arrest highlighting any care and welfare concerns. Importantly, officers must confirm a search has been carried out prior to transportation. This should be communicated to the custody supervisor on arrival at the custody centre.
- 6.3 Any apprehension should be made with the minimum amount of force necessary. Any use of force required to affect an apprehension must be recorded in the custody record in accordance with the criteria for the use of force contained within the Use of Force SOP.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- 6.4 In the interests of officer safety and the safety of the custody, as well as for the preservation of evidence, custodies must be searched at the time of apprehension.
- 6.5 This initial search should be conducted thoroughly and discreetly, attempting to avoid public embarrassment or humiliation where possible whilst explaining to the custody the reasons for carrying out a search.
- 6.6 If it is not possible to conduct a search, due to the particular circumstances of the incident, care should be taken to ensure that the custody has no opportunity to cause injury to themselves, any other person, or dispose of any evidence.
- 6.7 From the outset arresting officers should be aware of the ongoing implications for that person's time in custody, for example;
- If apprehended from their home address, consider if medication will be required and if so, bring it to the custody centre in its original packaging with dispensing label showing the custody's details.
 - Consider if clothing or footwear is likely to be seized and if so bring suitable replacements
- 6.8 A person arrested must be promptly informed, in a manner he or she can understand, of the reason for the arrest. If a person is incapable of understanding the reason for their arrest or, is so violent, as to pose a risk to themselves, police staff or any other person, this may be delayed until he or she has sufficiently recovered, or an appropriate adult, interpreter or translator is available to achieve this aim. For further information consult the Appropriate Adult SOP.
- 6.9 Arresting/escorting officers must inform custody staff of the impending arrival of a custody as soon as is reasonably practicable. This is particularly relevant when the custody is violent, as custody staff can prepare by ensuring the charge bar is clear to prevent injury.

6.10 Cross Border Powers

- 6.10.1 For further information consult the Criminal Justice Act Arrest Process SOP

7. Conveyance of Custodies

7.1 Authorised Staff

- 7.1.1 Only Police Officers and PCSOs designated under Police and Fire Reform (Scotland) Act 2012 – Section 29 should be used to transport custodies.
- 7.1.2 PCSOs should be in possession of their Personal Protective Equipment and trained in its use.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

7.2 Vehicle Considerations

- 7.2.1 The type of vehicle used for transportation will vary and will be influenced by availability. Ideally, a vehicle equipped with Closed Circuit Television (CCTV) should be used. A dynamic risk assessment must be carried out by the arresting officers when determining the most appropriate form of transport, taking account of all the circumstances, including the weather conditions.
- 7.2.2 The following standards must be maintained for all police vehicles used to convey custodies:
- Must be equipped with a first aid kit
 - Door locks, windows, internal cage lighting and cage (if fitted) must be in good working order
 - Vehicles should not exceed their design capacity and under no circumstances should two or more custodies be transported in any vehicle other than those specifically adapted for this purpose
 - Windows will remain closed at all times whilst a prisoner is in transit
 - When vehicle CCTV is available it should be switched on when a custody is within the vehicle

7.3 Health and Safety Considerations

- 7.3.1 The following safety precautions should be considered prior to, and during, the conveyancing of custodies:
- If, whilst at locus, arresting officers differ from conveying officers, a comprehensive handover briefing should be conducted, regarding the circumstances of arrest, highlighting any care and welfare concerns. This should be communicated to the custody supervisor on arrival at the custody centre.
 - A custody will not be transported in any vehicle where there is only one escorting officer who is also required to drive the vehicle
 - Officers should ensure that their vehicle is searched prior to patrol/conveying custodies to identify dangerous objects and to ensure its integrity for evidential purposes
 - Following its use to transport a custody, the vehicle will again be searched, where possible in the presence of the custody and prior to entering the custody centre
 - Where circumstances allow, custodies should be searched prior to being placed in to a police vehicle
 - At no stage should a custody be left unsupervised in a police vehicle and officer(s) must be able to observe and monitor the custody and react to any situation that may arise
 - Escorting Officers must investigate any suspicious noise or movement among custodies and call for assistance, if required, without delay

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- Custodies will not be placed in the front seat of a vehicle but must be placed in the rear of the vehicle, in the seat furthest from the driver. The escorting officer should sit beside the custody, unless a cage is available
- The requirement to wear a seatbelt does not apply where a vehicle is being used for carrying a person in lawful custody, however, seatbelts should be worn whenever possible, particularly by the driver and the custody
- Child locks must be used on the rear doors of all vehicles whilst conveying prisoners and it will be the responsibility of the driver to check they are operating
- Where a cage van is being used for the carriage of custodies, the escort will ideally occupy the seat nearest the cage so that they may keep the custody under observation at all times
- A dynamic risk assessment will determine whether the escorting officer should sit within the cage (if available) with the custody or not
- A compliant custody in a cage should be instructed to sit on one of the bench seats provided. However, where they refuse to do so, the ideal position for safety will be the seated position, with their back against the cage leading into the passenger compartment, and with their legs facing towards the rear door. This will ensure the minimum amount of movement should the driver of the van be forced to brake sharply
- Drivers of caged vans should be mindful that any sharp braking may cause the custody to fall. Protecting themselves in these instances, whilst handcuffed, may make them susceptible to injury
- When a cage, which is designed for more than one custody, is already occupied, officers must consider whether placing a second custody in the cage would present an increased risk and must be able to justify this action
- Custodies of the opposite sex should not be transported in a cage (unless they are related or there is an escorting officer present)
- Custodies who are, or have been, violent or assessed as presenting a continuing risk, and those suffering from mental health problems, must not be placed in a cage or containment area with another custody
- Officers are encouraged to consider the use of handcuffs whenever it may be necessary to ensure their own safety, the safety of others or the safety of the custody. The application of handcuffs is the use of physical force and as such it must be justified, refer to the Use of Force SOP for further guidance.
- A custody must never be handcuffed to a vehicle
- At all times officers must be aware of the risks associated with positional asphyxia. Therefore, transportation of custodies in the prone position, face down, or any other manner which is likely to increase this risk, should be avoided. If it is unavoidable, the custodies should be constantly monitored.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- Where a custody becomes violent, officers should, where practicable, stop the vehicle in order to prevent injury to the custody and themselves and only resume the journey once it is safe to do so. It may be more appropriate to call for assistance and to change to a vehicle specifically designed for prisoner transportation

7.4 Disabled Custodies

- 7.4.1 Where a custody is disabled and requires vehicle transport from the point of arrest to custody facilities, consideration should be given as to the 'suitability' of the associated vehicle in terms of accessibility, personal safety and the dignity of the individual.
- 7.4.2 Where a standard police vehicle is assessed to be 'unsuitable', the arresting officer should consider the use of an alternative vehicle such as a taxi that provides wheelchair access where appropriate.

7.5 Armed Forces in Uniform

- 7.5.1 If possible use a suitable police vehicle to protect the identity of the custody. For further information on this matter please refer to the Armed Forces Personnel SOP.

7.6 Transfer of Custodies in Scotland

- 7.6.1 A custody transfer may be instigated in the following circumstances;
- Where there is a requirement to create cell capacity in order to support front line policing. This includes consideration being given to factors which may impact custody capacity locally, such as court holidays, events and operations, etc.
 - Where there is a requirement for facilities for constant observations
 - To rationalise the number of officers engaged in constant observations duties
 - In the event of an unexpected custody centre closure
 - Any other scenario where transfer of a person in custody is deemed necessary
- 7.6.2 Where any of the above scenarios arise, it is the responsibility of the custody supervisor to escalate the matter to the FCI, who will provide further advice.
- 7.6.3 Refer to the CJSD – Custody Transfer Guidance for further guidance.

8. Custody Centre Procedures on Arrest (Non-Criminal Justice Functions)

8.1 General Considerations

- 8.1.1 The custody supervisor is responsible for the care and welfare of the custody from the point that the custody arrives at the custody centre. Arresting/escorting officers must adhere to instructions given by the custody staff.
- 8.1.2 The custody supervisor must be satisfied that proper grounds exist for the arrest or detention of an individual prior to accepting that person into police custody and those grounds are Proportionate, Lawful, Accountable, Necessary and Ethical (PLANE).
- 8.1.3 All custodies should be subject to reasonable and proportionate control at all times for the protection of staff and the custody. If the custody cannot be processed immediately, arresting/escorting officers must remain with their custody and ensure that he/she is properly controlled and monitored.
- 8.1.4 Arresting/escorting officers must inform the custody staff of any issues they have knowledge of that may affect the care and welfare of the custody whilst in police custody.
- 8.1.5 Where practicable the custody supervisor must see all persons brought into the custody suite. No custody should ever be taken directly to a cell without the knowledge and permission of the custody supervisor.
- 8.1.6 The custody supervisor, must be made aware of all custodies being processed and carry out the risk assessment, or review the risk assessment plan as soon as is reasonably practicable thereafter. The custody supervisor must make a timeous entry in the National Custody System to record this review. Section 9 Risk Assessment and Management refers.
- Note: The actual functions involved in the initial booking-in process, using the National Custody System, can be carried out by other trained members of the custody staff.
- 8.1.7 Custodies must be informed, in a manner they can understand, of the reason for their arrest. If a person is incapable of understanding the reason for their arrest, this may be delayed until they have recovered sufficiently to understand.
- 8.1.8 If the custody requires an appropriate adult then this should be arranged. Refer to the Appropriate Adult SOP for further information.
- 8.1.9 When a person whose first language is not English is taken into custody, the services of an approved interpreter should be obtained/considered in line with the Interpreting and Translating Services SOP.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

Note: When a person appearing at court from custody requires an interpreter, custody staff should follow local arrangements to inform the appropriate interpreting services.

8.1.10 It is essential that where a person is presented as arrested, all religious, cultural and dietary requirements must be ascertained. The general principle, in relation to a custody's care, is to grant any reasonable request which does not interfere with operational requirements or security.

8.1.11 In particular, basic human dignity is to be respected. Reference should be made to the Police Scotland Diversity Booklet - A Practical Guide for further guidance.

8.2 Rights of Accused Person

8.2.1 For further information consult the Criminal Justice Act Arrest Process SOP

8.2.2 A copy of a 'letter of rights' should be provided to every arrested person, in a language of their understanding unless there is a particular reason for not doing so. Where the letter is not given at the time the prisoner is being processed due to their demeanour or conduct, this should be recorded. The letter must be given to the prisoner at the earliest opportunity and in any case before any other criminal procedure is carried out.

8.3 Intimation to Solicitors

8.3.1 For further information consult the Criminal Justice Act Arrest Process SOP.

8.4 Solicitor Access

8.4.1 For further information consult the Criminal Justice Act Arrest Process SOP.

8.4.2 Any solicitor who wishes access to any person who is in custody should have in their possession an identification card provided by the Law Society of Scotland, which should be exhibited on arrival at the custody centre.

8.4.3 The 'Law Society Code of Conduct for Criminal Work, Article 4 (Identification of Solicitors)', provides that in the absence of a valid Law Society identification card, the following are acceptable forms of confirmation of identity for solicitors;

- A valid Council of the Bar and Law Societies in Europe (CCBE) Lawyer's Professional Identity Card; or
- A valid and current practising certificate together with a form of visual identification e.g. valid passport, photo card driving licence.

8.4.4 Trainee solicitors are not provided with identification cards at present, but they should be afforded access to clients on production of a letter from their firm, confirming their qualifications to make visits and a form of photographic identification. Unqualified persons, such as precognition agents and paralegals, will not be allowed to attend meetings with persons in custody.

- 8.4.5 In addition, only a solicitor or trainee solicitor who has been instructed by the accused may visit him/her in custody. Where the solicitor is instructed by a third party, e.g. the accused's family, it will be the solicitor's responsibility to check with the police that the person in custody has not requested another solicitor or the duty solicitor. The solicitor concerned must be specifically identified and/or approved by the accused.
- 8.4.6 Solicitors should refrain from giving persons in custody any items other than business cards and legal documents; these should be placed in the custody's property and not given to them within their cell. These items must not be capable of being used to self-harm or injure others. Staples, paper clips, etc. should not be attached to them when given to the custody. Any form of donation, such as cigarettes, newspapers, meals, money, etc. is forbidden.
- 8.4.7 Any suspected breach of the Code of Conduct is to be intimated to the custody supervisor who will be responsible for advising the FCI.
- 8.4.8 Custody staff escorting solicitors during visits should remain in close proximity at all times during a visit and be able to respond immediately to any issues arising, in order to provide for the safety of the solicitor.

8.5 Notification of Reasonably Named Person

- 8.5.1 For further information consult the Criminal Justice Act Arrest Process SOP.

8.6 Arrest of a Child

8.6.1 Definition of a child under Criminal Justice (Scotland) Act 2016

- 8.6.1.1 Child – There are many different definitions of a child across legislation. In relation to this SOP, The Criminal Justice Act Arrest Policy SOP and the associated Offending by Children SOP, a child is defined as under 18 years of age. It is essential, however, to understand that there are different provisions and associated duties for different age groups of children. In broad terms they can be broken down into two categories as follows:
- Those aged under 16 years of age and those under 18 who are subject to Compulsory Measures of Supervision under Section 199 of the Children's Hearing (Scotland) Act 2011 (hereafter referred to as under supervision).
 - Those aged 16 or 17 years of age who are not under Supervision.
- 8.6.1.2 For further information consult the Criminal Justice Act Arrest Process SOP for Criminal Justice (Scotland) Act 2016 procedures.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

8.6.2 Care and Welfare Considerations

- 8.6.2.1 Under no circumstances will child offenders be held within a cell with adult accused. Child offenders may be placed in a cell but preference must be given to the location of a cell that protects the child from surrounding adult custodies. A child should be risk assessed in the same way as any other detainee to ensure that the appropriate care plan is delivered. The visit and observation regime may vary depending on the specific needs of the child.
- 8.6.2.2 Where a child appears likely to be in custody for a period in excess of four hours, the general care and welfare considerations must be reviewed by the FCI, and where such is likely to exceed 12 hours such considerations must be subject to a formal review and endorsed by a Chief Inspector from Criminal Justice Services Division.
- 8.6.2.3 For further information regarding arrest and the retention of juveniles in custody please refer to Offending by Children SOP, Criminal Justice Act Arrest Process SOP and the Lord Advocate's Guidelines on Offences Alleged to have been Committed by Children.

8.7 Transgender People in Custody

- 8.7.1 When a custody discloses their transgender identity to a member of staff, the custody should be informed that there is a need to disclose this information for the prevention of crime or investigation of crime against that person. They should be assured that such disclosure will only be made when relevant.
- 8.7.2 The custody should be told to whom the information will be disclosed and the reason for the disclosure.
- 8.7.3 At staff handovers the transgender identity of a custody must be disclosed only to staff responsible for their care and welfare. Any specific care issues should be recorded and passed on to relevant staff.
- 8.7.4 It should be borne in mind that the Gender Recognition Act 2004 creates a criminal offence for anyone in an official capacity, such as a police officer or police staff, acquiring the protected information relating to a persons' transgender identity and thereafter disclosing it to a third party without the transsexual person's consent. Also refer to section 12.7.
- 8.7.5 Searching Transgender Custodies – Guidance can be found in this SOP at section 12.6 - Searching Transgender Persons in Custody
- 8.7.6 Reference should be made to the Police Scotland Diversity Booklet - A Practical Guide.

8.8 Voluntary Attendance at Custody Centres

- 8.8.1 The custody supervisor must be made aware of all voluntary attendees. This notification is the primary responsibility of the escorting officers. The escorting officers are to present the voluntary attendee at the custody centre.
- 8.8.2 All persons attending at a custody centre as a voluntary attendee must be recorded on the National Custody System, and sign the relevant local voluntary attendance form which can be lodged for any future court hearing. Further guidance can be found in the Criminal Justice Act Arrest Procedures SOP.
- Note: This does not include persons who are attending for the purpose of caution and charge.
- 8.8.3 The custody supervisor will clearly advise the person of the reason for the interview and that they are free to leave at any time. They will require the person to sign the relevant voluntary attendance form. Refusal to sign the relevant voluntary attendance form will result in the person being required to leave the police station and the voluntary attendance will cease.
- 8.8.4 It is good practice to consider asking a voluntary attendee to submit to a search prior to being taken into an interview room. However, this is to be risk assessed and is not necessary on every occasion.
- 8.8.5 A full risk assessment is not required and no risk management plan need be added to the custody record, however, custody staff remain responsible for the person's care and welfare whilst within the police building.
- 8.8.6 The custody supervisor will ensure that they remain sighted on any issues which may impact on the person's care whilst in the police building.

8.9 Detention of Defence Witnesses by Sheriff Officers

- 8.9.1 Sheriff Officers are responsible for the execution of apprehension warrants for defence witnesses who have failed to appear at court. The sheriff officers must have the warrant or a certified copy of the warrant in their possession. The identity of the persons apprehended must be certain, and it is the responsibility of the sheriff officers to provide the court escort on the next lawful day.
- 8.9.2 In terms of the National Custody System, the rights of accused are not to be read to the custody. They may be asked if they wish a solicitor/relative informed, but entries are to be made in the remarks/notes section and not in the rights of accused section.
- 8.9.3 If the custody is required to go to hospital, a police escort is required as the individual is still in police custody.

8.9.4 A custody removed to hospital must be accompanied at all times by a minimum of two police officers. There may be circumstances where this is not appropriate such as:

- When there is an immediate threat to life; or
- Where a dynamic risk assessment dictates that this is not possible

Note: In these circumstances the custody supervisor should notify the FCI and the rationale recorded on the National Custody System.

8.10 Home Office Immigration Enforcement Apprehensions

8.10.1 Home Office Immigration Enforcement (HOIE) teams will present custodies at custody centres for processing. The details of the arresting officers and the port reference number provided by HOIE should be noted on the National Custody System.

8.10.2 If the custody is required to go to hospital, a police escort is required as the individual is still in police custody.

8.10.3 Police Scotland can recover costs for each person apprehended under immigration legislation by HOIE or if arrested by the police, after consultation with HOIE.

8.11 Terrorist Detentions

8.11.1 Terrorist detentions will be led by a Counter Terrorism Senior Investigating Officer (CTSIO) who has ultimate responsibility to direct all aspects of the enquiry.

8.11.2 The Scottish Terrorist Detention Centre (STDC) is Scotland's purpose built facility for Terrorism Act 2000 (TACT) detentions. Interim Detention Facilities (IDF) also exist for this purpose. In the event of a spontaneous incident, specialist advice should be sought immediately from the Duty Officer, Service Overview (DO SOV) and the FCI notified.

8.11.3 The power to detain an individual suspected of committing acts of terrorism for extended periods of time and the specific offences are provided by the Terrorism Act (TACT) 2000.

8.11.4 The Organised Crime and Counter Terrorism Unit (OCCTU) is responsible for the activation of the STDC and IDF. The STDC can only be activated by the Assistant Chief Constable (ACC) OCCTU.

8.11.5 The security risks posed by those detained or arrested under TACT are potentially significant. Each case will be reviewed and assessed independently however they are likely to be identified as a high risk.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- 8.11.6 The CT Custody Sergeant at the STDC/ IDF will ensure cultural, religious, language and dietary requirements are met. If medical assistance is required, then the HCP should attend as normal.
- 8.11.8 If the custody is required to go to hospital, a police escort is required as the individual is still in police custody, however this will be coordinated by the CT SIO and Emergency, Event and Resilience Planning (EERP).

8.12 Foreign National Offenders and Asylum Seekers

- 8.12.1 The following procedures must be adopted in all instances where police officers identify a Foreign National Offender (FNO) i.e. a non UK national (or where there are reasonable grounds for believing the accused is a foreign national), who has committed a crime or offence and is;
- 18 years or over
 - Reported for an offence punishable by imprisonment
 - To be prosecuted in the Sheriff or High Court (Justices of the Peace cannot recommend deportation)
- 8.12.2 If the FNO's first language is not English, consideration should be made to contacting an interpreter (see Interpreting and Translating Services SOP). Consideration should also be given to all cultural, religious and dietary requirements.
- 8.12.3 All FNOs who come to the attention of the police and meet the stated criteria will be identified to HOIE by the arresting/reporting officer. See Appendix 'F' – Contact Directory for contact details.
- 8.12.4 When the FNO is presented to the custody supervisor at the place of arrest, the arresting officers should highlight that a check is required with the HOIE regarding the immigration status of the offender. This should be recorded on the National Custody System as appropriate and updated with the relevant information when HOIE has been contacted.
- 8.12.5 If an asylum seeker is arrested for committing a crime or offence, they should be treated in the same manner as any other person. Notification of the arrest should be given to HOIE.
- 8.12.6 All arrested FNOs including asylum seekers will be photographed, fingerprinted and subject to the taking of samples in the same way as any other arrested person. When an asylum seekers' fingerprint impressions have been obtained by ink, the relevant custody supervisor should contact staff at the Scottish Police Authority (SPA) and arrange for a copy of the fingerprints to be sent to New Scotland Yard. Such Notification does not require to be made when prints have been obtained by Livescan.
- 8.12.7 Article 36 of the Vienna Convention on Consular Relations by which the UK is bound, requires that a foreign national who is "arrested" or "detained in any other manner" be informed immediately of his/her right to communicate with his/her consul and if the national so desires his/her consul is to be informed of his/her arrest.

8.12.8 There is also a requirement for any communication addressed by the person concerned to the consul to be forwarded without delay. If the national does not, after having been informed of such rights, request such notification or communication there is no obligation to inform the consul concerned, however notable exceptions are listed below.

8.12.9 If the nationality of an arrested person is a country with a bilateral consular convention, custody staff must inform the relevant consulate of their arrest (except where the prisoner is a political refugee/asylum seeker) even if they are not in agreement.

8.12.10 Countries with bilateral consular conventions:

Armenia,	Georgia	Romania
Austria	Germany	Russia
Azerbaijan	Greece	Serbia

8.14 Notification of Detention of Certain Commonwealth Citizens

8.14.1 Particulars of the arrest of citizens of member countries of the Commonwealth will be notified to the High Commission involved.

8.14.2 The High Commissions do not require to be notified of the detention of any of their citizens who are also United Kingdom citizens.

8.14.3 A person's citizenship should be accepted as that which they claim and as that indicated by any available documents or other information.

8.14.4 Any commonwealth citizen being held in police custody for more than 24 hours must be told that if they wish, the relevant High Commission in London

9. Risk Assessment and Management

9.1 Risk Assessment

9.1.1 The risk assessment of a custody starts as soon as a police officer or member of police staff comes into contact with an individual.

9.1.2 The arresting officers have a responsibility to impart all information they have gained about the custody during their enquiry and interaction with them to the relevant custody staff. They should also seek information from family and friends if possible, and obtain any medication required if the apprehension is made at the home address.

9.1.3 The mental and physical health of a custody must be ascertained as soon as they arrive at the custody centre to assess their vulnerability.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

Note: Any custody, no matter what offence they have been arrested for, who is unable to walk unaided due to perceived intoxication and cannot suitably answer the risk management questions, should be immediately conveyed to a hospital or other medical centre.

Note: If it is known or suspected that a person in custody has swallowed or packed drugs, either for the purpose of trafficking or to avoid imminent arrest by the police, the person must be taken to the nearest hospital. Leakage from a package can prove fatal. Under no circumstances should such a person be kept at a custody centre. For further guidance refer to the Management Guidelines for Persons Suspected of Having Controlled Drugs Concealed Internally. The FCI must be informed of the circumstances.

