Dear All,

I have given my view on this as below.

We cannot definitively say what our boundary is as OS plans have a tolerance, the lines on the OS base mapping have not been re-surveyed for several years, the GIS is a best digitisation of HBCs title plans (which were prepared on paper) and Land Registry plans are prepared to general boundaries and not determined boundaries.

We would have to employ a specialist boundary surveyor and the cost of doing this and pursuing the matter to a conclusion is out of proportion to the value of the land.

Thanks

Dear all – has this matter progressed since the email below?

[REDACTED] wants to get it concluded one way or the other.

[REDACTED] are still asking Members questions about this.

Thanks
