Hi [REDACTED]

Yes – the only info for the March enquiry that involved correspondence with your firm was the attachment in my last email.

For the new enquiry, I need to send the March email that was below my last email to you.

Thanks.

Hi Laura

Sorry if I didn't reply back in March – must have slipped through the net.

I have no issue with the redactions attached and proposed to the email chain below, which I assume relate to the information request you receive back in March. Was this the only information being released in response to that request?

You refer to a new query. Is that a separate new information request for this project?

Many thanks

Hi [REDACTED]

I sent you the email below in March and then [REDACTED].

I'm not sure if you replied or not. Sorry to email you again about it. Were you happy with the redactions in the attached?

We also have a new query in now and I need to send the attached out, plus the email below.

For the email below, I have redacted everything in the 'to' line - ie all your email address including company name - and your name at the start of the email. I can't see anything else that needs redacting.

Please can you let me know you are happy with this.

Thanks

Laura

The attached email is within the scope of this request. Please can you confirm that you are happy with the redactions made.

The attachments referred to in the attached email will not be sent out as the requester has already seen these (with the extra redactions you asked for in the attached email).

Please could you get back to me by next Thursday – 18 March?