- 9.1.4 Risk assessment involves asking relevant care questions to assess the risk that each custody presents to;
- themselves
 - other custodies
 - members of staff
 - any other persons entering the custody centre
- 9.1.5 To ensure all the checks are completed, the arresting/escorting officers/custody staff will complete the Force Form Custody Risk Assessment Checklist 051-001 on arrival at a custody centre. Custody staff can thereafter complete this form prior to the custody being placed in a cell.
- 9.1.6 The Risk Assessment Question Set is a format of questions that custody staff should ask all custodies. All answers must be accurately recorded on the National Custody System. If the custody answers 'Yes' to any of the questions, then he/she should be asked to expand on the response.
- 9.1.7 In addition, prior to the custody being placed in a cell the following checks must be completed;
- PNC/Criminal History System (CHS) Check
 - National Custody System
 - Adverse incident spreadsheet/noteworthy incidents
 - The arresting/escorting officers must be asked if there are any compliance or other issues that might affect the care of the custody
- 9.1.8 The PNC and CHS provide accurate and up-to-date recording of warning signals and information markers and should be considered the primary reference for accessing such information. When risk assessing the custody, consideration is to be given to nature, relevance and time lapsed from the date the warning signal was added.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- 9.1.9 It is the custody supervisor's responsibility to determine the response to any specific risk assessment. This should be recorded in the form of a risk management plan for each custody, which should be recorded on the National Custody System by way of a note/event or similar.
- 9.1.10 Any person who is suspected to be an Adult at Risk should be treated accordingly and appropriate information is to be recorded on the National Custody System. In such circumstances a referral will be submitted by the arresting officers to allow this information to be recorded, shared appropriately and the necessary support provided. For further guidance refer to the Adult Support and Protection SOP.
- 9.1.11 When a custody is transferred from any other custody centre, checks should be made to ensure the custody record is up-to-date. Should any details require clarification, enquiries must be made with the transferring centre for any relevant information regarding the custody.
- 9.1.12 Assumptions should never be made regarding any custody. Even being placed within a police cell can have a traumatic effect. Staff must inform the custody supervisor immediately of any concerns they have for custody. Staff must be mindful that custodies may withhold information or give false information.
- 9.1.13 Any concerns staff have for individual custodies should be recorded in the form of a note on the custody record within the National Custody System. The custody supervisor should be informed immediately. This ensures the custody supervisor and all other members of custody centre staff have access to this information.
- 9.1.14 The National Decision Making Model should be used throughout when assessing risk and making decision regarding the risk management plan.

9.2 Risk Management

- 9.2.1 Custody events (e.g. interview, caution and charge, visit from relatives, refusal of medication) or changing circumstances within the custody suite may impact on, or contribute to changes in a prisoner's mood or behaviour and the risk they pose to themselves or others. The custody supervisor and staff should review the risk posed to the individual at the key stages of their arrest period. The Risk Management Plan must record any relevant factors in relation to the care and welfare of the custody and should take into account the following points:

Risk Assessment Level:	High or Low
Reason for Risk Assessment Level:	E.g. PNC/CHS check reveals custody has 'suicidal' warning signal. Prisoner records check confirms suicide attempt on last period in custody.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

Observation Level:	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Constant Camera Observations• Door Open Observations• Door Closed Observations• Rousals at 15/30/60 minutes
Injuries/Illnesses:	Provide explanation for any injuries noted. Was medical assistance sought/provided? Outcome of medical exam and details of medical care plan as per HCP Examination Form

9.2.2 The custody supervisor must ensure that all members of staff are fully conversant with the risk management plan for each custody and manage them accordingly. It is therefore a requirement that comprehensive and contemporaneous notes are made regarding any relevant information learned about the custody.

Note: No personal information such as sexual orientation, transgender status, disabilities, etc. should be displayed outside of cells or on custody boards where other individuals, not engaged in their care, could view that information.

9.2.3 It is recognised that the vast majority of risk management plans will be informed from;

- the information provided by the custody in response to risk assessment questions detailed above
- PNC/CHS checks
- Information provided by arresting/escorting officers.

9.2.4 Where there is a need for further information the following non exhaustive list should be considered;

- Friends and/or relatives
- Witnesses
- Other police systems
- HCP
- Legal representatives
- Other custodies
- Other relevant bodies and organisations
- Violent and Sex Offender Register (ViSOR). This is indicated by a 'VS' marker on the PNC.

9.2.5 If a 'Restricted Patient', as highlighted by PNC/CHS check is in custody, the relevant offender management team should be contacted for further information. Outwith office hours custody staff should contact the Scottish Government Reshaping Care & Mental Health Directorate (SG RCMHD). See Appendix 'F' – Contact Directory

Note: Whilst special risks may be identified on PNC/CHS, these in themselves do not necessarily mean that the custody is high risk when completing the risk management plan. For example, a custody who is a special risk due to suffering from hepatitis, and presents with no other risk factors, will competently be assessed a 'special risk' who is a 'low risk' in terms of vulnerability.

9.3 Pre Release Risk Assessments

9.3.1 Police have a duty to ensure that those who are being released from custody are fit, able and prepared to look after themselves and that any identified risks are managed in particular where there is a risk of self harm. This involves taking all reasonable steps that a person being released is not a danger to themselves or others.

9.3.2 In order to achieve this it is essential a thorough pre-release risk assessment is carried out for every custody prior to release, including transfer to court.

The custody supervisor must ask every person being released the following questions to inform the pre-release assessment;

- Do you have thoughts of suicide or self-harm at this time?
- Do you have thoughts of harming any other person?

9.3.3 All responses must be recorded on the National Custody System. Where an individual answers yes to either question the custody supervisor must ensure advice is taken from a HCP and/or engagement with local policing to ensure the appropriate assessment is in place which may include a community impact assessment.

9.3.4 Whilst it is not possible to cover every possible scenario a number of issues should be considered prior to release;

- The time of day
- Location
- Weather conditions
- Clothing
- Means to get to home address
- The custody's personal ability to get home
- Custody's personal vulnerability and/or health

9.3.5 It is justifiable for the custody supervisor not to release a person from custody when there is clear and imminent danger to the custody including alternative approaches which have been considered. The custody must not be held any longer than absolutely necessary.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

9.3.6 A raised level of pre-release assessment should be carried out by the enquiry officer in consultation with the custody supervisor for custodies where the offence, circumstances or character of the custody suggest a potential risk. Examples of such circumstances include, but are not limited to;

- Sexual offending, especially indecent images of children.
- Members of the armed forces or police staff and officers
- Persons arrested who are in a position of trust
- Offences where the consequences are likely to have a substantial effect on the custody or their family.

9.3.7 The Custody Supervisor must also be alert to articles within a prisoner's property which could increase the prisoner's risk to harm on release, for example alcohol, unopened packets of psychoactive substances (sometimes known as legal highs), medication, etc.

9.3.8 In many circumstances it may be appropriate for the custody supervisor to offer appropriate advice and provide options (protective factors) which may support the prisoner's care and welfare on release. This may include:

- Contacting a responsible family member, relative, friend, carer or named person in order that the individual can be released into their care; and/or
- Providing the prisoner with contact details of available support agencies and/or voluntary organisations.

10. Custodies Hospitalised from Locus

10.1 In certain circumstances a custody must be taken directly to a hospital after apprehension rather than being taken to a custody centre. This is to ensure suitable medical assistance is provided at the earliest opportunity. This may require the arresting officers to summon an ambulance crew or remove the custody directly to hospital.

10.2 Any requirement for immediate or urgent medical provision takes priority over apprehension. These circumstances may include where the custody;

- Has suffered a head injury
- Is, or has been, unconscious
- Has suffered serious injury
- Is drunk and incapable
- Is believed to have swallowed or packed drugs
- Is believed to have taken a drugs overdose
- Is believed to have burst a package of drugs

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- Is suffering from any other medical condition requiring urgent medical attention
- Is suffering from any medical condition that the arresting officer believes requires treatment prior to detention in custody
- Has been exposed to CS Spray/PAVA Spray and they experience difficulty in resuming normal breathing, or if any other adverse reactions are observed

10.3 Where an ambulance crew have examined a custody at the locus of an apprehension and deem that the custody does not require medical attention, arresting officers must obtain details of the ambulance crew and their opinion of the custody's medical condition. This information must be accurately transmitted to the custody supervisor, who will assess if the custody requires any further medical attention on arrival at the custody centre. The custody supervisor must ensure this information is recorded on the National Custody System. In areas where the Scottish Ambulance Service provides written instructions for the custody's care, this document is to be taken and presented to the custody supervisor.

Note: Where a person in custody is removed from the locus of arrest directly to hospital, it is the responsibility of the arresting officers to ensure that the custody supervisor and the local policing supervisor are fully informed as soon as is reasonably practicable. A custody record will be created by the custody supervisor to ensure that the custody receives their rights as soon as is reasonably practicable, and allow for all decisions regarding the custody's further detention to be recorded accurately on the National Custody System.

10.4 When a custody is removed directly to hospital, and the custody is expected to be detained in hospital for an extended period, the arresting officers must, as soon as is reasonably practicable, contact the custody supervisor and their supervisory officer for further instruction, in relation to the custody's continued arrest and rights as an accused person. The custody supervisor is responsible for the custody decision.

10.5 Any custody who cannot walk unaided due to perceived intoxication and cannot suitably answer the risk management questions will not be accepted by the custody supervisor and should be taken to hospital or some other place of safety.

10.6 If it is known or suspected that a person in custody has swallowed or packed drugs, either for the purpose of trafficking or to avoid imminent arrest by the police, the person must be taken to the nearest hospital. Leakage from a package can prove fatal. Under no circumstances should such a person be kept at a custody centre. For further guidance refer to the Management Guidelines for Persons Suspected of Having Controlled Drugs Concealed Internally. The FCI must be informed of the circumstances.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

11. Custody Hospitalised from a Custody Centre

- 11.1 Many custodies will be more vulnerable, than the population at large, to sudden illness or death. Such vulnerability will be due to dependence on drugs and/or alcohol, mental illness, history of self-harm, involvement in violence before or during apprehension, or pre-existing medical conditions which may be exacerbated by the stress of custody.
- 11.2 If there is reason to believe that a child brought into custody is under the influence of alcohol or some other intoxicating substance or, is suffering from an apparent injury or illness, he/she should be regarded as a high risk custody and consideration must be given to taking the child to hospital or summoning a HCP.
- 11.3 If it is known or suspected that a person in custody has swallowed or packed drugs, the person must be taken to hospital. Leakage from a package can prove fatal.

Note: Under no circumstances should such a person be kept at a custody centre. For further guidance refer to the Management Guidelines for Persons Suspected of Having Controlled Drugs Concealed Internally. The FCI must be informed of the circumstances.

- 11.4 Where a custody has been removed to hospital, consideration should be given, dependent on their illness/condition, to contacting his/her reasonably named person/relative.

Note: Custodies detained in hospital are subject to the same restrictions as if they were within a custody centre, therefore, no visits to the custody will be permitted without the explicit permission of the custody supervisor.

11.5 Transfer to Hospital

- 11.5.1 A custody removed to hospital must be accompanied at all times by a minimum of two police officers. There may be circumstances where this is not appropriate such as;
- When there is an immediate threat to life
 - Where a dynamic risk assessment dictates that this is not possible
- 11.5.2 The FCI should be notified as soon as practicable and an appropriate course of action will be confirmed.
- 11.5.3 In any medical emergency, an ambulance should be called and the custody taken to hospital. Where an HCP has conducted a medical examination of a custody, and indicates that the person is unfit to be held at a custody centre, their instructions regarding the removal of that custody to a hospital should be followed.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- 11.5.4 The custody supervisor must ensure that Force Form 051-005 – Custody Division Hospital Escort detailing the events leading to the custody's removal to hospital is completed and accompanies the custody to hospital. In emergency cases it may not be possible to prepare the form and in such cases the escorting officer(s) will be verbally briefed and a form passed to them at the hospital as soon as practicable.
- 11.5.5 In cases where a custody is refused admission into a hospital the police still retain a duty of care for that person. If all efforts to have a custody examined and assessed fail, the custody will be returned to the custody centre. Clear instructions as to their care and transportation must be requested from health care staff and where possible this will be in writing and will include reasons why admission and/or treatment have been refused.
- 11.5.6 On their return to the custody centre the custody supervisor will assess each individual's fitness to be held and consider consulting with the HCP to establish the custody's suitability to remain in police custody.
- 11.5.7 For further information consult the Criminal Justice Act Arrest Process SOP.

11.6 Return from Hospital

- 11.6.1 Escorting officers will ensure that Force Form 051-005 – Custody Division Hospital Escort is completed on return from hospital, detailing written care instructions from hospital staff where provided, and returned with the custody. Where circumstances are such that the aforementioned form is not available e.g. custody removed to hospital direct from locus, officers should detail care instructions within their police issue notebook.
- 11.6.2 The escorting officers must inform the custody supervisor of all relevant information that may impact on the care and welfare of the custody. Any additional medical notes or information as well as the appropriate form, from the hospital relevant to the care of the custody must be given to the custody supervisor who will convey this information to the HCP.
- 11.6.3 On return to the custody centre from a hospital, a custody must be searched to ensure that they have not acquired items that could be used to harm themselves or others.
- 11.6.4 Where the custody removed to hospital has been treated and is certified "fit to be released" and returned to police custody, the custody supervisor will assess each individual's fitness to be held and if required consult with the HCP to establish the custody's suitability to remain in police custody. The custody supervisor must satisfy themselves that a person is fit to be detained in custody and should be prepared to challenge healthcare advice to ensure robust decision making.

