 - 5.1. Information about the scheme
 - 5.2. The registration process
 - 5.3. The docking stations
 - 5.4. Bicycles
 - 5.5. Contact centre
6. Impact of the key touch points and areas to focus on
7. Travel behaviour change as a result of Barclays Cycle Hire
 - Travel patterns and change to travel

1. Survey methodology

Methodology and approach

All interviews were conducted online

- Customer Satisfaction Survey (CSS) fieldwork was carried out between 20 September and 4 October 2010
- Travel Behaviour fieldwork was carried out between 28 October and 4 November
- All data is un-weighted

Sample was taken from TfL's database of registered users

- All those invited to take part in the CSS survey had used the scheme at least once
- All CSS interviewees who agreed to be re-contacted were then invited to take part in the Travel Behaviour study
- A prize draw for the chance to win £250 was offered to encourage participation in the survey
- A profile of those who took part in the travel behaviour survey is shown in the Travel Behaviour section

3754 interviews were completed for CSS

1350 Interviews were completed for Travel Behaviour

- Just over 18,000 invitations were sent, giving a CSS response rate of 20%
- Of 2618 travel Behaviour invitations, the response rate was 52%

2. Key findings

Key findings – overall attitudes

- Overall satisfaction is fairly good - almost half are satisfied with the scheme – there is scope to improve, however...
 - Advocacy is much higher – more than two-thirds would recommend BCH to friends and family
 - 97% would be likely to use the scheme again (87% very likely)
- Six in ten Cycle Hire trips have replaced a public transport trip, four percent have replaced a car or taxi trip. Only 5 percent of trips were already cycled.
- The most popular reasons for using the scheme are that it is quicker, healthier and more convenient than other modes of transport
- The scheme has encouraged people who don't usually cycle in London to try it.
- A high proportion are satisfied with value for money of the BCH Scheme
 - Possibly linked to a high proportion of annual access and trips shorter than half an hour
- It's a positive picture in terms of the impact for London
 - 95% see it as making a positive contribution
 - Nine in ten consider it an alternative mode of transport

It's faster than other modes of transport, it's easy to use and it's fun

Docking stations are full, lack of bicycles, issues with other road users and problems with using the docking stations

Key findings – customer journey touch points

- Registration is not as smooth as it could be
 - Website is a key source of information but half experienced technical issues
 - Information surrounding fees and additional keys is confusing
- Quarter of members are dissatisfied with docking stations
 - Either full, so unable to dock their bicycles
 - Or empty, so no bicycles available
- Over half are satisfied with the bicycles
 - Only a small proportion are dissatisfied (6%) despite over a quarter experiencing problems with the bicycles (gears, brakes or saddle)
- Key area for focus should be the docking station
 - This element of the experience is a key driver of overall satisfaction

Increased satisfaction with the docking station

Leads to

Increased overall satisfaction

As this is a new scheme, and is seen as having many positives for both London and the individual, members may have been more forgiving of initial 'teething problems'. This tolerance is unlikely to last and it is important that highlighted issues are resolved so as not to impact scores in later waves

What users said..... Positive comments

"People asking me about it in the street, and being able to genuinely say that I love it."

Uses Barclays Cycle hire 5-6 days a week and has Annual access - started cycling in London within the last month

"The freedom of choosing the means of transport - cycle on the way in, bus on the way back, or walking + cycle."

Uses Barclays Cycle hire 3-4 days a week and has Annual access - started cycling in London within the last three months

"I like the efficiency and reliability of getting somewhere on time! Much more reliable than the tube, and less stuffy and cramped."

Uses Barclays Cycle hire 5-6 days a week and has 24 hour access - started cycling in London within the last month

"The system worked. Bike available, bike in working condition, docking station available at end of journey - money saved and a little bit fitter than yesterday."

Uses Barclays Cycle hire 5-6 days a week and has Annual access - started cycling in London within the last three months

"Cycling round London is extremely enjoyable way of seeing the city and much preferably to the Waterloo and City line."

Uses Barclays Cycle hire 5-6 days a week and has Annual access - started cycling in London within the last three months

"It was nice to be on the open road and I felt better for it, both environmentally and my well being."

