

IDAHOBIT 17th May 2019

Mon 13/05/2019 10:59

To: [REDACTED]

Friday 17th May is International Day Against Homophobia, Biphobia and Transphobia (IDAHOBIT). It is a day to stand with the LGBT+ community and support our colleagues and learners.

To mark the day, our LGBT Allies will be hosting an Equali-tea at 10.30am. Wear a splash of colour, join us for cake and bring a donation in support of Stonewall.

By highlighting this day we are reminding everyone of the distinct challenges faced by different parts of the LGBT community, be they lesbian, gay, bi and/or trans.

As a Diversity Champion, we are committed to tackling any LGBT discrimination and would like to remind you of the College's routes for reporting any instances of homophobia, biphobia and transphobia. The Bullying and Harassment policy can be found on the College intranet, along with the College policies on sexual orientation and gender identity. There are also useful guidance documents available on how colleagues can step up to be allies to our LBG and Trans staff and learners.

For more information on IDAHOBIT please visit <https://may17.org/>.

For more information on equality and diversity at the College, please email equalityanddiversity@cymoedd.ac.uk

