Subject: Injustice of no transparency

Dear Sir,

I have lived in my small Mews house for 45 years and am now retired.

The properties next door have been bought by a company in the BVI. They have sold it to another company in the same building which is Palm House Tortola, BVI.

They plan a major development, including a double basement for a swimming pool. Engineering studies show this threatens the integrity of my home.

There are mechanisms such as the Party Wall Act to safeguard citizens. These are impossible to enforce when there is no transparency of ownership and I am denied the rights Parliament intended for me.

HMRC are also challenged to collect the taxes due on ownership and development.

Best regards,
