Dear WAYNE TULLY

I refer to your request where you asked:

When a member of parliament uses a mobile communication device, e.g. a mobile phone, does all of the bill get paid by the taxpayer?

Is personal useage paid by the MP, in much the same manner as any other public servant?
if no, why not?

Is centralised procurement utilised to obtain best value for the taxpayer when procuring mobile communication devices?

I am writing to advise you that following a search of our paper and electronic records, I have established that the information you requested is not held by the Cabinet Office.

If you have any queries about this letter, please contact the FOI team. Please remember to quote the reference number above in any future communications. If you are unhappy with the service you have received in relation to your request or wish to request an internal review, you should write to:
