Subject: Cost of fluoridation

Categories: [REDACTED]

Hi [REDACTED] – apologies, another query! One of the issues being raised by [REDACTED] at the moment – which has now been picked up by the local MP – is a claim that Cumbria is paying twice as much as the national average for fluoridation. I can't for the life of me work out how [REDACTED] have made that calculation as I can't find anything in the way of robust data on how much the national average is. Do you have that info, ideally per head of population?

With apologies it would be really helpful to know at least if that info is available before Thursday morning if possible...

Cheers
