

Scottish Fire and Rescue Service statement regarding information requests for fleet made under the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002

Please note that in the interest of national security, the Scottish Fire and Rescue Service (SFRS) no longer publish the following vehicle fleet data on our website or in response to Freedom of Information requests:

- Vehicle registration number plates
- Vehicle call signs

In addition, we do not supply mobilisation details in terms of predetermined attendance and stand-by times of our vehicles.

Members of the public will appreciate that as an emergency service, SFRS must ensure that information relating to the strategic movement of our appliances or other sensitive operational intelligence is appropriately protected. Releasing certain information regarding our fleet may have wider implications that we must consider. By this we mean that disclosing certain information may prejudice our ability to maintain our own and national security. We believe that maintaining security and ensuring public safety in a national and local context takes precedence over releasing certain information.

We accept that this type of information is of interest to members of the public but believe that it is not in the greater public good to release detailed fleet information. As a result, we have decided that the public interest is better served by not disclosing this information.

We do not imply that release of the above information alone would necessarily be immediately detrimental, but taken with other information we consider that it could have an adverse effect on our capability, effectiveness and security. Given the current security climate in the UK we recognise the necessity to take a precautionary approach.

In taking this decision we have taken note of the Centre for Protecting the National Infrastructure Guidance on disclosure of sensitive information, which states “... that national security is paramount and should be considered carefully in any government or commercial decision to release or disseminate information to the public”.
