Dear S Camacho,

I write in response to your email of 29 May.

1 - 2) This information may be found on the University's website, which we link to for your convenience: <https://www.ox.ac.uk/about/facts-and-figures/admissions-statistics/admissions-statistics-school?wssl=1> as well as https://public.tableau.com/views/UniversityofOxford-UCASApplyCentreApplications2017/UCASApplyCentre?:embed=y&:display_count=yes&:showTabs=y&:showVizHome=no

3 - 4) We will not comply with this part of your request which is for detailed individual level data for single application cycles. We consider that disclosure of this information in the form requested might enable those with access to other information or knowledge (e.g. those associated with the same school as applicants) to identify individuals and learn new information about those individuals. In taking this measure, we are applying the exemption in section 40(2) of the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA). Section 40(2) provides an exemption from disclosure for information that is the personal data of an individual other than the requester, where disclosure would breach any of the data protection principles in Article 5 of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). We consider that disclosure of the information requested in the exact form requested would breach the first data protection principle, which requires that personal data is processed lawfully, fairly and in a transparent manner. Disclosure would be unfair to the individuals concerned, as it would be contrary to their reasonable and legitimate expectations. They would not reasonably expect that information about their qualifications or other information relating to their application to Oxford would be made public under the FOIA without their consent.

For the disclosure of personal data to be lawful, it must have a lawful basis under Article 6 of the GDPR. There are six possible lawful bases in Article 6; we do not consider that any of them would be satisfied in respect of the disclosure.

The exemption in section 40(2) is an absolute exemption and is not subject to the public interest test provided for in section 2(2)(b) of the FOIA. To the extent that the public interest is relevant in this case, the University considers it is satisfied by the attached information.

5) Please find this information in the spreadsheet attached.

Please note that Oxford no longer offers "in person" interviews outside Oxford. We used to have a team of interviewers that visited North America and Asia to interview in various cities but all interviews now take place face-to-face in Oxford or remotely by phone or online video interviewing.
