Dear Mr Cardin

Re: Freedom of Information Act request – Internal Review

I have received a copy of your e-mail dated 25 February 2011 requesting an internal review of the way your request for information has been handled within the Council.

Your e-mail dated 4 February 2011 did not specifically use the words 'internal review' but it required the Council to reconsider its original decision. Your e-mail, therefore, effectively asked for a review. It is quite clear from my letter dated 25 February that this is what has been done.

If you are not content with the result of the review, then you have the right to refer the matter to the Information Commissioner. I forwarded to you the name and address of the information Commissioner in my letter dated 25 February.

Yours sincerely

Jonathan Evans
