Dear both,

and I have been working on this response over the last few days with input from last week. We had hoped to get a final draft from you today for your review and finalisation of the letter before it goes to Kate M on Friday – but I now need to tell you that it will be the end of today before we get the letter out to you. has been to a meeting this morning that has brought to light some further documents that she needs to read this afternoon before we get a version to you. We need to make sure our response is aligned both with HE and ideally our other heritage partners – so this is important.

I hope that will be OK? It means we will need your feedback by about mid-day tomorrow then I can make any tweaks and get it to Kate on Friday. Hope this works for you both, I just thought I should give you a heads up as timing is now so tight.

Thanks very much,
Nichola
