Thanks. Have discussed with [redacted] and [redacted] and decided that instead of saying more superlatives about how welcome the tunnel scheme could be (we wouldn't want to up the ante much further, as what we've said is already in line with the tone of our press statements etc), we should instead reiterate at the end of the letter, something of the positive stuff we had already said in the early part of the letter. This is because basically, when you get to the end you may have forgotten what positive things we said at the start.

So I have added in the sentence in yellow in the final para FYI.

Thanks,
Nichola

Dear all,

Here is the final draft of the proposed response that and I have been working on (including some very rapid reading of further documentation today by).

Can you let me have any comments by 1pm tomorrow Thursday – then I can make any amends and get this to Kate on Friday as agreed.

As discussed, has looked at an earlier iteration of this at the end of last week but any further thoughts from you Isobel, whilst he is away, would be appreciated.

Thank you all,
Nichola