12. Search

12.1 General Principles

- 12.1.1 It is the responsibility of the custody supervisor, custody staff and arresting/escorting officers to ensure that all custodies are subject to a thorough and methodical search.
- 12.1.2 All staff should utilise Ampel probes and metal detectors when appropriate.
- 12.1.3 The primary purpose in searching custodies is to ascertain and record everything a person has with him/her when brought to the custody centre and to remove any articles that;
- May be used by the custody to harm himself/herself or others
 - May be used to aid escape or cause damage
 - Requires safe keeping
 - Is evidence
- 12.1.4 Before conducting a search, officers must explain their intended actions to the custody.
- 12.1.5 Male custodies are to be searched by males and female custodies are to be searched by females. Where the search is to go beyond a normal search of clothing, it is to be conducted in private, away from the charge bar. For further information on transgender custodies refer to Police Scotland – Diversity Booklet – A Practical Guide.
- 12.1.6 At stations where the services of a male/female police officer or PCSO are not readily available to search a specific gender of prisoner, and at the approval of senior management, a suitable member of the community may be employed for the purpose of searching the custody. This practice is in place to assist processes in remote/island custody centres. Particular care must be exercised if there is any possibility of a custody having concealed sharps which could cause injury or ill health to the person(s) carrying out the search. Where appropriate an initial search by a police officer or PCSO trained in the use of Ampel probes is recommended.
- 12.1.7 Where available custody trained staff should perform the searching to ensure consistency. Custody staff and other persons who may be required to carry out any search, who have any exposed cuts, abrasions or burns must cover them with a waterproof dressing prior to searching custodies and use protective gloves during the search.
- 12.1.8 All personnel conducting searches must remain aware of the dangers of injury and the risk of transmission of diseases. Protective gloves should be worn when thought necessary and must be worn where blood or body matter is present.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- 12.1.9 Appropriate precautions and care should be taken when searching custodies who have been subject of CS/PAVA usage.
- 12.1.10 Both the extent and location of the search are decided by the custody supervisor, who should take into account all the relevant information available. There are three levels of search available, namely;
- Standard search
 - Strip search
 - Intimate search
- 12.1.11 Where the custody supervisor decides that a strip search or intimate search is necessary, the reasons and justification for this must be recorded on the National Custody System. If a strip search is carried out it must be authorised by an officer holding the rank of at least Sergeant. For all cases of intimate and internal searches officers should record all direction given by Procurator Fiscal (PF) in their official police notebooks. Further information in relation to intimate and internal searches can be found in the Drugs Investigation SOP.
- 12.1.12 Where it is deemed proportionate and necessary to remove all clothing from a prisoner for longer than the duration of a strip search, the FCI must made aware (see section 19.8.4 for further direction).
- 12.1.13 Where a strip search has been authorised under stop and search powers, please refer to Stop and Search Guidance. The custody supervisor must ensure that details of the authorising Inspector are recorded on the National Custody System.

12.2 Standard Search

- 12.2.1 Before conducting the search, officers/PCSO must explain their intended actions to the custody in a language that they understand, utilising interpreters where required. The custody should be visually examined to identify any likely places of concealment.
- 12.2.2 The custody must be asked if he or she is in possession of any sharp or potentially dangerous items. If possession of any such dangerous item is admitted, the searching officer must carefully remove the item, restricting the likelihood of being injured or of having the item used as a weapon against him or her.
- 12.2.3 Hand-held metal detectors, Ampel probes and 'cell sense or similar devices', if available, should be utilised when searching all custodies. This is particularly important for suspected drug users, who may have in their possession syringes and/or needles.
- 12.2.4 The custody must be asked if he/she is secreting any other article e.g. cigarettes, matches, mobile phone or drugs on his/her person. Such articles should be removed, and seized, disposed of or added to the custody's property, as appropriate. All items removed should be checked and if damaged the custody should be shown this, where practicable. Any damage should be recorded on the National Custody System.

- 12.2.5 The custody supervisor is responsible for causing the removal of any item of clothing which a person in custody may do harm to themselves or others. The following items should always be removed no matter what the circumstances; ties, belts, trouser cord, and any other item that could be used as a ligature. It is not appropriate to cut a trouser cord as part of the cord may remain stitched into the garment and could be unpicked and used to self-harm. If unable to be removed, the custody should be asked to remove trousers and be provided with appropriate clothing.
- 12.2.6 If a custody's underwear e.g. bra, tights, etc. are removed, the reason for the removal is to be detailed on the National Custody System.
- 12.2.7 Discretion should be exercised over the removal of tight-fitting rings or earrings. There is no point in forcible removal unless there is a pressing need for it. Similar discretion should be exercised in relation to other body adornments, including religious or cultural items. A custody should only be permitted to retain any jewellery/adornments after a full dynamic risk assessment. In all cases this should be recorded in the property section of the National Custody System.
- 12.2.8 A description of all of the custodies property should be included within the property field of the National Custody System. For further information refer to section 13 of this SOP – Custody's Property.
- 12.2.9 If a custody normally wears glasses, hearing-aid, dentures, etc. consideration should only be given to removing such items, prior to them being placed within a cell/detention room, if the risk assessment identifies that the custody represents a particular risk. Any items removed should be recorded in the property section of the National Custody System. If the custody requires these items to understand what is being communicated to them, they should be provided for that purpose.
- 12.2.10 All custodies removed from cells for interview, medical examination or any other reason must be searched prior to being returned to a cell and an update to this effect made on the National Custody System.
- 12.2.11 Custodies transferring from another custody centre or prison (for an identification parade) must be searched both prior to leaving and entering a cell at the new location.

12.3 Strip Searching

- 12.3.1 Strip search is the removal and examination, in stages, of all clothing, with a visual, external examination of the body. Further information in relation to intimate and internal searches can be found in the Drugs Investigation SOP.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- 12.3.2 Where it is decided that the custody should be subject to a strip search, the reason for this should be recorded on the National Custody System. The name of the authorising officer, of at least the rank of Sergeant, should also be included.
- 12.3.3 The arresting or detaining officers in relation to searches under the Misuse of Drugs Act should record all relevant information that supports the requirement to strip search in their notebooks. The following should thereafter be followed;
- The reason for the search must be fully explained to the custody (refer to Interpreting and Translating Services SOP if required)
 - The search will be conducted by a minimum of two members of staff who are the same gender as the custody within a private area with no recording CCTV
 - Officers/staff must maintain proper control over the subject
 - The custody's dignity should be preserved at all times. Where possible only one item of clothing should be removed at a time and searched before being returned to the subject prior to the removal of the next item.
 - A visual examination only should be conducted for areas of intimate nature and in no way should any attempt be made to remove items which are concealed internally. Reasonable force can be used to facilitate a visual examination only
 - Strip searches must be carried out in private. Cells equipped with CCTV may be used but only if the camera and/or monitor is switched off, preventing staff not involved in the search from viewing it. Any footage subsequently obtained will be available to an authorised person should any allegations be made against the staff conducting the search. This footage will not be available as evidence against the conduct of the detainee during the search, unless an offence is committed by him/her during this process other than a straightforward 'obstruct' offence.

12.4 Intimate Search

- 12.4.1 An intimate search must only take place with either the custody's voluntary consent or under the authority of a Sheriff's warrant, where, in the interests of justice and to obtain evidence it is necessary to carry out a search of body orifices of;
- A person arrested
 - A person detained at a Police Station for the purposes of search authorised by statute, e.g. Section 23(2) of the Misuse of Drugs Act 1971, the Terrorism Act 2000, etc.
- 12.4.2 Where it is known or suspected that a custody has concealed any article or substance in a body orifice, the custody is to be conveyed to a hospital for treatment. The examination by an HCP can only take place with the consent of the custody.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

12.4.3 Where a search warrant is obtained for this purpose, the search is to be carried out by an authorised HCP, only in hospital premises within an Accident and Emergency Department (A&E), for which local arrangements should be in place. The custody should be removed immediately to A&E and should not be held at a police station pending issue of the warrant. Further information in relation to intimate and internal searches can be found in the Drugs Investigation SOP

12.4.4 A police officer of the same gender as the custody is to be present to corroborate the search.

Note: Where there is a need to detain an individual beyond the first lawful day following their arrest, the officer seeking such a warrant must ensure that they request the place of detention is a hospital and under no circumstances should they request that the custody be held at a custody centre.

12.5 Searching Persons Wearing Cultural/Religious Clothing or Articles

12.5.1 All searches in custody must be carried out with respect and dignity. Custodies wearing cultural or religious clothing/articles may be sensitive to removing them. Therefore, a clear explanation of the requirement for the search should be provided to the custody.

12.5.2 Consideration should be given to the location of the search for privacy and the gender of staff present.

12.5.3 Further guidance can be found in the Police Scotland Diversity Booklet – A Practical Guide

12.5.4 Any articles of property authorised by the custody supervisor to be retained by the custody due to cultural or religious reasons must be risk assessed and documented in the National Custody System.

12.6 Searching Transgender and Intersex Persons in Custody

12.6.1 A transsexual person is someone who proposes to, starts or has completed a process to change his or her gender. There is not a requirement for a person to be under medical supervision to be protected – so a woman who decides to live permanently as a man but does not undergo any medical procedures would be covered.

12.6.2 A transvestite adopts, either fully or partially, dress, appearance and/or behavior normally identified as belonging to the opposite gender.

12.6.3 Transvestites are generally comfortable with their birth gender and do not wish to permanently alter the physical characteristics of their bodies.

12.6.4 Intersex is a term that describes people born with physical sex characteristics that do not fit typical binary notions of male or female bodies.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- 12.6.5 If a custody is thought or known to be transgender or intersex prior to a search being carried out, then they should be searched according to the gender they present and live their lives as. This can be ascertained by asking them. Police officers and trained PCSO staff should treat the person according to their preference and must not ask the person whether they have a gender recognition certificate.
- 12.6.6 If a custody is unwilling to provide this information the custody supervisor must determine the predominant gender in which the person lives their life. This is likely to be indicated by their name, title or gender on their main identity documentation such as their drivers' license, bank cards, Gender Recognition Certificate, etc. If they appear to live predominantly as a woman, they should be treated as a woman. If they appear to live predominantly as a man, they should be treated as a man.
- 12.6.7 Once the custody's gender has been established, normal search procedures will apply and the custody will be searched by staff of that gender. If staff are not comfortable to carry out the search, then the custody supervisor should be informed.
- 12.6.8 It should be borne in mind that the Gender Recognition Act 2004 creates a criminal offence for anyone in an official capacity, such as a police officer or police staff, acquiring the protected information relating to a persons' transgender identity and thereafter disclosing it to a third party without the transsexual person's consent.
- 12.6.9 Reference should be made to the Police Scotland Diversity Booklet – A practical guide

12.7 Confidentiality

- 12.7.1 The confidentiality of medical information of any nature, and the need for care and discretion in its use is paramount. Disclosure and use of such information must not go beyond what is essential in each particular case.

12.8 Police Officer/PCSO Injured During Search

- 12.8.1 Where a police officer/PCSO is injured as a result of a 'needle stick' accident involving a hypodermic needle, the injured party should encourage the wound to bleed and thereafter immediately wash the area with soap and water.
- 12.8.2 Splashes of blood or other body fluids to the face should be rinsed off using water.
- 12.8.3 Where available, a HCP should be consulted prior to the officer/PCSO being transferred to the nearest hospital; however this must not delay their attendance at an Accident and Emergency (A&E) Department. It is essential that any treatment considered necessary be administered without delay.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- 12.8.4 The incident will be reported as an injury on duty in the normal manner and contact made with Occupational Health (OH), via the police officer/PCSO's line manager, for further guidance.
- 12.8.5 Any other injury should be recorded as an injury on duty and scope form completed accordingly. Medical attention should be sought, where appropriate.

12.9 Personal Identification Devices (PIDs) or Electronic Tags

- 12.9.1 Once a person who is subject to an electronically monitored movement restriction condition (imposition of bail) is arrested, the individual should be taken to the nearest custody centre. Further guidance, including how to remove the device, and contact details are provided in the Electronic Monitoring of Offenders SOP.

