Hi ████

Could you block the following on the Council accounts and Publica's:

Jules Saunders @sandwellskidder
Ian Crow Multimedia @crowmultimedia.

Thanks

Phil

Good morning Phil,

David Neudegg may have spoken to you about a man who used the internet to post troll messages in my previous role at Sandwell.

He recently started copying his Twitter tweets onto the PUBLICA Twitter account. I suggested to David that it might be a good idea to block him.

I suspect this has been done, because he has now started copying his tweets to the Twitter accounts of the four councils.

I have a fairly thick skin for this man having put up with him for a number of years, but it probably isn't the sort of thing that the councils want on their Twitter feeds. And he isn't a resident in any of the councils' areas.

Could you please talk to whoever owns the four councils' Twitter accounts and see if they want to block him?

He uses a number of different Twitter identities but the two most active are Jules Saunders @sandwellskidder and Ian Crow Multimedia @crowmultimedia.

Thanks,

Jan

He is currently calling himself Jules Saunders @SandwellSkidder

He also uses Ian Crow Multimedia @CrowMultimedia

If he gets blocked on one, he tends to use the other.

Thanks,

Jan

Good morning David,

I notice that the blogger who stalked me at Sandwell has started to copy his Twitter comments onto the PUBLICA Twitter feed.

It is likely going to take him quite a while to get over me, having given me the questionable benefit of his attention for many years.

I have grown a thick skin and I am happy to just ignore him, but you might want to consider whether to block him on the PUBLICA Twitter account.
