Response to Freedom of Information Act 2000 request (FOI_17-009)

Does your university currently deliver training on sexual violence to staff and/or students?

If YES:

Is this training mandatory?

Who is invited to attend the training?

How is the training delivered (e.g. online, in-person seminar, workshop, etc)? What is the completion rate of the training?

If NO:

Has there been any training offered in the past, and if so, what? Is any training planned for the future?

The University does not offer training on sexual violence to staff or students, nor has any training been offered in the past.

A training programme for students is currently being investigated.