12.10 Prosthetic Limbs

- 12.10.1 There may be occasions where custodies have limb prostheses, which can include upper and lower extremities. The prosthetics should be searched to ensure there is nothing concealed that could injure the prisoner or others. Consideration should be given to carrying out the search in private and at all times with dignity and respect.
- 12.10.2 The custody supervisor must record that the custody has a prosthesis and identify which limb is prosthetic. The decision to allow the custody to wear the prosthesis in the cell will be taken by the custody supervisor. Considerations should include; vulnerability, dignity, comfort and mobility of the custody, etc. The reason should be recorded on the National Custody System.

13. Custody's Property

13.1 General

- 13.1.1 The importance of procedures relating to the recording and safe handling of custodies property should not be underestimated. All custody supervisors and custody staff must take great care when fulfilling these duties. Any item(s) found which present a danger to others must be carefully removed, properly packaged and labelled.
- 13.1.2 A custody's property should be checked over in front of the custody and in the sight of the custody CCTV system, where available. All cash sums should be counted out audibly for the benefit of the custody and the audio recording facility on the CCTV system. This is particularly relevant when the custody is under the influence of alcohol or drugs. It is good practice to have this process corroborated.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- 13.1.3 Any property in the possession of the custody which is to be taken as a production should be seized by the arresting/enquiry officers. This must be recorded on the National Custody System, detailing the item, the name and registered number of the officer seizing and the name of the officer in charge of the case. Arresting/enquiry officers should also record the details of property retained as productions in their official police notebooks.
- 13.1.4 Once a custody has been searched, comprehensive recording of his or her property must be detailed on the property section of the National Custody System and proper storage methods adopted. Any items which are being allowed to remain with the custody should be recorded as such and the reason why e.g. glasses.
- 13.1.5 Consideration should be given to lodging large sums of money, £500 and over, or small valuable items in the custody area safe. The location and reason for lodging property in this manner must be recorded in the National Custody System.
- 13.1.6 In listing details of a custody's property, generalisations should be used carefully. A 'bag containing clothing' may be an appropriate generalisation, but a 'handbag and contents' would be insufficient, where the handbag contained items such as bank cards, driver's licence or other items of identification.
- 13.1.7 Detailed recording of custody's jackets and shoes will assist if there is any dubiety on release or to assist in an enquiry. Such items should be listed separately.
- 13.1.8 Property taken possession of by the police for the custody after he/she has been initially processed, e.g. a change of clothing, must be recorded on the National Custody System and stored appropriately. Staff must confirm full personal details of the custody prior to accepting any additional property. Any additional items must be thoroughly searched prior to being given to the custody. The person providing a change of clothing should take away the old/soiled clothing, and the National Custody System should be updated to record this.
- 13.1.9 With the introduction of the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002 (POCA), it is important that financial intelligence is derived from every available resource and recorded on the Scottish Intelligence Database (SID) for evaluation by various units, such as the Financial Investigation Unit (FIU). The arresting officers will be responsible for updating SID and seizing any articles suspected of being proceeds of crime. Further guidance can be found within the Productions SOP.
- 13.1.10 Any property or clothing which is contaminated by CS Spray should be clearly marked as such to highlight the risk of cross contamination to other person or external agencies on transfer.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- 13.1.11 Medication brought in by the custody must be recorded on the National Custody System, but may be stored in a suitable location such as a locked medical cabinet for review by the HCP. The location of the medication must be added to the custody record.

13.2 Custody Property Bags

- 13.2.1 Custody property bags are to be used for custody property and secured by means of an individual custody seal. Valuable property and cash (less than £500 – see section 13.1.5 for higher sums of money) are to be placed in the inside pocket of the property bag, which can be sealed separately. It is of the utmost importance that cash and other items of value which have been withheld are properly and accurately recorded on the National Custody System. The outside pocket is for the storage and transfer of documents that do not require to be sealed.
- 13.2.2 Where property is too large to be placed in a property bag, it is to be placed in the larger heavy-duty bags and secured by means of an individually numbered security seal. This security seal number must be recorded in the property section of the National Custody System.
- 13.2.3 If property has to be removed from the property bag prematurely, the custody supervisor is to ensure that the property is placed within a new property bag and the new unique serial number recorded on the National Custody System, together with the reason for removing items from the original property bag.
- 13.2.4 The custody's approval must be provided for the handing over of property, such as keys, money etc. to a relative. The custody should sign the property record to confirm his/her approval.

13.3 Return of Custody's Property

- 13.3.1 When property is returned to a custody by a police officer/PCSO, it is good practice to have the process corroborated or recorded on CCTV where available.
- 13.3.2 In the presence of the custody, the custody supervisor or other officer will;
- Ensure the tamper-proof integrated seal on the custody's property bag is intact and that the unique serial number corresponds with the number on the National Custody System
 - Open the property bag and return the property, ensuring that it is checked against the recorded property
 - Have the custody sign the custody record acknowledging receipt of the property
 - Check that the custody's property bag is empty
 - Update the National Custody System

14. Cell Occupancy Levels

14.1 Whenever possible, only one custody is to be placed in each cell. Lodging more than one person in a cell is a tactical option which should be considered when all other options have been exhausted. In any case, multi-celling should only be considered after assessment of the following options;

- Transfer of prisoners to another site
- Robust review of existing disposal decisions

14.2 In addition the following factors should be considered;

- Prospective length of stay of custody
- The offence committed, particularly if it will attract adverse attention
- A custody's demeanour
- Medical risks
- A custody's mental or physical vulnerability to attack by other custodies
- Cultural differences and religious requirements
- The custody's willingness to share.

14.3 If multiple cell occupancy is the appropriate tactical option, the following criteria must be adhered to at all times;

- Custodies apprehended together, co-accused or custodies who for any reason are likely to disagree with each other are not to be placed in the same cell
- Children must not be detained in cells along with adult custodies
- Male and female custodies are to be kept in separate cells and, wherever possible, in separate areas within the cell accommodation
- If known, or suspected, of being a carrier of an infectious disease or infestation, or if they have been emitting blood or bodily fluids, a custody should be placed in single cell occupancy
- Consideration must be given to cultural differences and religious requirements
- Where a custody has identified their transgender identity, they must not be placed in a cell or detention room with another custody and should be placed in single cell occupancy;
- Custodies under the influence of alcohol, drugs or other intoxicants or where they are violent or aggressive should not be considered for multi occupancy.

14.4 Once allocated, the cell or detention room number must be recorded on the National Custody System.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- 14.5 When multiple occupancy of cells is necessary the custody supervisor must record his/her action on the National Custody System, and visits to multiple occupancy cells must be made more frequently than the hourly minimum requirement to ensure the safety and well-being of custodies. In particular, dignity must be respected, e.g. any request for private toilet facilities should be granted. Care should be taken when liberating or transferring custodies from a multiple occupancy cell to ensure custodies are properly identified. Custody supervisors must consider staff safety when utilising multi cell occupancy.
- 14.6 A risk assessment must be carried out when the option of multi occupancy is used and recorded on each custody's record.
- 14.7 Where cell multi occupancy is employed, it should only be done for as short a time is practicable in the circumstances and single occupancy resumed as soon as practicable.
- 14.8 All instances where multi cell occupancy is employed must be authorised by the FCI.

15. Custody Visits

15.1 Frequency of Visits

- 15.1.1 The custody supervisor must personally inspect all custodies at the start and finish of each shift and when there is a transfer of responsibility for the custody, e.g. at shift changeover. It is important that shift changeovers include a thorough briefing on custody status; refer to the Custody Officer Handover Aide Memoire at Appendix 'G'.
- 15.1.2 All custodies detained in cells are to be visited at least once per hour. It is good practice to conduct visits at irregular intervals, reducing the opportunities for custodies to commit acts that would put their safety at risk.
- 15.1.3 At each visit, all custodies must be roused and spoken to and are to give a distinct verbal response which must be noted on the Prisoner Contact Record, where present, or within the National Custody System. The only exception will be when an HCP has given a direction that continued hourly rousing will have a detrimental effect on a custody due to a specific medical condition. In such circumstances a full rationale including medical opinion must be recorded on the relevant custody record.

Note: Where a custody may have difficulty in providing a distinct verbal response e.g. non English speaking, hearing/speech impairment, etc., An alternative distinct response must be recorded e.g. written, sign, use of cue cards, etc. In every case the custody supervisor must be satisfied with the means given to indicate the response.

- 15.1.4 Where practicable, the person who carried out the last visit should conduct the next check. Continuity in checks is good practice as it allows evaluation of any changes in the custody's condition and potential risks involved.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- 15.1.5 High Risk Custody – The custody supervisor must ensure that custodies who present a high risk are considered for constant observations or more frequent visits, at 15 minute or 30 minute intervals, depending on the risk management plan and/or medical care plan.
- 15.1.6 Notwithstanding the circumstances detailed in section 10.5, there may be occasions where a person is deemed high risk due to their level of impairment. In such circumstances, the observation level should be 'constant' or 'frequent' with visits every 15 minutes. This will allow the level of intoxication to be closely monitored and should be continued until signs of improvement.
- 15.1.7 The majority of custody checks can be conducted from the cell door hatch, however if the custody cannot be roused and spoken to, then custody staff conducting the visit must enter the cell and obtain the necessary response.
- 15.1.8 Any entry to a cell must be dynamically risk assessed and consideration given to the custody's previous demeanour; this will determine how many officers/PCSOs are required.
- 15.1.9 The following Observation Checklist, detailed below, must be used when entering a cell to assess a custody's level of response. If any custody fails to meet any of the criteria, medical assistance must be called;
- (a) Level of response – Can he/she be wakened?
- Go into the cell
 - Call his/her name
 - Shake gently.
- (b) Response to questions – Can he/she give appropriate answers to questions? Such as;
- What's your name?
 - Where do you live?
 - Where do you think you are?
- (c) Response to Command – Can he/she respond appropriately to commands? Such as;
- Open your eyes
 - Lift one arm, now the other arm.
- (d) Remember – Take into account the possibility or presence of other illnesses, injury or mental condition.
- (e) A person who is drowsy and smells of alcohol may also have the following;
- Diabetes

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- Epilepsy
- Head Injury
- Drug ingestion or overdose
- Stroke.

IF IN DOUBT, CALL AN AMBULANCE

- (f) Custody staff are responsible for ensuring that ambulance staff are given a full and comprehensive briefing on the custody's circumstances including;
- Circumstances leading to arrest
 - Answers to risk assessment questions and care plan agreed
 - Any previous medical advice, intervention or medication
 - Any other information which may be relevant to the custody's care or welfare.

15.2 Recording of Visits

- 15.2.1 Every visit made to a custody must be recorded on the relevant Prisoner Contact Record (PCR). A distinct verbal response must be sought from the custody during the course of the visit which should be noted accurately on the PCR.

Note: If the custody centre has less than five cells a PCR will not be used and the recording of visits will be completed within the custody record.

- 15.2.2 Any material or unusual change in personality or behaviour of a custody must immediately be brought to the attention of the custody supervisor. The circumstances should be recorded on the National Custody System, together with any action taken.
- 15.2.3 If there is any reason to believe that a custody is suffering from illness or injury the custody supervisor is to summon an HCP or arrange for the removal of the custody to a hospital by ambulance. This is also applicable when the custody has neither complained of his/her condition nor requested the services of an HCP.

15.3 Visits to Custodies by Relatives or Friends

- 15.3.1 The friends or relatives of a custody over 18 years of age, have no automatic right of access to the custody. The custody supervisor may, at their discretion, permit a brief visit. The custody must be properly supervised during the visit, to ensure that no property is passed without permission. Any visits should be recorded on the National Custody System.

15.3.2 For rights of under 18s to have access to other persons please consult Criminal Justice Act Arrest Process SOP.

15.3.3 Regarding search of all visitors to a custody centre, please consult the Criminal Justice Act Arrest Process SOP.

15.3.4 Refer to Section 11 - Custody Hospitalised from a Custody Centre for custodies detained at hospital.

15.4 Movement of Custodies within Custody Centres

15.4.1 All movement of custodies to and from cells e.g. obtaining Criminal Justice (CJ) samples, solicitor interviews/visits, washing, etc. must be clearly recorded as appropriate

15.4.2 All custodies removed from cells for any reason must be properly controlled and supervised throughout. They must also be searched prior to being returned to a cell and all movements recorded.

16. Adverse Incidents (Definitions)

16.1 Types

16.1.1 There are two types of adverse incidents within the custody environment, namely;

- Adverse incident
- Serious adverse incident

16.2 Adverse Incident

16.2.1 An adverse incident is defined as:

“An adverse incident in police custody where injury sustained was minor or no injury was sustained but there was a risk of harm”.

