Dear Mr Gilliatt,

FREEDOM of INFORMATION ACT 2000 Reference No: F-2016-00254

Thank you for your request for Information, received at this office on 10 February, 2016, in which you requested details of the following:

Dear Humberside Police,

I hope it can be agreed that a two tier system exists, where on the one hand, a crime deemed to be committed by an average taxpaying member of the public (whether there is evidence or not) is, as a matter of course, processed through the justice system with the end goal being a conviction and obtaining revenue from imposing fines, cost etc. On the other hand, if the crime is committed by, or on behalf of the state, a limitless amount of taxpayer's money is ploughed into ensuring the course of justice is perverted and no investigation of the victim's allegation takes place.

North East Lincolnshire council for example, had been exposed for committing perjury (see link https://www.whatdotheyknow.com/request/humberside_police_wrongly_classi#comment-65970), but the force, rather than investigating the matter (for which evidence was handed it on a plate) misused taxpayer's money by engaging its solicitor to achieve the best chance of avoiding its duty to solve the crime, thus brushing the matter under the carpet.

1) How much taxpayer's money is paid to the force's solicitor for the purposes of perverting the course of justice, i.e., avoiding crime committed by, or on behalf of the state?

2) As the case used in the example showed total incompetence, can it be confirmed that Humberside police's solicitor is the same solicitor with the 'so called' independence status as per the force's "Duty Solicitor"?

The Freedom of Information Act requires that this request is dealt with in a manner that is motive and applicant blind. A disclosure under this legislation is considered a disclosure to the world and is considered to be on the basis that it is in the public interest.

This response is unique to Humberside Police and you are advised not to compare this like for like with any other force's response you receive.

Humberside Police Response

Please find attached our previous response F-2014-933 in which we issued a section 14 notice in respect of repeated and vexatious requests for information concerning Rossendale Bailiffs and Fraud.

Should you need to discuss this further please contact James Green, Information Compliance Officer on the above details.

Yours sincerely,

James Green

Humberside Police – Freedom of Information Complaints Review Procedure

Why Have A Complaints Process?

Humberside Police is committed to delivering an open and transparent service whenever possible and it is our intention to commit to the principles of openness embodied in the Freedom of Information Act. We will release information to the greatest extent possible, consistent with the public interest, however we may withhold information if we consider its release would cause significant harm.

If information within a document is withheld, it will be clearly marked to show where information has been removed and the legal exemption we have used. If we decline to supply all or part of any information you have asked for we will notify you in writing giving our reasons based upon legal exemptions contained within the Freedom of Information Act.

If you are not satisfied about the way in which your Freedom of Information request has been handled you have the right to appeal. This information has been designed to help you to understand how to complain to Humberside Police. Using this process will not affect your right to complain directly to the Information Commissioner if you feel we have not complied with our obligations under the Freedom of Information Act.

How Long Do I have to Raise A Complaint?

Once we have responded to your Freedom of Information Request you will have 40 working days in which to raise your complaint.

Who Can Complain?

Anyone who has made a Freedom of Information request in writing to the Force can complain. If you have requested information and you are not satisfied with the way we have dealt with it, you can use the complaints process to have it looked at again. If someone who requested information would like to complain but cannot do so themselves, you can complain on their behalf but it will help us if you make it clear that you are doing so.

What Can I Complain About?

If you are not satisfied with the way we have handled your request, with the fee we have charged, or with the reasons we have given for refusing to provide information, you have the right to appeal. You can complain about the range, amount and format of information we have sent following a request. You can also complain about the way a request was handled, for example, the time it took to respond.

How Do I Complain?

To deal with your complaint as quickly as possible, it will help if you can give us as much information as you can about the original request made and the reason for your complaint. Please put your complaint in writing and address it to:

FOI Appeals

What Happens To My Complaint?

Once we have enough details to identify the request, we will begin the review. The Head of The Information Compliance Unit will normally review your complaint. In the more complex cases a review panel consisting of a number of senior personnel from the Force will re-examine your complaint. We aim to complete the review process within 20 working days of receiving your complaint. Upon completion we will send you the findings.

How Will I Be Notified?

Where we have not followed procedures or have failed to provide acceptable quality of service, we will apologise and explain what we will do to ensure this doesn't happen again. If our original decision to withhold information is over-turned on appeal we will send you the additional information immediately. If we believe that our original response was correct we will let you know, and inform you of your options (see below).

What If I'm Still Not Satisfied?

If we have been unable to resolve your complaint and you are not satisfied you can approach the office of the Information Commissioner, who may investigate the matter on your behalf. This option is open to you at all times, but we will endeavour to address your complaint initially, as this may lead to a speedier resolution. It is the Information Commissioner who decides whether to investigate or not. We will co-operate fully with the Information Commissioner.
