Thanks for that.

I think if I could get a full list of the said firms with total amounts paid to date I'll decide on the best method and timing of publishing notices in the Journal, after all much of the information would be released if it hasn't already been so under FOI. I think we have a reasonable case for the procurement strategy chosen and we may as well be up front about it. A quarterly update on the spending list would be appreciated and I'll ensure notices are published where required, hopefully the activity will begin to tail off in next 12 months.

Hi Tom

I have added a few notes to your document to try and explain the background and our approach. Happy to add or adjust as you think appropriate.

Have a good weekend