16.3 Serious Adverse Incident

16.3.1 Serious adverse incident is defined as:

“An adverse incident in police custody where injury sustained was serious such as deep cut, laceration, fracture, damage to internal organs, impairment of normal bodily function or where death takes place”.

16.3.2 Reference should be made to the Adverse Incidents in Police Custody Guidance document and the Death or Serious Injury in Police Custody SOP.

16.4 Reporting Procedures for Adverse Incidents

16.4.1 Where an 'adverse incident' or 'serious adverse incident' takes place the following procedure must be carried out;

- Custody Adverse Incident Report - Force Form 051 -002 must be completed and sent to the Cluster Inspector for the relevant area prior to the custody supervisor going off duty and copied to Custody Division Divisional Co-ordination Unit (DCU).
- Depending on the circumstances of the adverse incident, e.g. internal concealment of drugs, use of any item to harm others, self-harm or attempt to commit suicide, consideration should be given to immediately informing the Cluster Inspector and FCI.
- Cluster Inspectors/FCI/Custody On Call Chief Inspector should be informed immediately of any serious adverse incident. It will be the responsibility of the On Call Chief Inspector to escalate to Custody Senior Management after assessment and inform other parties such as Professional Standards, Local Policing, etc.

16.4.2 Please refer to the Adverse Incidents in Police Custody Guidance document and the Death or Serious Injury in Police Custody SOP for further guidance.

16.5 Immediate Updating of Warning Signals on Police National Computer /Criminal History System

16.5.1 Where a custody has been involved in an adverse incident, e.g. he/she has attempted to commit suicide or self-harm in a police cell, it is imperative that the custody's PNC/CHS record is updated immediately to reflect the risk posed. This will ensure that any subsequent periods in custody are managed appropriately. It will be the responsibility of the custody supervisor to ensure the appropriate warning signals/markers are updated on the custody's record.

17. Public Order Custody Extraction

17.1 In circumstances where a cell extraction requires the use of public order resources, authorisation can be granted by the DO SOV.

17.2 Custody supervisors should in the first instance contact the FCI who will thereafter seek authority from DO SOV.

18. Medical Provision

18.1 General

18.1.1 Medical provision for custody is the responsibility of National Health Service (NHS) Scotland. Should medical advice and/or assistance be required in relation to any custody, it is the responsibility of the custody supervisor to make direct contact with the HCP.

- 18.1.2 Any reference to a HCP includes Doctors, Nurses and Paramedics. A custody should be seen by an HCP if there is any reason to believe that they;
- Are suffering from any illness or injury including alcohol and drug withdrawal if applicable
 - Have taken drugs, including New Psychoactive Substances (NPS – legal highs)
 - Have consumed any other substance which might conceivably cause harm
 - Have indulged in solvent abuse
 - Are a pregnant female
 - Appear to be suffering from a mental illness
 - Whose condition is such to suggest that he/she requires medical assistance
- 18.1.3 The custody supervisor is to discuss the case with the HCP to determine whether a visit is required or not, or to arrange for the removal of the custody to hospital, even though the custody may have not complained of their condition nor requested the services of a HCP.
- 18.1.4 Particular care is to be taken in relation to custodies who are;
- drunk or
 - under the influence of drugs
 - a combination of a head injury and alcohol/drugs.
- 18.1.5 If a custody appears to be drunk and drowsy, they are to be placed in the recovery position and medical assistance summoned IMMEDIATELY.
- 18.1.6 Where there is immediate concern for the health of a custody, notwithstanding that an HCP has been summoned, they are to be removed IMMEDIATELY to the nearest hospital by ambulance. The custody supervisor may have the custody transported to hospital by police vehicle where there is a delay in the arrival of an ambulance and the circumstances warrant immediate attention. In all cases, the hospital should be advised of the imminent arrival of a custody, together with details of symptoms.
- 18.1.7 Staff escorting the custody should be fully briefed by the custody supervisor and ensure a clear view and verbal communication with the custody is maintained throughout the journey. Further reference in this SOP should be made to section 11.5 - Transfer to Hospital.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

18.2 Medical Examination

18.2.1 When a custody is examined by a HCP, details of the medical care plan must be passed to the custody supervisor and recorded on the National Custody System along with any other relevant information and must include;

- Fit to be detained Yes/No
- Observation frequency/reason
- Medication required
- Who can administer
- Review frequency and
- Name of HCP.

18.3 Management of Medication

18.3.1 The management of all medication given to an individual whilst in police custody is the responsibility of the HCP.

18.3.2 Police officers/PCSO may assist in the administration of medication to individuals whilst in police custody, only when the HCP is satisfied that it is appropriate for them to exercise this function.

18.3.3 When satisfied that the administration of medication to an individual whilst in police custody can safely be carried out by either a police officer/PCSO, the HCP should confirm this in writing within the medical care plan.

18.3.4 Where a custody is apprehended at his/her home address, the arresting officers should, when practicable, ask if the custody has any prescribed medication. If so, it should be included with the custody's property and brought to the attention of the custody supervisor when presenting the custody. Where possible the medication should be contained within the original packaging, clearly labelled with administration instructions thereon.

18.3.5 Custodies may also be in possession of prescribed or proprietary brand drugs. In these circumstances, the advice of the HCP must be obtained prior to dispensation of any medication.

18.4 Administration of Medication

18.4.1 Where applicable, medication must be dispensed directly from the approved final delivery device. The distribution of medication should take place independently of any other function and it is considered best practice to use a trolley to place delivery device on when dispensing medication to custodies. Custody staff must ensure that the correct type and amount of medication is given to the appropriate custody. Staff must supervise the taking of the medication to ensure, as far as is possible, the medication has been swallowed.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

18.4.2 Particular care must be exercised when dispensing medication to custodies located in multiple occupancy cells. Custody staff must satisfy themselves as to the identity of the custody who is to receive medication.

18.4.3 The administering of methadone to prisoners is strictly governed and must only be done by healthcare staff. Whilst this is the responsibility of the NHS, custody staff are responsible for the care and welfare of the custody and still have a vital role to play in ensuring that the method is safe and secure. It is commonplace for methadone to be prescribed in glass bottles. However, healthcare staff should decant this into a safe and suitable non glass item before it is handed to any prisoner. To that end all escorting custody staff must ensure that healthcare professionals are complying with the correct process at all times i.e. under no circumstances should a prisoner be given a glass bottle or item at any time.

18.5 Recording of Medication and Dosage

18.5.1 All medication given to a custody must be recorded on the National Custody System. The exact type and quantity/dose of medication should be recorded, e.g. One Valium five milligrams, plus one Librium and the time administered.

18.5.2 Any unused medicines should be disposed of safely by local arrangements.

18.6 Custodies Affected By CS/PAVA Spray

18.6.1 The custody supervisor should be notified immediately of the arrival of a person exposed to CS Spray/Captor PAVA Spray and the National Custody System endorsed accordingly. Any person who thereafter has contact with the custody or their possessions should be notified of the custody's exposure to CS Spray/Captor PAVA Spray. If the custody is to attend court their Personal Escort Record form (PER) and property should be clearly marked to highlight the exposure to CS Spray/Captor PAVA Spray.

18.6.2 For further guidance on CS Spray/Captor PAVA Spray decontamination and aftercare procedures refer to Appendix 'H' – CS Incapacitant Spray Decontamination and Aftercare Procedures.

18.7 Custodies Affected by the Application of TASER

18.7.1 The custody supervisor should be notified immediately of the arrival of a person exposed to Taser and the National Custody System endorsed accordingly. Any person who, thereafter, has contact with the custody should be notified of the custody's exposure to Taser. If the custody is to attend court their PER form should be clearly marked to highlight the exposure to Taser.

18.7.2 In addition, the following specific procedures will be applied to all people held in custody who have been subject to the effects of a Taser device;

- They must be seen by an HCP as soon as possible, unless they have collapsed or are in shock, in which case they must be immediately

conveyed to hospital by appropriate means

- If placed in a cell, where at all possible, that cell should be an observation cell and until they are seen by an HCP or treated in hospital, the custody must be subject to a visit at least every 15 minutes. Where an observation cell is unavailable, the custody supervisor must exercise caution in making an appropriate decision on supervision with a view to ensuring the health and safety of the custody. Following medical examination of the custody the observation regime will be in accordance with the guidance of the HCP;
- They will not be considered fit for interview until seen by an HCP or treated in hospital.
- Must be personally handed Force Form 064-012 – Information for Persons Subject to Taser regarding aftercare following exposure to Taser.

18.8 Dirty Protests

- 18.8.1 Occasionally custodies will display their dissatisfaction at being detained within a police cell by carrying out a 'dirty protest'. In essence, this means that they will cover the cell walls and floors in their own excrement. If this occurs, an HCP should be contacted and an assessment of the custody's psychological state made, with regard to his/her suitability for continued detention.
- 18.8.2 Consideration should also be given to removing the custody to another cell, if this is at all possible, taking into account the likelihood of the individual to contaminate further cells.
- 18.8.3 If the decision is taken to remove the custody to another cell, arrangements must be made for the contaminated cell to be cleaned prior to being re-used.
- 18.8.4 In these circumstances the custody supervisor must inform the reporting officer to libel an additional charge of Culpable and Reckless Conduct, seeking a compensation order for costs associated with the decontamination of the cell.

18.9 Custody Hospitalised

- 18.9.1 Refer to Section 11 - Custody Hospitalised from Custody Centre

18.10 Transfer of Medical Notes/Medication

- 18.10.1 When a custody, who has;

- Received medical attention whilst in custody;
- Medical ailments;
- Medication;

is taken to prison, or other place of detention, the custody supervisor must ensure that all relevant information from the custody record, along with relevant notes in connection with the medical attention provided and medication received accompany the custody, attached to the PER form.

- 18.10.2 Where appropriate, details of a custody's physical or mental health should be included in the remarks section of a police report to the PF.

19. Custody Welfare Considerations

19.1 General Principles

- 19.1.1 The general principle in relation to custody care is to grant any reasonable request which does not interfere with operational requirements or security. In particular, basic human dignity is to be respected.
- 19.1.2 Whilst the security of the custody is important, it should be clearly understood that the principal reason for visiting custodies whilst they are in our care is to ensure their physical well-being.
- 19.1.3 The use of restraints in a locked cell should only be permitted in exceptional circumstances and where so deployed the subject must be kept under constant observations. On all occasions the decision must be regularly reviewed to ensure that it remains proportionate and the rationale documented on the National Custody System.

19.2 Gender Specific Care and Welfare

- 19.2.1 Police Scotland operate a policy of non-gender specific care. Therefore, male staff are entitled to provide care and welfare for female prisoners and vice versa.
- 19.2.2 Staff who are looking after a member of the opposite sex should ensure they take common sense precautions to prevent any embarrassment to either party. This may include verbally alerting a prisoner before opening a cell hatch or door or, where relevant, to discretely informing a prisoner that female sanitary and hygiene products are available on request.
- 19.2.3 The only exception would be in relation to constant observation duties whereby the gender of the observing officer(s) must be the same as the gender of the prisoner under observation

Note: Police Scotland operate a strict policy of gender based search, i.e. a male must search a male and a female must search a female. For further guidance on this please refer to Police Scotland Diversity Booklet – A Practical Guide

19.3 Constant Observations

- 19.3.1 Constant observations will be carried out on custodies considered by the custody supervisor or a HCP to be a danger to themselves.
- 19.3.2 Constant observation means the constant observation of the custody without distraction of any kind. This can be in one of three ways;
- Constant Camera Observations – an officer is dedicated to this role
 - Door Closed Observations – the cell door is closed and an officer is observing the custody through a screen or hatch.
 - Door Open Observations – the cell door is open with an officer observing the custody at the doorway
- 19.3.3 Throughout Scotland there are cells equipped with either in-cell digital CCTV or glass windows to allow constant observations on an individual. Where these are not available, or are being utilised, and due to the distances involved, it appears to a Custody Supervisor unacceptable to convey a custody to a station with an equipped observation cell as above, the custody is to be placed in an ordinary cell.
- 19.3.4 The requirement for constant observations will be based on the risk assessment, however it should be borne in mind that the impact that an offence has on an individual will vary greatly, therefore the focus must be on the person not the crime. Albeit consideration must always be made to placing custodies charged with grave offences under constant observations, to assure their wellbeing at a time when they are potentially vulnerable. The decision must always be person centred and based on the vulnerability of that custody.
- 19.3.5 There may also be occasions when constant observations are necessary in the interests of the enquiry.
- 19.3.6 The custody supervisor must brief the officer allocated to the observations to ensure they are fully aware of their role and to ensure they are suitably experienced to undertake this role. The briefing must emphasise vigilance at all times and highlight that persons likely to self-harm can do so very quickly and may use their blanket to conceal themselves in order to attempt self-harm.

