Dear Mr Edwards

I refer to your request where you asked:

“I'm writing to ask the Prime Minister why was there no support for the victims of the Grenfell tower fire from the Government.”

Why was the Army not brought in to help support the people of Grenfell Towers.”

This question does not constitute a valid request for information as outlined in the Freedom of Information Act 2000. The Act gives a right of access to recorded information that already exists. It does not require public authorities to create new information in order to respond to a request. Advice on how to make a valid request can be accessed on the Information Commissioner's website at: <https://ico.org.uk/for-the-public/official-information/>.

However, I have provided a link which details the support that Government, in particular, the Department for Communities and Local Government (DCLG) and the Home Office (HO), are providing:

If you have any queries about this letter, please contact the FOI team. Please remember to quote the reference number above in any future communications.

If you are unhappy with the service you have received in relation to your request or wish to request an internal review, you should write to:

You should note that the Cabinet Office will not normally accept an application for internal review if it is received more than two months after the date that the reply was issued.

If you are not content with the outcome of your internal review, you may apply directly to the Information Commissioner for a decision. Generally, the Commissioner cannot make a decision unless you have exhausted the complaints procedure provided by Cabinet Office. The Information Commissioner can be contacted at:
