There is no reference that members of the public need to quote when submitting representations.

Members of the public tend to refer to the named local council byelaws and that way we can trace the byelaws being referred to.

The reference you quote is the case number assigned for the Leader of the Council's letter and is more for reference for Council officials and officials here in tracing the correspondence which informed the Ministerial reply.

Hi [REDACTED]

Do you have a reference for this byelaw application that you would like members of the public to quote when submitting any objections during the advertisement period which we can insert into the Notice?

I note that the letter from [REDACTED] had the reference: ER/KH/011534/14, whilst a previous letter from July 2013 had the reference 130709 SM AN.

Another small point is that we have inserted the words "Byelaws Relating to Mooring" as a subheading to the byelaws under the title, so that it reads:

LONDON BOROUGH OF RICHMOND UPON THAMES COUNCIL BYELAWS

BYELAWS RELATING TO MOORING

Byelaws made under section 235 of the Local Government Act 1972 by the Council of the London Borough of Richmond upon Thames for the good rule and government of the London Borough of Richmond upon Thames and for the prevention and suppression of nuisances.

This is for ease of reference later on as this byelaw will be separate to the pre-existing good rule and government byelaws, particularly when it is published on the Council's website.

In that case I'll leave it blank after the Council's seal and allow the Department to insert the relevant information.

With regard to the coming into effect period, the Council was going to suggest the full one month period between confirmation and coming into force as it will allow the Council time to undertake a big publicity drive to ensure that any boats moored or moving on the river at that time are aware and gives them time to move off elsewhere.

Thanks for your assistance.

Thanks for your email.

The gap that we ask local councils to leave after the Council's seal is simply so that the Department's confirmation slip can be attached below the seal. So you simply need to leave the appropriate gap after the Council's seal and we will attach the slip which will include the wording "Signed by the Secretary of State" and "Date of confirmation". You do not necessarily need to insert this wording.

On your final point the normal statutory procedure is that if the byelaws are confirmed they will come into effect one month after the date of confirmation, and the confirmation letter will make this clear.

In very exceptional circumstances the Department can consider inserting an earlier date but we would need to have a strong justification for bringing the byelaws into force earlier, especially as the one month period between signed confirmation and byelaws coming into force is intended to give local councils the opportunity to display notices about the impending notices. The one month period also gives the local community sufficient time to become aware of these impending byelaws, including making any necessary changes in behaviour. Given the nature of the byelaws, and the need for the local community, including tourists and water craft owners who may not be familiar with the area, you will want to consider allowing for this one month period.

Hi [REDACTED]

I have a brief query about the page containing the Council's and Secretary of State's Seals. I note that the guidance states that at least 15cm (6 inches) should be left after the Council's seal.

Based on previous byelaws that have been implemented I have attached the draft form of wording and proposed layout with a gap of 12cm between the words "signed by authority of the Secretary of State" and "Date of confirmation". Does this meet the Department's requirements?

I have also inserted the words "Date byelaws come into effect" at the very bottom which weren't contained in the provisional byelaws that were submitted for prior approval. As this is something technical, rather than amending the byelaws, I trust this slight amendment is permitted?

With kind regards,

We spoke.

The letter to the Council giving provisional approval now enables the Council to advertise the draft byelaws.

The attached link sets out a step by step process of what you now need to do following provisional approval.

<https://www.gov.uk/local-government-legislation-byelaws>

Please note, and as discussed, the postal address in the advert will need changing to reflect our new premises. Our address is:

Department for Communities and Local Government
2 NE
Fry Building
2 Marsham Street
Westminster
London
SW1P 4DF

We will shortly be writing to all local councils who currently have byelaw applications under consideration with us informing them of our new address.

As also discussed, if we do receive any representations we will look to forward these to the Council as and when we receive them and the preferred approach of local councils is to wait until the consultation deadline and respond to any representation in a single Council reply which addresses all the points raised in the representations. We may contact the Council if we need to seek clarification on any of the points raised in any representations received.

By all means give me a call if anything is unclear.

Hi [REDACTED]

Further to your email of 18 August 2014, I would be grateful for a further update on the progress of the Council's application for provisional approval of the proposed mooring byelaw.

We have recently received some information that suggests a decision has now been reached. I would be grateful if you could confirm whether this is correct, so that we can inform the Council's members and manage their expectations – particularly if the information received is incorrect.

Hi [REDACTED]

I have a brief query about the page containing the Council's and Secretary of State's Seals. I note that the guidance states that at least 15cm (6 inches) should be left after the Council's seal.

Based on previous byelaws that have been implemented I have attached the draft form of wording and proposed layout with a gap of 12cm between the words "signed by authority of the Secretary of State" and "Date of confirmation". Does this meet the Department's requirements?

I have also inserted the words "Date byelaws come into effect" at the very bottom which weren't contained in the provisional byelaws that were submitted for prior approval. As this is something technical, rather than amending the byelaws, I trust this slight amendment is permitted?

With kind regards,

We spoke.

The letter to the Council giving provisional approval now enables the Council to advertise the draft byelaws.

The attached link sets out a step by step process of what you now need to do following provisional approval.

Please note, and as discussed, the postal address in the advert will need changing to reflect our new premises. Our address is:

Department for Communities and Local Government
2 NE
Fry Building
2 Marsham Street
Westminster
London
SW1P 4DF

We will shortly be writing to all local councils who currently have byelaw applications under consideration with us informing them of our new address.

As also discussed, if we do receive any representations we will look to forward these to the Council as and when we receive them and the preferred approach of local councils is to wait until the consultation deadline and respond to any representation in a single Council reply which addresses all the points raised in the representations. We may contact the Council if we need to seek clarification on any of the points raised in any representations received.

By all means give me a call if anything is unclear.

Regards,

Hi [REDACTED]

Further to your email of 18 August 2014, I would be grateful for a further update on the progress of the Council's application for provisional approval of the proposed mooring byelaw.

We have recently received some information that suggests a decision has now been reached. I would be grateful if you could confirm whether this is correct, so that we can inform the Council's members and manage their expectations – particularly if the information received is incorrect.

With kind regards,

Hi [REDACTED]

Thank you for your email enclosing the objection. Is the only objection that has been received so far?

The 35 day advertisement period commenced on 26th September 2014 so expired on Thursday 30th October 2014. Allowing for the additional week to send objections through to the DCLG, I calculate that the final deadline for submitting objections is Thursday 6th November 2014.

Regards,

Thanks for confirming the Council have now gone out to consultation on their proposed mooring byelaw.

Following statutory consultation, we have received a letter of objection from a member of the public on the Council's proposed byelaws. The letter of objection is at the end of my email.

The attached link sets out how any objections received by the Department on byelaw proposals are taken forward. <https://www.gov.uk/local-government-legislation-byelaws> In line with this guidance I would be grateful for the Council's response to the points in the letter.

I would be grateful if you could also let me know when the consultation period concludes so we can keep a look out for any other representations and ensure these are forwarded to the Council promptly for a response.

Dear Sir/madam

I wish to register my objection to the sites designated for mooring in the following areas:
Plan 13-18 the 1 hour mooring here is not needed as there is mooring available by the Teddington lock and operated by the EA. The areas with the red lines for 1 hour mooring on the map region here are in the narrowest stretch of the river. This area is also where there are major canoe, skiff and other clubs using this narrow stretch of the river. No other similarly narrow area of the river has 1 hour mooring on these maps.

Plan 1-6 the 24 hour mooring by Garrick's Eyot will prevent boat club users gaining access here.
Plan 7 The 24 hour mooring site by Broom Rec will prevent park users having a view of the river from the park benches here. This is also one of the busiest sections of the river for sailing so navigation is needed to be wide as possible at this point.

Kind regards

Hi [REDACTED]

Just to let you know that the Council sealed the Mooring Byelaws on 17th September 2014 and have advertised the Notice in today's edition (26 September 2014) of the Richmond and Twickenham Times, the local paper circulating in the vicinity. Please find attached a copy of the Notice for your information.

The Council is allowing a 35-day period for inspection of the Byelaws.

With kind regards,
