

From: Andrew Whyte
Sent: 16 June 2020 12:15
To: Stephen Humphreys <Stephen.Humphreys@fca.org.uk>
Cc: [REDACTED]
Subject: RE: Blog

Hello both

Thanks. A tough decision but on balance feels right. We might have cut the very lengthy extract from the essay on grounds of brevity – especially as there's a link to the YouTube version. Worth alerting CEO Office and Georgina as chair of EDC.

Thanks.

All the best.

Andrew

Andrew Whyte
Director of Communications
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

This email is FCA Restricted unless marked otherwise

Our Mission

Adding
public value

Our values

Deliver in the public interest

Act with integrity

Be
ambitious

Work
inclusively

Connect
and deliver

From: Stephen Humphreys
Sent: 16 June 2020 11:38
To: Andrew Whyte <Andrew.Whyte@fca.org.uk>
Cc: [REDACTED]
Subject: RE: Blog

Helen and I have reviewed and decided that we will not remove the blog.

While there are some views expressed that many of us would disagree with that of itself is not a reason to remove it.

We have particularly considered whether [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED].

For these reasons we do not believe that there are grounds to remove.

We are aware that there have already been some complaints into Megan's office. So we will keep this under review and actively monitor any comments which are added (one to date).

Happy to discuss further.

Stephen

From: Andrew Whyte

Sent: 16 June 2020 10:38

To: Stephen Humphreys <Stephen.Humphreys@fca.org.uk>

Subject: RE: Blog

Thanks Stephen

Keep me posted.

All the best.

Andrew

Andrew Whyte

Director of Communications

This email is FCA Restricted unless marked otherwise

Our Mission

Adding
public value

Our values

Deliver in the public interest

Act with integrity

Be
ambitious

Work
inclusively

Connect
and deliver

From: Stephen Humphreys

Sent: 16 June 2020 10:33

To: Andrew Whyte <Andrew.Whyte@fca.org.uk>

Subject: Blog

To flag, we are currently reviewing this blog and liaising with CR

<https://thefca.sharepoint.com/sites/Intranet/Blogs/Lists/Posts/Post.aspx?ID=397>