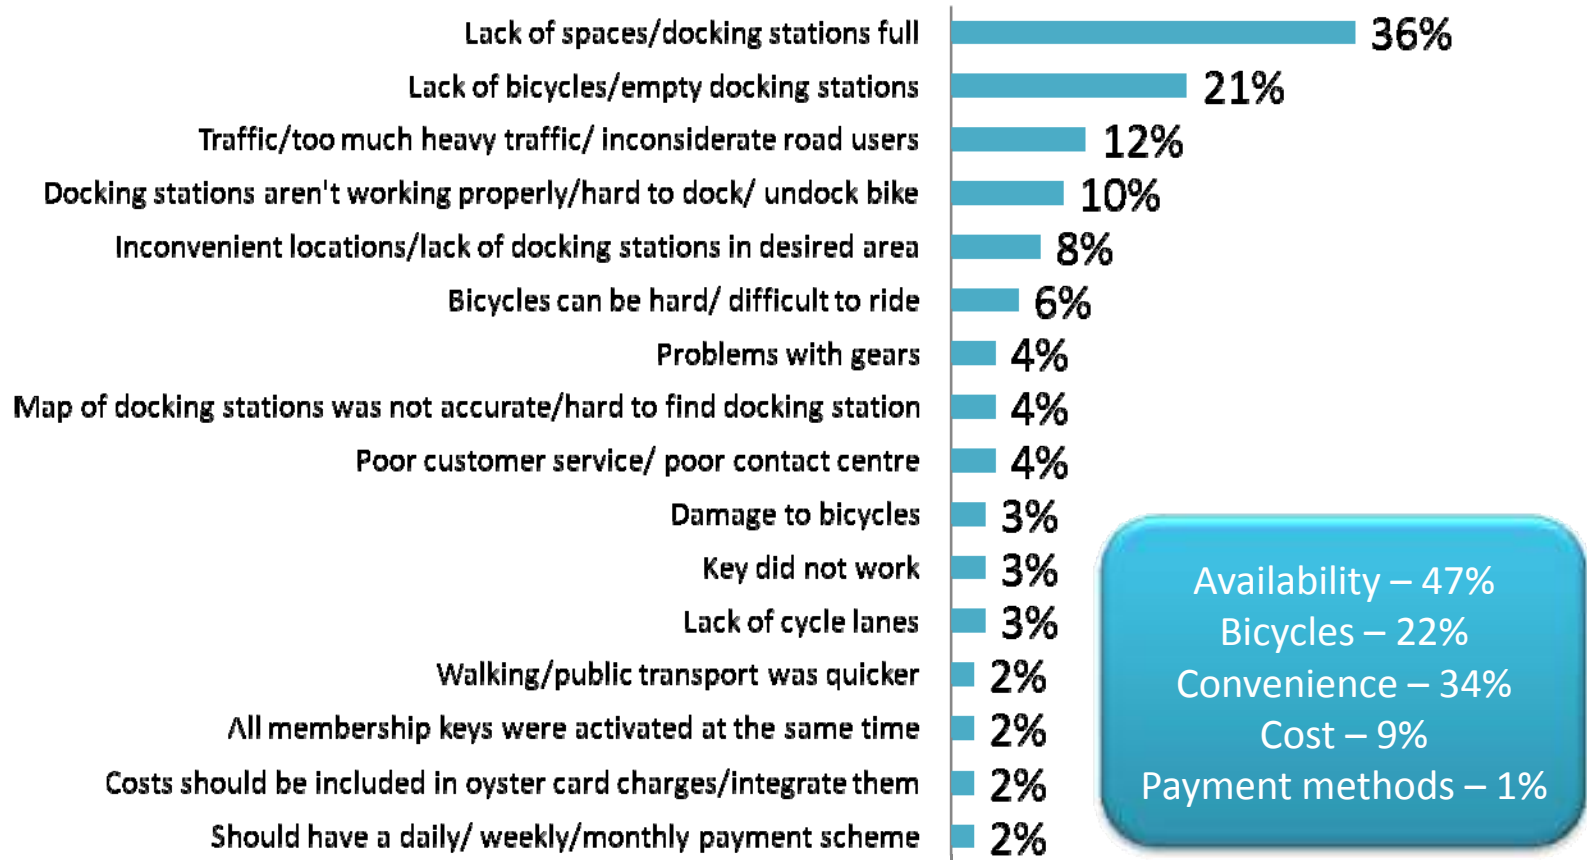

Uses Barclays Cycle hire 3-4 days a week and has 24 hour access - started cycling in London within the last month

"I love being able to leave the bike and simply walk away without a second thought."

Uses Barclays Cycle hire 5-6 days a week and has Annual access - started cycling in London more than a year ago

Problems with docking bicycles and lack of available bicycles are key to a negative experience of BCH

Q Thinking about your most recent experience of using Barclays Cycle Hire what was particularly bad about your experience?

Base: All users coded and giving a valid answer: 1937. Multicode question

What users said.....Negative comments

"If you travel from a station to a main business area (eg Mayfair) at rush hour there is nowhere to dock a bike. I had to go to 7 docking stations and now feel like I can't use the scheme because there is no certainty of being able to dock a bike."

Uses Barclays Cycle hire 5-6 days a week and has Annual access - started cycling in London within the last year

"Not enough cycle lanes. Buses are a big problem for cycling - bus drivers and car drivers should be educated in the way that cyclists have to navigate around the roads. Cycling has to be made safer."

Uses Barclays Cycle hire 5-6 days a week and has Annual access - started cycling in London within the last month

"The only thing I think is really misconceived is that multiple keys get activated at the same time. That (for me) completely removes the benefit of having multiple keys at all, and I don't understand under what circumstances it could ever be an advantage."

Uses Barclays Cycle hire 5-6 days a week and has Annual access - started cycling in London more than a year ago

"Takes longer than getting the tube. Getting there is faster, but the docking points are always full so finding another empty one takes as long as the journey itself."

Uses Barclays Cycle hire 5-6 days a week and has Annual access - started cycling in London more than a year ago

"Bikes are heavy if you need to lift them over steps, not enough gears, the difference between 2 and 3 is too much."

Uses Barclays Cycle hire 5-6 days a week and has Annual access - started cycling in London within the last month
