

VOLUNTEER MINISTERS RAISE OVER £400 FOR CHARITY

The above Volunteer Ministers came together to run in a three mile charity race for 'CRISIS' the homeless project.

The race started near Fenchurch Street station in the City of London and weaved a route along the River Thames, past the Tate Modern and over London Bridge.

All the team started off on good footing. Out in front were [redacted] and [redacted], who were both on good form, both tall and slim, they had the legs for running! [redacted] and [redacted] were seen sprinting at one point but the athletic [redacted] and [redacted] running in his cheffing trousers had a good steady pace, matched by confident [redacted] whilst [redacted] and [redacted] plodded happily behind.

First through the finishing line from our team was [redacted] obviously a secret runner! followed by [redacted] - next was [redacted] our very own Public Executive Secretary on London Foundation.

It was a great evening and we definitely made an impact on the other runners. We were the only team wearing our own T-Shirts, the other 1,400 runners were in White Crisis t-shirts. On several occasions we got asked who we were and got a special mention over the loudspeaker system on two occasions.

Two of our runners said they want to run the Marathon! Anyone else who is interested should contact [redacted] in the Org.

Well done to everyone who took part.