Under no circumstances must the officer undertaking the observations be distracted by other tasks such as report writing. He/she must be dedicated solely to the constant monitoring of the custody.

- 19.3.7 Consideration must be given to relieving the officer undertaking the observations on a regular basis. Guidance for Officers Engaged in Constant Observations of Prisoners is available to view at Appendix 'I' and each custody centre has this guidance displayed in the custody centre.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- 19.3.8 Where a custody is placed under constant observations, an entry must be added to the custody's record, detailing the reason for constant monitoring. This should also be done when the custody is removed from constant observations, outlining the reason for the change in status. If the custody has been placed on constant observations by a HCP, the custody's care plan must indicate under what circumstances the constant observations can be removed, e.g. "Constant observations until sober and calm".
- 19.3.9 The entry must also include full details of the person conducting the observations and that a briefing was provided. The provision of constant observations does not negate the need for cell visits in line with the care plan. A visit regime must be put in place for custodies under constant observations, over and above the fact that the custody is under constant observation, and carried out as deemed necessary by the custody supervisor e.g. hourly or more frequent visits.
- 19.3.10 Medical conditions and head injuries should not be used as a reason for constant observations unless directed by the HCP. If someone is so ill that they need constant observations they should be taken to hospital.
- 19.3.11 Any decision to downgrade the level of observations in order to relieve staff from such duties can only be done in consultation with the FCI.
- 19.3.12 In the unlikely circumstances that the matter has to be escalated, it shall be referred to a higher rank within custody division. It would also be anticipated that a HCP will also be involved in the decision making process.
- 19.3.13 In relation to constant observations relative to gender specific issues cognisance should be taken of paragraph 19.2.3 in this SOP

19.4 Feeding of Custodies

- 19.4.1 Three meals are provided for persons in Police custody between 0600 hours and 1900 hours. In addition, no person is to be held for more than four hours between 1100 hours and 2300 hours without being offered a meal. Custodies, where possible, should be fed before 0700 hours each court day.
- 19.4.2 Different types of meals should be made available for custodies with different dietary requirements, e.g. halal, vegetarian, gluten-free, etc.
- 19.4.3 Custody staff are to ensure that custodies receive sufficient water.
- 19.4.4 In the event that a custody refuses the meal provided, this should be recorded on the National Custody System, with the reason of refusal. If more than two consecutive meals are refused, or the custody continually declines fluids, consideration should be given to consulting an HCP.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- 19.4.5 All efforts should be made to provide the custody with a meal which is acceptable to their condition/beliefs e.g. medical condition, special dietary requirements, religious or moral beliefs, etc.
- 19.4.6 Custodies will not be given food provided to police stations by friends or relatives.
- 19.4.7 Custodies should be provided with meals served in containers and they will be provided with sporks or similar safety spoons. Drinking water will be supplied on request. All containers and cutlery should be removed and accounted for as soon as reasonably practical when the custody has finished their meal, as there is potential for these items to be used as a weapon or to self-harm.
- 19.4.8 Cultural and religious requirements will dictate that certain custodies will only be able to eat and drink at particular times of the day or night. Custody staff should be aware of this and provide meals at such times as the custody will, according to their culture/religion, be allowed to eat them.
- 19.4.9 Information regarding custodies' cultural and religious requirements should be obtained and if any requirements are considered reasonable they should be met. Reference should be made to the Diversity Booklet - A Practical Guide document.

19.5 Washing/Shaving

- 19.5.1 Where an arrested person is to be detained in custody for more than a full day, they should be offered facilities to wash and/or shave at least once per day.
- 19.5.2 Any reasonable requests to wash and/or shave more often than this are to be met, where possible. Facilities are also to be made available to a custody to wash and shave if he/she so desires prior to appearing in court. At all times when a custody is shaving, washing or showering, custody staff are to be in attendance to ensure the security and safety of the custody.
- 19.5.3 The offer of a wash must be recorded on the National Custody System whether the custody accepts it or not. Paper towels should be made available for the use of custodies and in centres that supply cotton towels they must be checked for damage to prevent the risk of injury or self-harm.

19.6 Toilet Paper

- 19.6.1 Toilet paper is a potential risk, either by plaiting long rolls to make a ligature, by using it to block the toilet or by soaking paper and forcing it down the throat. To avoid these situations arising, toilet paper should be supplied in a number of single sheets, when required.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

19.7 Blankets

- 19.7.1 Each custody is to be supplied with a mattress. Custody staff will determine whether a custody will be supplied with a blanket(s) giving due consideration for the following impact factors;
- Time of day
 - Time of year and external weather conditions
 - Temperature in cell
 - Likely length of time in custody
 - Any requests from the custody
- 19.7.2 Where the custody requests a blanket and is refused, the rationale and any alternatives offered should be recorded in the National Custody System.
- 19.7.3 No blanket is totally anti-tear. All blankets must be checked when being issued to identify any existing tears and to prevent them being used as a ligature. Blankets with tears should be removed from use immediately and destroyed. Custody staff should notify the cluster inspector to ensure destroyed blankets are accounted for and replaced.
- 19.7.4 Blankets should be removed from a cell when the custody is released or transferred and placed in the dirty blanket store.
- 19.7.5 Where blankets may have become soiled e.g. urine or faeces they should be placed in the soluble bags available for this and forwarded to the laundry in the normal manner.
- 19.7.6 In the event of bedding requiring destruction due to contamination e.g. too heavily soiled to be washed, the items should be placed in a clinical waste bag and collected in accordance with local arrangements. Custody staff should notify the cluster inspector to ensure destroyed blankets are accounted for and replaced.

19.8 Clothing

- 19.8.1 During the course of a custody's detention in police custody it may be necessary to seize their clothing e.g. as a production, removed due to damage, contamination, etc.
- 19.8.2 In these instances, the custody should be issued with a disposable prisoner's suit.
- 19.8.3 No custody shall be physically forced into wearing an anti-ligature suit unless the circumstances are such that they are actively self-harming or the dangers are such that this action is immediately necessary. If this is necessary, it should be carried out in a cell equipped with CCTV. This decision will be taken by the custody supervisor who will utilise the National Decision Making Model. All options should be considered including use of constant observations until the custody is sufficiently calm. The full circumstance and rationale should be recorded on the National Custody System.

- 19.8.4 There may be occasions, where in the interests of safety, it is necessary to remove a custody's clothing whilst within a cell. Where this occurs, a full dynamic risk assessment must be carried out to ensure that it is justifiable and the FCI made aware. The custody supervisor must ensure that the rationale is documented on the National Custody System. The decision should be regularly reviewed to ensure it remains proportionate to the risk. Should the risk be downgraded, suitable clothing should be returned to the custody at the earliest opportunity.
- 19.8.5 Custodies are not to be taken to court from custody without proper clothing. A disposable prisoner or anti ligature suit is not proper clothing. If required, efforts are to be made by the enquiry officer to obtain alternative garments from the person's home or relatives. Where clothing cannot be obtained, suitable garments may be purchased with money obtained from police funds.
- 19.8.6 There may be occasions where clothing is handed into a custody centre for a custody by a third party. Custody staff must ensure that they verify the custody's full personal details, including name and date of birth, with the third party prior to accepting the clothing. Full details should be recorded in the National Custody System. The clothing must be thoroughly searched before being handed over to the custody.

19.9 Cell Call Button

- 19.9.1 Most Police cells are equipped with a 'call button', which custodies can use to attract the attention of custody staff. It is essential that all custodies are made aware of this prior to commencing any period of detention.
- 19.9.2 The cell call button should not be turned off when the cell is occupied. However, there may be occasions when the custody continuously activates the call button'. In such circumstances, all efforts should be made to alleviate the custody's concerns. If the custody supervisor decides that the continuous activation is having an adverse effect on the care and welfare of the other custodies, they may take the decision to deactivate the call button. If this decision is taken, the care plan must be updated to ensure that the custody is visited at regular intervals and an appropriate entry included in the custody's record. This decision must be regularly reviewed and the rationale and other options fully documented on the National Custody System.

Note: Where a custody may have difficulty accessing the call button due to physical impairment, the custody supervisor must account for this within the care plan e.g. use of adapted cells, increase visit regime/constant observations, etc.

- 19.9.3 Consideration should also be given for the custody to be placed under constant observations.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- 19.9.4 On each occasion when a custody is placed in a cell the cell call button must be checked to ensure it is in working order.

20. Fingerprinting, Photographing and DNA Sampling of Custodies

- 20.1 For further information, consult the Criminal Justice Act Arrest Process SOP.

21. Complaints About The Police

- 21.1 A custody, at any point during their period of detention within a police station, may wish to make a formal complaint against any police officer or police staff. The investigation of this should follow the procedure outlined in the Complaints about the Police SOP.
- 21.2 Where the individual who is subject to the complaint is a member of custody staff, or at the material time is carrying out relief custody duties, the complaint will be dealt with by Criminal Justice Services Division. Where an officer who is subject to the complaint works elsewhere the complaint will be dealt with by local policing.
- 21.3 Where an incident occurs which, in the view of the custody supervisor, could result in a complaint against a member of custody staff then that member of staff should no longer have any responsibility for the care or welfare of the custody making the complaint. This includes officers engaged on observation duties.

22. Independent Custody Visiting Scheme (ICVS)

- 22.1 Independent Custody Visitors (ICV) are volunteers who have a statutory role in ensuring the welfare of persons in police custody. They attend at custody centres to check on the treatment of custodies, the conditions in which they are held and to ensure that their rights are being observed. This protects both custodies and the custody staff, and provides reassurance to the community at large. Responsibility for organising and overseeing the delivery of ICVS lies with Scottish Police Authority (SPA) in consultation with the Chief Constable.
- 22.2 ICV can visit police custody facilities at any time and must be given immediate access to all custody areas unless doing so would place them in danger. A custody supervisor should not delay or deny access unless in the most extreme circumstances and then only after approval from the FCI. A full explanation must be given for the delay and the explanation recorded by the ICV in their report. Where there is a reasonable belief that there is a danger to the visitor or that access could interfere with the process of justice, the custody supervisor may limit or deny access to a specific custody. However, must be endorsed by the FCI. Such a decision must be recorded in the National Custody System and by the ICV in their report of the visit.

Note: In circumstances where due to demand staff cannot facilitate an ICVS visit, then the visitors should be invited into the custody area to observe ongoing activities. Under no circumstances should ICV be left waiting in public areas.

- 22.3 During a visit the custody supervisor or member of custody staff must escort the ICV and advise them of any specific health and safety risks they may encounter. ICV may have access to all parts of the custody area and associated facilities e.g. food preparation areas and medical rooms. They may also, subject to the consent of the custody, speak with them about the adequacy of the detention facilities. It is the responsibility of the escorting officer to speak to the custody to outline the function of the ICV, and to ascertain whether they are prepared to speak to them. ICV may review the depersonalised details of a person's custody record, but they may not view their medical notes.
- 22.4 The ICV role is fundamentally interactive with both custodies and custody staff and cannot be discharged remotely.
- 22.5 Visitors should be able to ask the custody officer whether the CCTV is working and be given a demonstration if necessary.
- 22.6 If the custody cannot speak English, the visitors may ask for an interpreter or use language line. This will be facilitated by custody staff as appropriate.
- 22.7 At the conclusion of every visit a copy of the ICV's report is left for the attention of the cluster inspector.
- 22.8 For further information refer to the Independent Custody Visitor Scheme Guidance.

23. Liberation of Custodies

- 23.1 For further information, consult the Criminal Justice Act Arrest Process SOP.

24. Custody Audit, Management and Maintenance

24.1 Cluster Inspector Visits to Persons in Custody

- 24.1.1 During the course of a custody's time in the custody centre, an officer of the minimum rank of inspector will endeavour to visit them and review their continued detention. This visit should be carried out ordinarily by the FCI or the custody cluster inspector.
- 24.1.2 The officer who conducts the visit should not have had prior involvement in the arrest of the custody and, where this is the case, arrangements should be made for another inspector (or another officer of or above the rank of inspector) to carry out the visit/review.

