Dear Ms Pitkin,

Freedom of Information Request

Thank you for your request for information, made under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (the Act).

Under the Act, public authorities have two duties to individuals requesting information: firstly, to confirm whether or not they hold the information requested, and secondly to provide a copy of that information unless one or more of the exemptions under the Act apply.

I can confirm that we do not hold information relating to your request.

Your request

"Would you please let me know what the Latin A level set texts for the NUJMB summer exams in 1966 were"

Our response

Ofqual was vested in 2009 and does not routinely retain copies of past assessment papers and specification (including reading lists). One or more of the main GCSE and A level Awarding Organisations may retain this information, from a predecessor organisation. As far as I have been able to determine, NUJMB merged with other examining bodies to form NEAB in 1992 and which then merged with AEB/SEG to form AQA in 2000. To assist you in your request it may be more fruitful to contact the Awarding Organisations involved in General Qualifications (GCSEs and A Levels) as they should have the records you are seeking. For ease, I have listed their web addresses and contact email address below.