- 24.1.3 Where circumstances dictate that a physical visit of custodies is impractical; for example, through geographical difficulties, a review of the custodies can be carried out via telephone with the custody supervisors, by an officer of the minimum rank of inspector. In all circumstances the custody record regarding the visit/review should be updated.

24.2 Custody Management Audit Inspection Process

- 24.2.1 Each custody cluster inspector must complete at least one review per month of a person's time in custody by utilising Force Form 051-004 Custody Record Inspection. The CCTV aspect of this review need only be completed as directed by the custody area commander.
- 24.2.2 Force Form 051-003 Custody Division Weekly Checklist requires to be completed every week by the custody supervisor for each custody centre and submitted to the Custody Division (DCU), the relevant cluster inspector and custody area commander.

24.3 Cells Daily Inspection

- 24.3.1 Custody cluster inspectors have overarching responsibility for ensuring that all cells are maintained in a safe condition and that procedures are in place for all facilities in their area to be inspected daily. It is the responsibility of custody supervisors to ensure inspections are carried out daily. (Primary centres should be inspected daily and ancillary centres when opened).
- 24.3.2 The most innocuous fixture, fitting or space can provide a ligature point for a person intending to self-harm or commit suicide. Previous deaths in custody and adverse incidents have involved ligature points in, on or surrounding the following places within cells or detention rooms;
- Old wooden benches
 - Ventilation or heating grilles where they are poorly positioned or the grille apertures are too large (in new custody centres this is considered to be any aperture in excess of two millimetre diameter)
 - Toilets with filler or sealant missing between the junctions with walls and floors
 - Welding around doors that creates points or blade edges or provides gaps between steel sections
 - Poorly fitting doors that provide a means of wedging a ligature
 - Cell hatches which are defective or not shut properly
 - Unsuitable door handles (for example 'T' handles)
 - Light fittings that provide any means of attaching a ligature, accessing the fitting internally, or shattering the lens

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- Walls or tiles with cement missing
 - Smoke detectors
 - Cell call buzzers or toilet flush mechanisms that have not been fitted or bedded flat to walls or have in any way come loose
 - Cell door spyglass (loose, cracked or otherwise defective glass lenses or casings).
- 24.3.3 Items such as the mattress and pillow (if provided) should be checked for damage to ensure they do not provide potential ligature material.
- 24.3.4 To commit suicide by ligature a person requires both the means of forming the ligature and the means of attachment, normally to the structure. Removing one or preferably both opportunities minimises the risk of suicide or self-harm.
- 24.3.5 Staff inspecting cells must be aware that ligature points can be found at both high and low levels. They can take any form, e.g. cracks, gaps, any pipe, tube, bar or similar fittings. Inspections should be conducted methodically, working from the ceiling to ground level. They are not just a problem in older custody centres and can equally occur in new buildings.
- 24.3.6 Poor repair work can create ligature points. Repairs must be undertaken professionally, with material appropriate to the specific situation. The higher initial cost of safer materials will be offset by their longevity and safety.
- 24.3.7 General finishing should be of the appropriate fire rating and should be non-pick, non-peel, non-toxic and non-abrasive and resist the embedment of blades and needles.
- 24.3.8 Floor surfaces must be non-slip when wet but must not otherwise provide an abrasive surface that could cause injury. All surfaces and features should be capable of being easily cleaned and sterilised.
- 24.3.9 If a potential ligature point is identified, the relevant area must be taken out of use immediately and must not be used for securing any custody until remedial work has been completed. The problem must be reported in the same way as all other maintenance issues.
- 24.3.10 Prior to a custody being placed in a cell/detention room, custody staff must check that it remains suitable for use and that all facilities are still in full working order. This must be recorded on the National Custody System, confirming that a check has been made and that the cell is suitable for occupancy. The name and identifying number of the officer completing this task must also be recorded.
- 24.3.11 A further check of the cell must be made whenever a custody vacates a cell or detention room to identify any fresh damage to the room. If a custody has caused damage, he or she should be charged accordingly and a request made in the police report for a compensation order to cover the cost of the damage. It is good practice to have the damage photographed and to obtain an estimate of the cost of repair or cleaning. A full report of the circumstances is to be submitted to the cluster inspector.

- 24.3.12 Advice and guidance on general condition of the custody area can be found in the Custody Management Audit Inspection Process. For reporting of any faults the faults should be recorded on Force Form 051-003 – Custody Division Weekly Checklist.

24.4 Fire Drills

- 24.4.1 Practice fire drills are to be held regularly (minimum of two per year). Fire alarms must be tested weekly (different call point each week).
- 24.4.2 A record of fire drills, alarm tests and inspections of equipment must be entered in the relevant paperwork. Arrangements for fire drills within custody centres/area(s) will be conducted in conjunction with the office where the custody centre/area are housed. Force Form 076-017 - Fire Safety Form 4 – Fire Evacuation – Drill, Incident, False Alarm Record should be completed and filed in the Fire Management manual.
- 24.4.3 A fire evacuation plan must be accessible to the custody supervisor and all custody staff must be aware of their duties during an activation of the plan.
- 24.4.4 A quantity of handcuffs/flexicuffs, sufficient to cover the maximum number of cells must be available for use in the event of a fire evacuation. They will be located within the custody area. The custody supervisor should ensure that all staff are aware of their location.

24.5 Panic Alarm Strips

- 24.5.1 Where fitted these alarms should be tested on a regular basis as dictated by the custody audit and the results recorded. All members of staff should recognise and know how to respond to such alarms.
- 24.5.2 Force Form 051-003 Custody Division Weekly Checklist requires to be completed every week by the custody supervisor for each primary custody centre and submitted to the Custody DCU, the relevant cluster inspector and area commander.

24.6 Notes of Guidance for Accused Persons

- 24.6.1 It is the responsibility of the custody supervisor to ensure that clearly legible self-adhesive Notes for the Guidance of Accused Persons are affixed at locations where the custody can see them.

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

24.7 Mattresses

- 24.7.1 When a cell is vacated, the mattresses must be checked for damage and cleaned on all occasions after use. If damaged, mattresses must be removed from use immediately and the cluster inspector notified.
- 24.7.2 A more thorough examination of mattresses must be conducted on a weekly basis. Ampel probes and metal detectors should be used to ensure no items have been concealed within the mattress.

24.8 Contaminated Cells

- 24.8.1 When a custody vacates their cell, the custody supervisor is to arrange to have the cell examined. Normal cleaning of spillages of food, urine, etc., should be undertaken, as necessary. Only in cases where the cell has been significantly contaminated by blood, excrement, etc., should the cell be isolated until decontamination can be effected, as per local instructions.
- 24.8.2 In circumstances where a custody is known to be infected with a contagious disease, such as scabies, he or she is to be immediately isolated. Blankets should be placed in sealed soluble laundry bags highlighting the problem. These should then be uplifted by the contractor for laundry. Consideration must be given to having the cell cleaned/decontaminated

- 24.9.1 Where the cell 'call button' is found to be defective, the cell or detention room must be put out of service until it is fit for use, or if the use of the cell is absolutely necessary, a suitable control measure employed to ensure the custody's welfare.

25. Custody Paper Procedure/Business Continuity

- 25.1 Where the National Custody System is unavailable for whatever reason, hard copy forms as referred to in the CJ Arrest Process SOP should be used.

CS INCAPACITANT SPRAY

DECONTAMINATION AND AFTERCARE PROCEDURES

Premises

If CS has been sprayed within premises, open all doors and windows to allow the air to circulate. The same procedure will apply to contaminated vehicles.

Contaminated surfaces should be washed down with a detergent or hot soapy water and then thoroughly rinsed to remove any CS residue (it is advisable to wear rubber gloves).

Persons

Remove the person sprayed to an uncontaminated area where they can be exposed to fresh air. This will allow the CS particles to be blown from the affected person's body and will normally result in recovery from significant symptoms within 15 minutes.

Where clothing has been contaminated, the affected person should be provided with a paper suit and to prevent the spreading of residual CS particles, the contaminated clothing should be sealed in polythene bags. Upon liberation, the affected person should be advised to hang the clothing on a washing line and expose it to fresh air. The clothing should then be thoroughly washed - separate from other items - before being worn again.

Aftercare

Advise affected persons not to rub their eyes or face.

Instruct affected persons to breathe normally. Breathing normally will aid the affected person's recovery and will prevent hyperventilation.

Give reassurance that the effects of the spray are temporary and that they will pass.

Do not apply water to the affected person's eyes. Application of water may provide some immediate relief but can lengthen the overall recovery period. Irrigation of an affected person's eyes should only be undertaken by an FME or other trained medical personnel.

It is essential to monitor an affected person's breathing. If they experience difficulty in resuming normal breathing, or if any other adverse reactions are observed, immediate medical assistance should be obtained.

Ensure that any restraint methods used, and the position that an affected person is placed in, does not affect his/her breathing. Affected persons should not be left, or transported, in the prone position (face down).

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

Close monitoring of an affected person must be maintained until any significant effect of the CS Spray has worn off.

Affected persons who wear contact lenses may experience greater discomfort. They should be permitted to remove the lenses at the earliest opportunity. Police Officers/Custody Staff must not attempt to remove contact lenses from another person. This should only be carried out by the individual concerned or by a Medical Practitioner. Exposure to CS Spray may cause damage to certain types of lenses. Individuals who experience problems with contact lenses should be advised to consult an Optician.

PAVA SPRAY

DECONTAMINATION AND AFTERCARE PROCEDURES

PAVA (Pelargonic Acid Vanillylamide) Spray is an incapacitant spray similar to CS Spray and is used by a number of other Police Services, including British Transport Police. It is possible that Officers from another Police Service will present a custody at one of the PSoS's custody facilities who has been subject to the effects of PAVA Spray.

In such circumstances, procedures for de-contaminating the custody will be the same as those adopted in respect of custodies who have been subject to CS Spray. Custodies who have been subject to PAVA Spray may only be held in a custody facility where there is 24 hour cover and sufficient resources to conduct the checks required of an 'At Risk or Special Risk Prisoner'.

On arrival at the Custody Centre, process as normal, but first:

- Ascertain that the spray has actually been used;
- Check the condition of the custody;
- If the custody has not recovered from the immediate effects, arrange for the prisoner to wash (under supervision) with copious amounts of running, cold water. Irrigation of the eyes WILL only be undertaken by the custody themselves or other suitably trained personnel;
- Arrange for examination by a Medical Practitioner if in your opinion the custody is in distress or the subject requests it;
- The custody should be segregated from other prisoners;
- If the breath test procedure is to be used, ensure that a minimum of 30 minutes has expired since being sprayed;
- As a safeguard, ensure that any directly contaminated clothing is kept away from any breath measuring instruments and that the subject has been given the opportunity to wash their face/hands before submitting to the procedure;
- The custody should be subjected to enhanced cell supervision as for prisoners who are under the influence of alcohol or drugs;

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- Prior to release the custody should be handed a leaflet informing them of the spray which has been used and action to be taken if they suffer any additional problems;

Ensure that full details are included on the custody record including the Serial No of the spraying Officer's canister and that the Officer is directed to complete the required procedures pertaining to the canister as per local instructions.

Guidance for Officers Engaged in Constant Observations of Prisoners

The following is designed as an aide memoire to Officers engaged in the constant observations of a person in Police custody.

The decision to place a custody under constant observations will be made in conjunction with the care and welfare Risk Management Plan conducted on the arrival of the person at the Custody Centre and on any further information made available to the Custody Supervisor.

Reasons for the decision to place a custody on constant observations include:

- They are at high risk of self-harming or attempting suicide,
- They have drugs or other items concealed internally,
- They have been apprehended for a grave crime.

Whatever the reason for the custody being placed on constant observations, the responsibility for their care and welfare lies with the officer allocated this duty.

Consideration should be given to the following:

- If you are present when the prisoner is placed in the cell, check that there is nothing already in the cell that is likely to cause harm;
- Remain alert and vigilant at all times to any changes in the custody's demeanour / state of intoxication;
- Ensure that the custody's head and shoulders are visible above the blanket;
- If the custody is suspected of having items concealed internally, ensure they have their hands visible at all times;
- Do not carry out any other duties e.g. report writing;
- If carrying out CCTV observations on more than one custody, do not leave the screen to assist with an incident, alert staff immediately; and
- If you have any concerns, inform the Custody Staff.

The foregoing is by no means an exhaustive list. If you have any doubt of what is expected of you when undertaking this important task, consult with the Custody Supervisor.

REMEMBER, IF IN DOUBT ASK
